

AROUND THE MILL

SHIPPING DEPT.

Quite by accident at the Baptist social Tuesday night, it was discovered that Arnishe Rothrock possessed hidden vocal talent. She wishes to announce that she will be open for public appearances upon request.

The sudden rush from Winston to Elkin seems to have reversed form, and started to trickle slowly back to Winston.

Whose beautiful brown eyes, etc., at the third table in the Packing department has caused aisle to show signs of wear already?

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson spent the Easter holidays in Washington, D. C.

Walter Metz, formerly of this department, has purchased a new red V-8. Congratulations, Walt.

Clyde Carroll is a patient at the Hugh Chatham Memorial hospital, suffering from a throat infection.

If Ada knows anything, she won't tell us.

The next two items would be censored anyway, so I just won't write them.

WEAVING

Curtis Hall came to work the other morning with lipstick on his shirt collar. He says he had been eating cherry pie. We don't believe Curtis had cherry pie for breakfast.

Mr. Cliff Vestal has some nice pepper and tomato plants to sell. F. C. Wall and family spent the past week-end in Spray, N. C. and Danville, Va.

We are glad "Shorty" got home safely through all the snow that fell on Easter Sunday.

We of this department hope the spring dance will be a big success.

Leonard Shepherd spent the past week-end with his parents at Crumpler.

Mrs. Marjorie Finney is out this week due to the illness of Mr. Finney.

We notice Bee Burcham is having a lot of cloudy weather here of late.

Red Eller, together with a party of friends, attended the late show in Winston-Salem Saturday night.

Bill Hartsell has been promoted to the Weave Room Office. Congratulations, Bill.

Rev. David Day, Sr., is on our sick list this week.

B Shift

Among our sick this week are the following: Mrs. D. C. Gilliam, Mrs. Gurney Martin, Mrs. Sid Hudspeth and Mr. John Freeman.

Miss Lexa Cummings spent Easter Sunday in Winston-Salem. We suppose she wore her galoshes instead of a new Easter bonnet.

Carl Calloway says he hopes

Uncle Sam will soon give them a postoffice at Frog Level.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Couch and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Parris, of Mt. Airy, spent Easter Sunday in Martinsville, Va., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Calloway Hawks and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Gilliam, Mr. Roy Lawrence and Miss Bernice Welborn visited Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Holcomb at Mooresville Sunday.

"SURNAMES"

Spring has come again I know,
But Easter came with a 5-inch
SNOW.

When our callers seem to be few
We'll have time to visit MR.
PARDUE.

All men can't cook,
Why not ask MR. COOK.

One who has stood the test,
How about it, MR. WEST.

Some folks think it's a sight
Because the Mill runs DAY and NIGHT.

Just a tip to not get scared
If flying around you see a BYRD.

There's not a puzzle he can't un-fasten,
Isn't that right, MR. MASTEN?

When summer comes we almost scorch.
Please send us north, MR.
DORTCH.

One man they need on a freighter
And that's our little boy CRA-TER.

I could go on and write a week
And then not mention MR.
CHEEKS.

The best way to be happy and
gay,
Get up smiling and sing all DAY.

When tired at home don't be a
grouch,
Off with your shoes and rest on a COUCH.

Whether it's birds or fowl,
Why not see MR. DOWELL?

Who wears a coat with heavy fleece?
Here's the answer, it's MR.
REECE.

Here's proof I'm no faker,
For we really have a BAKER.

Don't run against a wall,
If walking behind you is a HALL.

Who is going to buy a new Florence?

Why not ask MR. LAWRENCE?

SPINNING

A Shift

Walter Worth and Lowell
Smithy spent the holidays with their parents in Ashe county.

Contest Winner

Little Miss Cynthia Margaret Gough, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gough, of Jonesville, was winner of a silver trophy offered in a recent contest at West Yadkin high school. Little Miss Gough is pictured above proudly exhibiting her trophy.

We are glad that Rev. Powers is able to be out and back to work again.

One question the Spinning department would like to know. "Who sent Fred Neaves that owl?"

Marion Baker wants the reporter to say that the "Baker-Neaves Goat Farm" is doing fine and that anyone interested in buying goat milk to be sure and see him between the hours of 7:30 and 3 o'clock. He will be glad to make deliveries to any department in the Mill.

Boots Amburn is to be married Friday afternoon. Poor boy. If he would only take Walter's advice.

Mr. Neaves brought Bob Boles a cute present from Florida. Ask Bob to show it to you sometime.

Henry Cathey's wife and son have gone on a visit to her parents in Chattanooga, Tenn. Mr. Cathey expects them back in about two weeks.

Clyde Cothren and Roy Boles played ball with the Chatham team at Guilford Saturday.

Jack Terrell is now helping build a church in Yadkinville. We sometimes wonder if Jack won't be a preacher yet.

Bill Walters and Hugh Salmons have gone in partnership on a hog. They are expecting great things from the hog. Hugh says he never knew that a hog ate so much. You'll learn, Hugh.

Strawberry Davis is expected back at his job Monday to help Boots. Boots will need help, we guess.

WASH ROOM

Notice to all motorists traveling the road between Elkin and Boonville at and around midnight: The "flying timber" is not the results of a tornado striking a lumber yard but "Yank" Byrne taking home his daily supply of "drift" wood from the scrap pile at the Finishing plant.

A report comes from the third shift that Wilbur has told his boys that sleeping is not allowed but one is allowed to "nod" if the nod doesn't last thirty minutes.

"Shorty" Angel is having all the tough breaks. He must ride to and from work in one car while his girl friend travels in another. Something should be done about that, "Shorty."

Oh, Boy, is the Winston road slick in rainy weather—or is it? Ask Miss Austin.

Howard Yates had to explain to the police just how he came to get on the highway a few nights back. He just seemed to have appeared from nowhere.

Hal Briggs went to look for a truck a few nights back. A few hours after he had gone someone was sent to look for him—He had the truck but it was on the fourth floor.

Quite a few of our boys have suddenly become social minded since moving to Elkin. You should have been at the church social the other night.

WARP ROOM

B Shift

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Southard and family and Mr. Jack Hemric, of Appalachian State Teachers College, spent Easter with their mother, Mrs. Lonnie Reece, of High Point.

Mrs. Clyde Shugart and children, Reece and Doris, have moved to the Brown house. Clyde says any lesson on cooking will be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Lytle McBride, of South Carolina, spent Saturday with the former's sister, Mrs. Lottie Cook.

Mrs. Mae Barbour has our sympathy due to the passing of her brother, Mr. Ed Smith.

Mrs. Webb Darnell is out sick. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

We are glad to see Miss Austin back on the job after being out a few days suffering from an injury.

Mary says all she needs now is a permanent wave, so she can buy a new spring hat.

Fannie, what did you plan to see at Grandfather Mountain Sunday with all the snow?

There are 3,857 coffee beans in a pound of coffee.
