AROUND THE MILL

WOOL ROOM

A Shift

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Cheeks entertained 41 of their neighbors with an ice cream and watermelon feast at a tobacco barn last week. Watt says it took seven gallons of ice cream and 10 watermelons, etc.

Roland Davis, Bill Mann and Red Powers took in part of the little world series at Albemarle. Roland didn't smile when he said he didn't lose any money.

High water, fire and strong winds usually go together but it looks like Congress has put a crimp in the Draft for a while.

Mr. Hatch and Mr. Lankford went fishing on the coast last week—and came back.

Sam Branon and Delos Underwood spent Sunday in Mount Airy golfing. Sam says William Eugene, his little son, enjoyed the day in Elkin with his mother and grandparents.

Lester Royall, our crossword puzzle fan, would like to know a four letter word for "red light." Could it be stop, fine or jail?

Earnest Edwards visited relatives in North Wilkesboro Saturday evening.

George Stockton, Hugh Salmons and Bill Pardue motored to Greensboro Sunday night. Had to stop in East Bend on the way back. George woke up and said, "Well, boys, let's see this Greensboro town."

It would be a benevolent act if someone would give Hort Eller a gavel so he could keep order in the noontime political debates that keep coming up. Half the wool room has indigestion.

PACKING

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wishon were called to Virginia Saturday to the bedside of Mrs. Wishon, who is ill there.

Miss Sara Matthews spent last week-end in Sanford, the guest of Miss Helen Briggs.

Why is Eunice so happy? Must be because Jimmy is well and out again.

Gertie should be pretty now, because she has a new skin.

We are glad Junior is able to be back to work following a finger infection.

Ethel Jarvis had company from Asheville last week-end.

Lost: One ring set; if found, return to Henry Shelton and receive reward.

Ruth Allred reports that they have had burglars at her house, but she would be away from home. Maybe he will come back, Ruth.

Mrs. Henry Shelton has been out sick for some time. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Robert H. Harris, together with a party of friends, spent the past week-end fishing near Morehead.
