Letters From Our Men In Service

ENJOYED LUNCH IN CAFETERIA

Editors of the Echo:

It was a pleasure to visit Ecusta again. Everyone was nice as can be and I also appreciated that delicious lunch. These army cooks have a lot to learn before they can cook a meal as good as that.

The trip back up here took about 20 hours and there was hardly standing room in the day coaches. The one I was on had air conditioning so it wasn't so bad.

The latest issue of the Echo came a couple of days ago and I'm enjoying it. Thank you for sending it. You know, my last leave was so much fun; hope the war isn't over before they give me another one.

Sincerely,
Alfred
(Lt. Alfred L. Skinner)

HAS BEAUTIFUL LOCATION

June 28, 1943

Dear Mr. Wells:

Thank you for your recent letter and the copy of the Echo. Your letter was forwarded from St. Petersburg, Fla., but if you intend sending me any more copies of the Echo perhaps it would be better to wait until you hear from me again since I have about two more weeks here.

Of course I have no idea where my next post may be—you don't even know that until you get off the train at the destination.

I have been here attending the Army Air Force Technical Training School for the past five weeks and I believe that those of us who were fortunate enough to have been sent here will find that it is the best location we will see as long as we are in the army. The students live in two hotels in town and attend classes in two shifts, one beginning in the early morning and the other about 3 PM until 11:30 PM. The food, living quarters, in fact everything about this post is the very best. The physical education program is pretty rigorous because men go out from here to the fourteen Air Forces all around the world. This program usually consists of a half-hour of calisthenics, a 2½ mile cross country run, and finishes with informal games between the various classes; softball, touch football, swimming or basketball.

Incidentally, another interesting item in regard to this location is its altitude; 5015 feet above sea level, or 2786 feet higher than good old Brevard. When we first arrived here most of us found that we couldn't run 50 yards without gasping for air—but at the end of the week that condition disappeared.

This is rodeo season out here, and "Shotgun" would be in his element if he could be in town of a Sunday night when the bronc riders and other people who have come in to compete in the rodeos ride along the streets on the most beautiful Palomino ponies you ever saw. I'd be in my element too, if I weren't in the army because 40 miles from here in Estes Park there is skiing 365 days a year, and I can see the snow-capped mountains from my barracks window.

I hadn't intended to make this such a rambling letter, but once started I find it hard to stop. Please remember me to my friends at the mill. When I ship out of here I hope I'll get a chance to stop off and see you.

Sincerely yours,
RALPH
