

WHO'S WHO

—BY STAFF WRITERS—

BUCK McCALL

Frederick L. (Buck) McCall, Ecusta's Chief of Police, came to Ecusta in October, 1939. However, he had been Chief of Police for the Fiske-Carter Construction company during the construction period. Before coming to Fiske-Carter, he was Chief Deputy Sheriff of Transylvania county. Buck hails from Lake Toxaway and attended Rosman high school. The chief is married and has two children. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

SLIM BULLOCK

Raymond C. (Slim) Bullock came to Ecusta July 5, 1939, from the Brunswick Pulp and Paper company of Brunswick, Ga. He was one of the first foremen in the Pulp Mill. Later in 1940, the Pulp Mill Department had grown to such an extent that it was necessary to divide it into different departments and at that time "Slim" was made a Bleachroom foreman, which classification he still holds. Slim lives in Brevard, is married and has one child, a two-year-old son. Just about all of us here at Ecusta know "Slim"—we think he is a good sport, too; remember the April party—the baby carriage—the baby, etc?

All except two U. S. cities of 100,000 population and over have community chests.

Ration points do not have to be given for long tongue of beef, brains and kidneys. These meat items are relatively low in cost, and high in food value and flavor.

WALTER ASHWORTH

Walter Ashworth came to Ecusta in November, 1939, as secretary to Mr. R. F. Bennett. He left Ecusta to join the Army Air Corps in January, 1942, but was given a medical discharge in the following July. Walter was employed by the Forestry Service. He is a graduate of Brevard high school and of Brevard college. His home is in Brevard. His sister Carolyn, is also employed at Ecusta in Mr. H. R. Vannah's office. Walter's hobbies are fishing, reading and horseback riding.

MARGARET COLLINS

Margaret Collins came to the Finishing Department of Ecusta in January of 1943. She was transferred to the Mill Office in April of 1943, where she is a clerk. Margaret's home is in Hendersonville and she is a graduate of Hendersonville high school. She is going to night school now at Brevard College improving her short hand. Her hobbies are horse-shoe pitching and dancing.

Just For Fun

LIKE EGGS - FRESH AND NEW, YOU BET!

LITTLE MORON

Once upon a time there were two morons. One of them called the other on the telephone at 3 o'clock in the morning.

"Hello, is this University one one one?"

After a while came the answer. "Nope, this is Universtiy eleven eleven."

"Well, then; sorry to bother you at this time of night."

"Oh, that's all right; I had to get up to answer the telephone anyway."

ABBREVIATION

A lady checking over her grocery bill, found this item: "One tom cat, 15 cents."

Indignant, she called up her grocer and demanded to know what he meant by such a charge.

"Oh, that's all right, Mrs. Blank," he replied. "That's just an abbreviation for tomato catsup."

BRAVERY

Mrs. Jones: "Do you know, I have a very small mouth."

In the mirror it doesn't look large enough to hold my tongue."

Mr. Jones: "It isn't."

WAS HE!

A. "I'll bet you were mad when you ran over that skunk."

B. "Mad? I was highly incensed."

SUCKER

"A man in an insane asylum sat fishing over a flower bed. A visitor wishing to be friendly walked up and said, "How many you caught today?"

"You're the ninth," he replied.

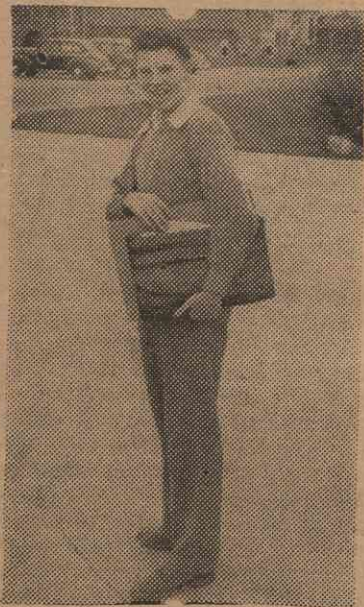

CLEVER

Speaker (trying to raise money): "All who will give $5.00 stand up." (Aside to musician) "Play the national anthem."

COME-BACK

Mr. A. "Do you know you're getting uglier every day?"

Mr. B. "Well, at least that's something you can't do."

TED REESE

Ted Reese is an Ecusta office boy. He has been with Ecusta since May of this year. Although Ted is originally from Canton and went to high school while there, he lives in Hendersonville and is a graduate of Flat Rock high school. His hobby is a most unusual one; he collects all types of blotters. Someday, Ted says, he hopes to get into the Coast Guard Air Force.

TRANSACTION

The decrepit old car drove up to the toll-bridge.

"Fifty-cents," cried the gate-man.

"Sold," replied the driver.

NATURALLY

Louise: "What's your boy friend's being in the army got to do with his staring at every pretty girl he sees?"

Emma: "Oh, he's in the observation corps."

NO DESERTER

Judge: "Rufe, don't you know that by leaving your wife as you do, you are a deserter?"

Rufe: "Jedge, yu' honor, if you knowed that woman like I does, you wouldn't call me a deserter. I's a refugee."

AMBUSH

"Miss Jones," said the office manager, "you are an extremely attractive girl."

"Do you really think so?" asked the typist, with a demure blush.

"Yes; and furthermore, you dress beautifully, have a lovely voice, and are one of the prettiest girls I've ever seen."

"Oh, thank you . . . but you really musn't say such things."

"Maybe not, but I wanted to put you in a cheerful frame of mind before taking up the matter of your punctuation and spelling."

CHOICE

A Tennessee boy had been calling on his girl for almost a year, when pappy finally cornered him one night and asked:

"You been seeing Nelly for nigh onta a year. What are your intentions, honorable or dishonorable?"

The mountaineer's eyes sparkled: "You mean I got a choice?"

FAIR ENOUGH

"Son, said the revenue agent to a little mountain boy, "Can you tell me where your pappy is?"

"He's down in the holler making whiskey."

"Thanks, and I'll give you half a dollar if you'll take me down where he is."

"Will you give it to me now?"

"I'll give it to you when we get back. That's fair enough, isn't it?"

"Nope, you ain't comin' back!"

TECHNIQUE

"Did you ever taste moonshine whiskey?"

"Certainly not," replied Uncle Bill Bottletop. "Anybody who can't swallow fast enough to keep from tastin' it has no business tryin' to drink it."

HOORAY!

1st Recruit: "What did the little rabbit say as he ran out of the bush fire?"

2nd Ditto: "Hooray, I've been defurred."

RECOGNIZED

Farmer Jabber. "I've got a freak on my farm. It's a two-legged calf."

Farmer Corntassel: "Yes, I know. He came over to call on my daughter last night."

The best sources of carotene or vitamin A for livestock feeding are yellow corn, rapidly-growing forage and dried forage, says Dr. J. O. Halverson, of the animal industry department at State College.
