Miss Mary Vannah Becomes Bride Of Lt. B. R. Langlois

Miss Mary Vannah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Vannah of Brevard, became the bride of Lt. Bernard R. Langlois, of New Hampshire, in a simple ceremony at the Greenville army air base chapel, Greenville, S. C., July 27. The marriage was solemnized by Capt. Anthony A. Cirami, chaplain.

A member of the army air force, friend of the bridegroom, played the wedding music. The bride entered the chapel on the arm of her father. She wore the wedding gown of her sister, Mrs. Thomas E. Carr, wife of Lt. (jg) T. E. Carr, of the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. James F. Wilson, wife of the army air base Lt. Wilson, was matron of honor. Lt. Vincent Meyers, of Oklahoma, served as best man.

Following the ceremony, an informal tea was given at the Officers' Club.

Mrs. Longlois attended the schools of Berlin, N. H., the University of New Hampshire, Brevard Junior College and the University of Tennessee. She is now a junior at Duke School of Nursing, Durham.

Lt. Langlois attended the schools of Manchester, N. H., and was graduated from the Institute of Air Conditioning and Refrigeration, Chicago.

At present Lt. and Mrs. Langlois are residing in Greenville, S. C.

Timely Suggestions About Your Hair

YOUR HAIR IS HEALTHIER if your vitamins are all inside you in happy balance; if you shampoo the moment it stops being clean; if you don't spare the brush—and let it be a clean one; if you give your scalp plenty of fingerwork (rotate your scalp over your skull when you sit and read); if your meals bear down on Vitamin B complex foods (they help prevent dry scalp and that dandruff scaling); if you don't rub a cake of Anyoldsoap over it—your mane deserves a good liquid shampoo—and so it will be more beautiful.

TRY WEARING YOUR HAIR

In pigtails with real or fake flowers braided in—braids toward the face.

Practically straight, trained to turn under. No curlers, just finger-shaping while its still damp from shampoo.

Parted in the center-back with the braids folded low on the neck, flat bows or flowers over the endings.

With the side hair drawn up high, anchored with barrette or flowers; put the back in a net.

Waved slightly in the back with the side hair drawn up.

SITTING ON GLASS

Glass manufacturers are learning to make glass so resilient that in years to come you'll think nothing at all of buying furniture made with glass springs.

Milo: "Porter, get me another glass of water."

Porter: "Sorry, suh, but if I take any mo' ice, dat co'pse in de baggage car ain't going to keep."

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

MISS KATHERINE ENGLISH, the attractive daughter of Mrs. E. S. English and the late Dr. English, of Brevard, whose engagement to Pfc. John I. Anderson, Jr., has been announced.

Miss English To Wed Pfc. John I. Anderson Sept. 4

Katherine English, who works in the Main Office of Ecusta, is engaged to Pfc. John I. Anderson, a classification specialist at Fort Jack, S.C. The wedding will take place on Saturday, September the fourth, at the Methodist church in Brevard.

The engagement was announced at a dinner party at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. S. English of Brevard.

Miss English was educated at the public schools of Brevard and attended Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, at Greensboro and was graduated from the American School of Art and Design, New York City.

Pfc. Anderson, former business and advertising manager of The Transylvania Times and publicity director of Brevard College, received his degree in journalism from the University of North Carolina, and attended the Reidsville high school and Wooten's business college.

Guests at the announcement party included: Miss Mildred Carpenter, Mrs. C. B. Carter, Mrs. William Kirk, Mrs. Lita B. Steppe, Mrs. Joseph Hunter, Mrs. Brian Combs, Miss Lucile Roberts and Miss Elizabeth Johnson of Hendersonville.

MEALS FOR SOLDIERS

Each soldier who goes overseas automatically ties up 270 days supply of food. It takes that much to feed him, afloat and in the field, to allow for loss by enemy action and to keep the supply lines filled and moving.

Mrs. Bryson And J. H. Rhodes Married

A pretty wedding took place on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Galloway, in Brevard, July 24, at eight o'clock, when Mrs. Maude McClure Bryson became the bride of James Howard Rhodes, of Brevard.

Rev. B. W. Thomason, pastor of the Brevard Baptist church, officiated, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. An improvised altar in a shady nook of the lawn formed an attractive background for the wedding. Mrs. Melvin Gillespie, organist, played several selections. Odell Scott, also of Ecusta, sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride approached the altar with her sister, Miss Ann McClure, who was maid of honor. Mack Mehaffey, of Brevard, was best man.

A lawn reception was given after the ceremony. After a honeymoon trip the couple returned to make their home in Brevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are both graduates of Western Carolina Teachers College, Cullowhee. They both are employed at Ecusta, where Mr. Rhodes is a filter plant operator.

"What is home without a mother?" asked the good looking sailor boy.

"Well," replied the sweet young thing, "I am, tonight."

Who Said It?

"Imagination was given man to compensate him for what he is not; and a sense of humor was provided to console him for what he is."

Miss Roberson Is Bride Of Ensign William Hamrick

Miss Everette Deane Roberson, of Brevard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Roberson, of Candler, became the bride of Ensign William H. Hamrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hamrick, of Asheville, in a ceremony at the Calvary Baptist church, West Asheville, Sunday afternoon August 22.

Rev. W. H. Moore, of Raleigh, performed the ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. C. I. Poor, organist, and Mrs. Thomas W. Bird, of Charlotte, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Mrs. John Gilmore, of Aerney, Neb., was matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Evelyn Hamrick, was maid of honor.

Cecil Hoskins was best man, and ushers were Zeno Wall, Earl Woodard, Charles Newcomb and Bill Melia.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the Hamrick home, 565 Haywood Road.

Mrs. Hamrick has been secretary and chemist in the chemical laboratory of the Ecusta Paper corporation since August, 1940.

Ensign Hamrick has been located in the Panama Canal zone the past 27 months. Prior to that time he was employed as transmitter engineer at WWNC radio station.

Mrs. Hamrick was extensively entertained in Brevard, Asheville and Candler following the announcement of her engagement two weeks prior to her wedding.

Your Guide To Daily Living

From Washington Bureau

FIRST THINGS FIRST

It's time to fight waste, not just because it's the patriotic thing to do, but because we can't afford not to. We are going to be eating less beef and more pork, both summer and winter. As the war goes on, we may have to eat less meat of all kinds and get more of our nourishment from cereals and plants. We're going to lose more frills; but there will be no lack of children's clothes, work clothes and underwear.

HATS THAT FIT

Your fall hat will fit your head better than any you've had for many a season; we're short of elastic and hatpins for the kind that perch. There's a dearth of veils too, so take care of the ones you have. An old trick for reviving a veil is to iron it with a warm iron between two pieces of waxed paper.

FOOD FOR WAR PRISONERS

If a member of your family is a prisoner of war you can get extra quantities of rationed foods for him by applying to your ration board.

DURATION SILVERWARE

Flatware manufacturers may now produce nothing but knives, forks, teaspoons and tablespoons, in only one pattern. This means no more iced teaspoons, butter spreaders and bouillon spoons for the duration.

RUN-LESS STOCKINGS

When synthetic resins are again available for civilian comforts after the war, you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover how much they can add to the life and good looks of all textiles. Eventually, thanks to these resins, you may be wearing stockings that won't run.
