

ELKIN MILL

WOOL DEPT.

This department is having a very "alarming" time now that we have a nice new alarm clock.

Robert Bates says he is very glad the Boonville Fair is over. Sitting in a cage being stared at is very embarrassing. He is back at work now.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gray announce the birth of a son, Oct. 17th at Hugh Chatham Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Fred Page spent the past week-end with his parents at Asheboro. He also attended the Carolina-Tulane game at Chapel Hill Saturday.

Mr. Watson Cheek spent Sunday in Sparta, N. C. "cooling off."

Mr. Paul Gray spent Sunday with his parents at Ronda, N. C.

Dick Lovering has been transferred to the Spinning Dept. Hope you like your new job, Dick.

Hugh Chatham has had lots of trouble keeping up with his new green hat, so Paul Price nailed it to the wall much to Hugh's sorrow.

Beach Bell spent Saturday in Winston-Salem on business.

Fat Laffoon has a fondness for death defying leaps from high porches.

WEAVING DEPT.

Mr. and Mrs. Free Pardue, Violet and Billy Pardue spent Monday, Oct. 18th in Winston-Salem, shopping.

We congratulate Mr. E. W. Burcham on the purchase of his new car. We were afraid he would catch cold, driving that other buggy he had, especially after Beatrice wrecked it.

Miss Elizabeth Pardue was the week-end guest of Miss Irene Day.

David Day, Jr., Roy Transou and Fred Yarboro visited Jones Darnell, Jr. at Trivette's Hospital Sunday. Friends of Jones, Jr. will be glad to learn that he will soon be able to return to his home.

Mrs. E. B. Lawrence and daughter Edwina, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Long were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Day.

Mrs. Florence Wilkins is out this week, due to a broken arm. We hope you can soon return to work. We miss you Florence.

The seven old maids in this department say that they do not care to have a husband bossing them around.

Among those attending the circus in Winston-Salem Monday were Miss Violet Pardue, Kermit Mackie, Mr. and Mrs. Fynn Wagoner, Mrs. James Chappell, Miss Eva Holcomb and Zeno Dobbins.

Shorty Walls wishes to borrow a red sweater and a plaid skirt. Anyone having one to loan will please see Shorty. He promises to take good care of them and return in good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hall and children spent Sunday in Spray, N. C. visiting friends and relatives.

Bee Burcham certainly likes to stroll across the river bridge at night with a good looking Romeo and count the stars. Can you count them when it is pouring rain, Bee?

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Long and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Couch attended the wrestling matches in Winston-Salem last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy Walls had as their guests over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shepherd and Mrs. Florence Harper of West Virginia.

BURLING DEPT.

Misses Pauline Morrison and Dessie Reeves spent last Sunday with Mrs. Hope Brown. Pauline, did Mrs. Brown have fried chicken?

Mr. and Mrs. Broadus Renegar and small daughter spent Tuesday with Mr. C. S. Renegar in Yadkinville.

Mrs. Luther Vestal and daughter George and a party of friends spent last Sunday with Mrs. Tom Brown near Boonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson were the dinner guests Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Wilkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Wagoner visited friends in Traphill Sunday afternoon.

The Weavers say that Charlie Gough is learning to lie just as good as the rest of the boys in this department.

Miss Huzie Myers, Mesdames Fay Reavis and Myrtle Myers spent last Sunday in Mocksville.

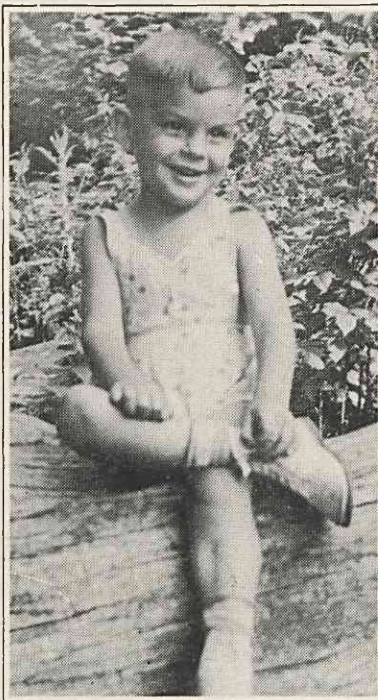

Mary Eidson Brown and Leona Darnell attended the Circus in Winston-Salem Monday night. Mary says she rode the elephants. No report from Leona.

Mary Etta will be old enough to vote coming this Saturday. She says she hasn't decided whether she's going to be a democrat, republican or socialist.

Mr. and Mrs. Worth Groce and Mrs. Jettie Armstrong and daughter were the Sunday guests of Miss Mozelle Freeman.

Nick says he will have to wait until he gets another check before he buys another pig. The funny thing about it all is that he can't figure out when he bought the one he has. What are you going to buy this Sunday, Nick?

Fine Youngster

Ray Albert Howell, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Howell, of Elkin.

We welcome Miss Jessie Mae Osborne to this department.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brannon and two children Martha Jane and Harold and Misses Edith Walker and Dicey Myers spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Myers.

Mrs. Ina Holcomb had as her week-end guests her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Grady Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simmons and children visited Mrs. Ina Holcomb recently.

SCOURING AND CARBONIZING

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Day entertained at an old southern style o'possum supper, with all the fixings last week. Guests were Mr. James Burcham, Fred Wilbert and Bob Robbins.

Mont Jones is still the master salesman. He sold his "dropper" bird dog at last. (to three of the four men that are under him in the waste dept.) The three unfortunates are: Ples. Haynes, Clarence Carter and A. L. Wilkins.

Speaking of high pressure salesmanship, ask Charlie Hanes about the little girl from Maine who was down visiting the old mill last week. We believe that had she been less attractive, she wouldn't have succeeded in extracting from Charlie a $2.50 order paid in full for a magazine that she was selling. If Charlie won't talk ask Fred Wilbert.

Charles interest in magazines is waning though. There seems to be quite a few emergency cases at our local hospital which seems to fill up most of his evenings.

We hear that Purvis Hayes is a great lover of pure unadulterated corn. We know that prices are high this year, but we understand that Purvis recently paid 50c plus a nickel tip for a pint of the kind used in making corn bread—Moral: Look before you leap.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burcham were host and hostess at a very delightful game dinner last Wednesday evening. The guests were Claudia Austin, Charlie Hanes, Charlie Day, Bob Robbins and Fred Wilbert.

Mr. James Burcham spent a few days this week in Kentucky on business.

SHOP

Jim Lyons of the Shop force, has been out for the past few days, taking treatment for minor ailments. We are hoping that you will be back with us soon, James, old boy.

"Red" Johnson is back in the shop after several weeks out with an appendix operation.

Lee Neaves has returned to this department after several months away, at Asheville and other points. We are glad to have Lee back with us again.

Sometimes your humble reporter forgets happenings that should get in the paper, for which we apologize. For instance, Mr. Vaccoe Whatley enjoyed a very successful fishing trip to Morehead City recently. Whatley reports the fishing fine, with a nice trip throughout.

"Now let's see, there was something about Buck Rogers that we were going to write; now what was that—no, it couldn't have been that,—Oh, yes, here it is—My gosh, that will never do, forget about it!"

DYE HOUSE

That Sam Atkinson is still talking about that deer hunt up in Pisgah Forest. Sam came along the other day with some cartridges and bullets half as long as a deer's horns, that is, short deer horns.

Funny thing about it is that these deer have our letter by this time. They are on the look out for that bird.

Van Dillon wants to know what exposure to give, on that new camera of his, to get a picture of Sam Atkinson talking about going deer hunting, you know, one of those "frozen action," "shots," that these camera "bugs" are always talking about. Yea, you guessed it, the bug has Dillon, too.

Yours truly made a picture in
