

NEW BUILDING PROGRESSING

Two Story Structure of Brick and Steel Will House Warp and Waste Pickering Depts.

Work is rapidly nearing completion on the new Warp and Waste Pickering building just west of the machine shop. The building is a two-story structure of steel frame and brick, and is being built between the walls of the present Weave Room and the Picker Room.

The floor space made available by this new addition will be about 10,000 square feet. This space will greatly alleviate the much crowded conditions now encountered in the space occupied by the present Warp department. The different operations are being centralized.

Frank L. Blum and Company, of Winston-Salem, are the contractors. Mr. D. D. Morgan is in charge of construction and Mr. J. W. L. Benson, of this plant, is the engineer.

Roofing materials are now being placed on the job, and it is hoped to have the building under cover in the next few days, and ready for occupation within the next few weeks.

Many new improvements around the mill are under construction at the present time. Down in the Dead Head department there are extensive repairs and new arrangement under way. These will tend to make the work of this department more efficient in its management, and handling of materials. Bins have been built to carry the different

COLUMNIST SPEAKER BEFORE T. C. U. CLUB

The members of the T. C. U. club heard a speech on Monday evening, May 20, by Pete Ivey, of the Twin City Sentinel. Mr. Ivey is a co-writer of "Pass The Peanuts," a daily feature of the Winston-Salem newspaper.

"Has Education Gone Flooey" was the subject of the first part of the entertainment furnished by Mr. Ivey. The latter part was taken with a series of imitations and the reciting of "Casey at the Bat" with properties.

Amel Eller introduced the speaker. Rufus Crater, also of the Twin City Sentinel, was presented as a guest. Russell Burcham, president of the club, presided at the meeting which was held at the clubhouse.

Hundreds Attend Chatham-U. N. C. Game

Hundreds of fans were present to see the Blanketeers meet the University of North Carolina on Saturday, May 25, the game marking the dedication of the Company's modern new ball park. Top photo shows the grandstand and a portion of the bleachers as the game progressed. Bottom photo is closeup of a part of crowd which jammed the grandstand. Carolina won the game 7 to 4.

NEW BALL PARK IS DEDICATED

Blanketeers Meet Carolina in Game Marking Opening of New Athletic Field

Before a large group of fans the new Chatham Baseball Park was dedicated Saturday, May 25, when the Blanketeers met the strong Carolina team from the University at Chapel Hill.

The new park recently completed at a cost of $4,500, has a seating capacity of 1,300, two large dressing rooms equipped with showers. Rest rooms, ticket office and commissary.

The Tar Heels defeated the Blanketeers, 7-4, in a ten-inning game.

George Stirnweiss was the hero of the Tar Heels' attack, getting four hits to lead his mates.

Big "Red" Benton was on the mound for the Heels, holding the Blanketeers to but four hits.

The score was 4-3 in favor of Chatham in the seventh, when Stirnweiss stole practically every base on the lot to tie up the game.

The winning runs were scored in the 10th. Boles, although allowing 13 hits, struck out 10 Carolina batsmen.

The Blanketeers jumped back into the winning column when they defeated Hanes Hosiery, of Winston-Salem, Tuesday, by a score of 3-0.

Boles again worked on the mound, turning in an excellent exhibition.

This game puts the Blanketeers on the top in the Tri-City League.

The following games have been scheduled:

- June 8th—Adams-Millis—Here.
- June 14th—Enka—Here.
- June 15th—Adams-Millis—Here
