

FOWLER LEADS IN DUCK PIN LEAGUE

Pulp Mill And Inspection Closing In On Leaders

The leadership of the Ecusta Duck Pin League is undisputed at the present, however, the Pulp Mill and the Inspection Depts. are fast becoming contenders. If these two teams can find some way to halt the fast Champagne team there may be a story to tell before the finish of the season.

Gordon Fowler of Champagne team remains at the top. He now possesses the high average, high game and high series.

Inspection	7	8
Paper Mill	2	13

Tennis Courts To Be Resurfaced

Realizing that the tennis play-ers were handicapped to a great extent by the condition of the courts during the past season, we are endeavoring to eliminate a great number of faults this winter. In addition to the resurfacing that was done last summer, we plan to continue this so that we will have efficient surface drainage, yet will retain enough moisture to prevent cracking and softening of the surface.

We plan to cover the courts with a thin layer of screened clay and allow this to blend with the base layer during the freezes this winter.

Although we cannot guarantee perfect courts by next summer, you can be assured that there will be definite improvement.

TRI-CITY BOWLERS DROP TO FIFTH

Ecusta's entry in the Tri-city Bowling League failed to continue its normal stride during the past month and as a result the team is itself tied for fifth position. Although the boys did fare rather poorly during their recent matches there is no sign that they will continue to do so. The team is all pumped up and determined to come back. No team with the right amount of enthusiasm and determination will stay down very long.

WHO'S PUNK?

When Punk first came here he knew a great deal about very little. Since then he has observed, studied, and checked and learned more and more about less and less until at present he knows practically everything about nothing.

Physical Laboratory Hears From C. Cook

Hello Everyone,
How is everyone at Ecusta? O. K. I hope. I am still flying for Uncle Sam and I like it better every day.

I am at San Angelo now. We fly B. T. 13's here. They are 450 H. P. ships. I was the first to solo in our new class here. Drop me a card.

As ever,
Charlie

PULP "A" ACTIONS

Bill Bryson was among the lucky hunters in the forest this month. He made his kill the first day out bagging a forty pound "mule headed" buck. Rusty Smith also brought home the meat. Clarence "Rabbit Gun" Pressley reports that this season's crop of cotton tails is far above last season. . . . Skipper Holt had a good week on his football bets two weeks ago winning none, losing twelve and two ended in a draw. . . . Hugo Wilde who bought Fleenor's country estate, has added an attractive bank house and is planning more building in the near future. Football fans—this month include D. Blackwell, Bobby Corpening and Dobie Lance who saw the Clemson-Wake Forest game. Charles Rector, Clint Morris, Bobby Corpening and Sang Lyda saw Tulane-Ala. at New Orleans and L.S.U.-Ole Miss. at Baton Rouge. . . . Garland Whitmire is trying to have the railroad route changed since it burned off his rye field. . . . M. Chapman is the proud papa of another boy making four little plow-ands for him new. . . . David Blackwell has been a nervous wreck for the past two weeks and blames it on the ride to Clemson with Dobie Lance.

REFINING "B" BLINKERS

Talk about Buck Fever! You should see Obie Willingham and hear him tell his experience in the forest hunt a few days ago. He said he saw one of the largest and queerest deer in his life. He thought it was the leader of the band. He said it carried a white flag in its mouth but after he brought it down on his seventh shot he discovered his mistake. The flag turned out to be a bottle of milk. The deer weighed almost 40 lbs. Just a moment please, I forgot to tell you that the deer is to be divided four ways. Looks like someone will get the bottle of milk for his share. . . . We have all been curious to know why Berry has been so quiet since he married. Someone said he wanted to lose his voice again just to keep from answering so many questions at home. . . . We all wish the boys success on their bear hunt down in Beaufort County. They say there are lots of nice plump "deal" down in them thar swamps too. . . . The boys wonder why Riggins never writes to his old pals any more. We heard he was in the hospital. What is the matter, Riggins, did you get snake bit or were you doing the Suzie Q. with the captain's daughter? . . . Sargeant was talking to Walt McNeely before going on guard duty. Now McNeely, suppose you are on your post one dark night when suddenly a person grabs you from behind and wraps both arms around you. What will you call then? McNeely, "Let go, honey." . . . Sledge, our little blenderman, said he was going to buy a watch to keep from getting so thirsty. Some one asked him how a watch would keep him from getting thirsty and Sledge reminded said party that a watch has a spring in it. tsk tsk. . . . Al had better luck his second day of deer hunting. He had been in the stand about five hours when he decided to look around. He saw a big buck standing several hundred yards away so he eased into position and let him have it. It didn't

HANDBOOKLET 'B' LEADS FAST PACE

Teams Have Rest During Holiday Season

Standings in the Women's Duck Pin League have done some strange cavorting about during the past month. Hand Book B, without a doubt the fastest stepping, steady team in the league to date, leads by a margin of 5 games. Sara Avery topped the entire league honors for high single game with a score of 115, McNeely of Finish A runs second with 110 and Atress Rhodes, also of Finish A and Maymie Reynolds of Machine Book B hold third with 109. McNeely also holds a lead in net pins total with 1876 for 21 games and Ann Morris trails by only 2 pins.

Next week ends the first round of games and since there will be no bowling Christmas and New Years weeks, Office, Endless Belt and Finishing will take renewed hope from an invigorating holiday season and resolve to give Hand Book a lively run for it when we meet again on January 7.

Standings:

Hand Book B	18	3
Machine Book A	13	8
Machine Book B	13	8
Office	11	10
Endless Belt	10	11

On Friday night, November 28th Claude Glazener and his Inspection "B" shift crew took off to White Pines with the idea of having a real oyster fry and from all reports the entire group was completely satisfied. Special guests were Bob Matthews and Earl Hall.
