

TEN PIN LEAGUE TO HAVE A CLOSE FINISH

Reynolds, Morris Increase Averages In Tri-City League

Team Can Land In Third Place

Ecusta's big bowling team can do a lot of damage in the Tri-City League during the next three or four weeks.

There is no reason why our boys cannot push themselves into third place before the curtain is brought down. At the present, there is only one game to prevent Ecusta from having an excellent season.

Bruce Reynolds and "Knuckleball" Morris continued their fast pace by increasing their averages to 185 and 184 respectively.

Loftis Starts Team On Its Second Half March

Fritz Merrill Bowls 140 Game

The Champagne Duck Pin Team is taking complete control of the first place position in the Men's Duck Pin League during the second half. Goode Loftis gave his team a good send off when he crashed through with an amazing set of 379.

Fritz Merrill of the Pulp Mill took over high game honors on January 20th with a 140.

Several new faces showed up from the Paper Mill for the second half and evidently they will give a good account of themselves.

With Nobody Shoved Around

"If this appeared in a dispatch from Berlin—Adolf Hitler has, in six years, built 44,000 bridges in Germany. His labor battalions have constructed more than 110,000 miles of truck roads and country roads. Under command of the labor fronts, 2,000,000,000 trees have been planted, and 5,200,000 dams have been built to control erosion. The reaction would be: Dictatorship certainly gets things done. And democracy can't match it. Imagine 5,200,000 dams! Yet this work has been done, not in Germany, but in the U. S. A. by C. C. C. boys, all enlisted on a voluntary basis, with nobody shoved around by a fuehrer."—Samuel Grafton.

Endless Belt Team Is Pushing Handbooklet B

Close Race For Top In Store

The Endless Belt Bowling team apparently has found its stride during the past few weeks. They are now pushing Handbooklet "B" for first place; five games separating the two teams.

The Office team, although in third place, cannot be counted out of the picture. They are only eight games away from the top.

Fourth place position is well covered with the Machine Booklet teams hooking horns. These two teams are well balanced, and the final whistle may find them in a much better position.

LOOK UP AND SMILE

When you're disgusted, disgruntled and busted,

Look up and smile;
When friends forsake you
And enemies break you

Look up and smile;

When going is tough
and path looks rough

Look up and smile;

When you feel sort of blue
And don't know what to do

Look up and smile;

Don't sit around and pine,
Just try it sometime—

Look up and smile.

Pulp "A" Adoings

Heard from all three of the shift A boys in the service. Harry Laughter, our Army boy, reports that he has the situation well under control in the Panama Canal Zone. Clint Morris, our fighting Marine, writes of the life with the Blue Jackets at Paris Island, S. C. He said he had a sweet tooth but no candy so we sent him some by return mail. Boyd Meixell, the flying bleacher, is now in training at Jackson, Miss., and is anxiously awaiting a chance to bomb Tokio. Shift A is setting aside one day each month as post card day to send Western North Carolina view cards to our boys. . . . The stork favored our shift by bringing baby girls to the homes of Harry Morgan and Carl Caldwell. Good cigars too. . . .

Monroe Collins and Marson Baynard must buy their shells by the case from the amount of shooting they do when a covey of birds gets up. . . . Garland Teague must be fast. It is said that he can go to the Chem Lab and back before you can get a phone call through.

. . . Wonder why H. Fouts prefers a little blue coupe instead of his sedan. Maybe it's the heater and radio or the gas tank that Bill Hunnicut keeps full. . . . We are glad to have Dot, Dean and Ricey on our shift in the chem lab. . . . If Frank Tinsley doesn't put a governor on his car his re-caps will be un-capped after about 3,000 miles. . . . Jim Dalton started to put an ad in the paper when he lost his electric truck. . . . Wonder how Fritz Merrill felt when he bowled a set of duck pins just above dummy. His little son made a strike with the first ball. . . . Well, that's all from the shift A news room except that the boys who are doing the fighting are expecting us at home to do the writing.

OFFICE TEAM UPSETS LEADER CHAMPAGNE

Pulp Mill Creeping Up On The Leaders

The Office Team led by Hank Newbury and Pete Eberle, put a different light on the standings of the Men's Ten Pin League by breaking through the mighty defense of the Champagne Bowling Team on Monday night, February 3rd, to win the entire three games. These victories no doubt are the biggest upsets of the season to date.

The standings now find only five games separating second and third place from first place. There remain twelve more games in the schedule and one can never tell how hot or cold a team may be. The finish may be a sizzler.

YOU, TOO

By Elmer A. Tabbert

I'm just a nine pin bowler, boys,
You've heard a lot of me.
There's always one pin standing
Where a vacant spot should be.
I can hit 'em in the pocket
Just as perfectly! and then,
I'll see one stick still standing,
One darn single out of ten.

I toss my first one "New York" high,
And then I toss it thin.
But always with the same result:
I can't get that last pin.
It makes me mad; I fume and fuss;
But rantings are in vain.
For after each and every pitch
That ten pin stands again.

But then if I could get ten pins
Each time I throw that ball,
I'd roll three hundred, and this game
Would be no fun at all.
So I'll just keep on pluggin' hard,
Take nine counts—if they be,
And keep the thought in mind that there
Are millions more like me.
