

Champagne Team Ten-Pin Champions Pulp Mill Second Inspection Is Third

The Champagne bowling team, led by captain Buck Albert, pushed over enough pins during the 1941-42 bowling season to carry away top honors in the Ecusta Ten Pin League. This team, working as a machine, was never in danger until the last three weeks of the season at which time the Pulp Mill Team and Inspection Team started pushing rather consistently from the number two position. When the final whistle blew, the lineup found Champagne leading Pulp by three games. The Pulp team sewed up second place on Monday, March 9th, by whipping the Office two out of three games. Third place honors go to the draft riddled Inspection Team. The up-and-coming Office Team settled for fourth position.

The season's outstanding feats were the high average of Bruce Reynolds, the high set of Jimmie Dunne and the high game of "Knuckle Ball" Morris. Unfortunately the swell average that Charlie Colwell had claim to through the first 26 matches was disqualified because of the rule that states a bowler ineligible who has not participated in at least two-thirds of the season's games.

Following the close of the season in the Girls' and Men's Duck Pin Leagues, there will be a banquet and dance in the cafeteria at which time awards will be presented to winners of the three leagues.

Unless something unforeseen prevents Mr. Straus from attending the banquet, he will be guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Raymond Bennett will act as master of ceremonies.

Champagne Leads Duck Pin League

Last Friday night, the Champagne Duck Pin Team virtually clinched first place in the Ecusta Men's Duck Pin League by defeating the Inspection Team two games to one. There is a possibility that Inspection can tie up the league lead providing they win three games from the Paper Mill and Champagne loses two games.

Pete Hooper of Inspection came through with a high game of 152 to practically sew up single game honors.

Fowler of Champagne still retains the high set of 376.

Loftis and Fowler are very near tied for high averages. Final averages will be released after the match Friday, March 20th.

League Standings

News From The Machine Booklet

Two years ago, would one have thought that one man could start something that would affect this department? He did! At the present time a great per cent of the cigarette paper produced by the Machine Booklet Department is being sent to U. S. Soldiers.

It seems that Mary Carolyn and Carolyn of this department may become globe trotters, that is, if a certain soldier keeps being transferred. First the girls planned a trip to Mississippi, then they were forced to change their destination to New York and at the present time are awaiting further information, but you can bet they'll go somewhere.

Buddy Hunt has turned out to be an early riser. He is up with the SON nowadays. Buddy's new addition to the family is Edwin Jr.

Mae Whitmire is to be commended for her splendid effort to save automobile tires. "What better way," asked Mae, "than to learn to ride a bicycle?" Well, that's fine if she continues to handle the two wheeled affair as she recently did, as she will very well save tires, but may not be able to work.

Those melancholy days are coming in the Spring of the year for Agnes (Allison). Her "one and only" will leave in April for the Army.

If the girls who come to work in this department in the future are as lovely as the last few, the Machine Booklet will look like an Atlantic City Beauty Contest.

Inspection Boys Are Moving Fast

We learn from Champagne Hand-booklet that Lt. Tom Ramsey, formerly with the Inspection Department has been transferred from Fort Benning to the Edgewood Arsenal!

Bill Long, former paper tester, made his appearance at Ecusta in the middle of February. He was on his way to California to take advanced training in the Army Air Corps.

ACTION

Jimmie Sledge blew his whistle and clanged his bell, and ran in the office with a mighty yell.

He blinked his eyes and pulled his nose,

Then turned to Gordon, said, "Boy, grab a hose!"

He pulled his mustache and said, "Boys, you'd better jump

For No. 2 battery is about to dump."

He went over to Fisher with his hands in his hair,

And said, "May I borrow your helper, Whitmire?"

"3 is behind with an empty chest, McCall and McBride are doing their best."

Love said to Jimmie, "Where are Bill and Ed?"

Jim thought for a moment, then scratched his head

And replied, "I don't know, they are sly like a mouse.

I'll find them but this is a very large house."

So up jumped Gaither, his paddle he slung,

Then ran over on No. 7 and told McClung.

Green asked Feaster, "What's up? Can you see?"

So they both tore over to ask J. B. J. B. was so excited he dumped his broke and ran,

He yelled back to Sitton, "Snap it up if you can!"

The boss fumed and bellowed, "Get out of my way!

Get the boys on the conveyor and young Galloway!"

So they all met together in one big clump.

And thought it such fun to see battery

2 dump.

The Blockers

Ronnie Orr has finally found her man. After all these years of searching for a tall, dark and handsome man he turns out to be a striking blond. Of course, she hasn't had the proper introductions yet but she's all full of hopes. . . . Kat M. is back at work after a short illness. Could it be that her most delightful callers, Charlie Rev. Clarence Garren had something to do with her speedy recovery? Yes, could be . . . The blockers certainly do miss Janie Wilson but we can't say that wee Margaret (songbird) Ponder doesn't fill her place well. . . . In case of a recurrence of our recent snowfall, don't call a wrecker. We recommend Jessie Lance. She'll be glad to render service at any time. Some pushing power, Jessie! . . . We're lucky to have Charlotte B. as private detective in our crowd. She sees all, hears all, and knows all. For further information see T. K., B. L. and A. P. . . . If being true to your soldier sweetheart means building morale and winning this war, Wylma Blythe's boyfriend should be able to whip those Japs single-handed.

Mill Office News

One month in the Mill office and Sarah Hester Fowler decided that she couldn't go on living without protection and so she is now priding a diamond and warning all comers! Congratulations, also to the lucky fiancée, Robert Jackson, who works in the Refiner Room.

Talking about protection, I hear that life in Florida is just so much more enjoyable when leisure hours can be spent in the company of strong athletes. For further information, drop around and chat awhile with Rose Wolfe.

Why has Eula Whitlock lost her talkativeness ever since she had to stay home a day during the recent snow?

Bobby Anders wants it understood that he will gladly shake anybody's hand now, but when little Elsie will be "Miss America of 1960", he'll be more particular.

Talking about Bobby "A", mention to him the fact that Charlie Colwell is Tennis Champion of Ecusta, and just listen to him. . . . How about getting your tennis racket out this summer, Bob, and let it talk for a while?

Handbooklet News

Miss Ruby Baynard announced her marriage to Ray Rigdon of the Finishing Dept. which took place January 31, at Pickens, S. C. . . . Wedding bells are tolling for Blanche Hollingsworth who was married February 4th to Donald Hampton at Greenville, S. C. . . . Myrtle Little is sporting a diamond ring which announces her engagement to Ray Cook who was employed in the main office but who is now doing a job for Uncle Sam.

Phil Riddle is spending more time in Brevard, especially Saturday nights. . . . They employ some pretty mean fellows in the stitching dept. They just sit there eating candy in front of G. Hensley until her tongue hangs out. . . . Well Bonnie, did you accept that marriage proposal?

Clarence Garren came to work with his face all cut up. He said it came as a result of a fall while riding his bicycle but we wonder. . . . Bob Clayton has been showing off his wings. He finished his CPT course in Hendersonville and it won't be long before he will leave us to take an advanced course in flying. Good luck, Bob. . . . The hardest day's work we've had so far was last Tuesday, March 3, when only 50 out of 160 showed up for work. . . . We had three very good games the other night when Hand Booklet B played Endless Belt. Hand Booklet came out on top with two games to one for Endless.

Hand Booklet B Maintains Lead

With only two weeks to go in the final Ecusta Women's Duck Pin League, Hand Booklet B remains in the envied top spot in the league. Endless Belt rates 2nd position with Office running close for 3rd.

Several changes in the past two weeks find some of our long ranking top raters pushed to second and third places in individual competition. Ann Morris still maintains her early lead with a 90 pin average with Maymie Reynolds in 2nd place with 89. Sarah Avery lost her high single game record to Virginia Carland who rolled up a 116 game to push Sarah to 2nd position with 115. However, Sarah now holds the "3 game" record previously held by her teammate, Ann Morris, for on the 4th of March she rolled a 302 against Ann's 297. On March 12 Mary Sue Thorne of Endless belt tied Ann for 2nd place.

We are all agreed that this has been the greatest bowling season in Ecusta's history and to climax the season a banquet is being arranged for all Ecusta bowlers. At this time trophies will be awarded to top teams and special recognition will be given those individuals who, in the minds of their teammates, are deserving of this honor. Any Ecustan who has played one game during league play is eligible to attend this banquet. Announcement as to date will be made the first week of April.

Ecusta 5th In Tri-City League

The two snow storms that presented themselves during the months of February and March played havoc with the Tri-City bowling league schedule. Due to postponements of matches, the league standings remain almost identical to the previous month.

The only change that is noticeable is the spurt made by "Knuckle Ball" Morris in the league averages. He finally managed to take over the high average and push Bruce Reynolds down to second place.

On March 30th, the Ecusta Bowling Team will enter the W. N. C. Annual Handicap Tournament in Asheville. Several bowlers from our own Ecusta League intend to place their names on the entry list.
