Elizabeth Johnson To Wed Next Month

Mrs. Mitchell Glover Johnson announces the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth ("Tootsie") to George William Nicholson, a private in the United States army air corps. The marriage will be solemnized on Sunday, December 19, in the First Methodist Church of Hendersonville.

The bride-elect, a charming brunette, is the daughter of Mrs. Johnson and the late M. Glover Johnson. She is employed in the Main Office of Ecusta and is a popular member of the younger set of Hendersonville.

Mr. Nicholson, who is the son of Mrs. William P. Bane and the late Arlington Nicholson, held a position with the TVA before going into service. He is stationed at the army air corps basic training center in Greensboro.

Evelyn And Anne In Endless Dept. Write Old Santa

Dear Santa:

We have tried very hard to be good girls this year. We have invested in War Bonds, paid our income taxes without too many complaints, and sent husbands and brothers to the Army. The little dirty jokes we enjoy so well can't exactly be counted as a credit to us, but believe us, Santa, we don't hear any clean ones any more. We have stayed out of the locker room as much as possible.

As for myself, Ann, I want my husband back. You don't realize how much he means to me. But when your draft board hands you a 1-A card, I am sure that Mrs. Santa will be as lonely as I.

Santa, my name is Evelyn, and believe me, I'll settle for a husband of any kind. You can bring him wrapped in khaki or in Navy blues. May we count on you this year?

Evelyn and Ann

The Fall Clean-Up

Next year's garden will be all the better if you clean up trash and weeds from the garden patch, and then plant a cover crop (winter rye, say) before the ground freezes up. Burn all garden trash to get rid of diseases and insects that might otherwise live over winter and attack crops planted next year.

A cover crop seeded in fall will keep the topsoil from washing away during the winter, and will also supply humus when turned under in spring. Humus helps the soil hold water.

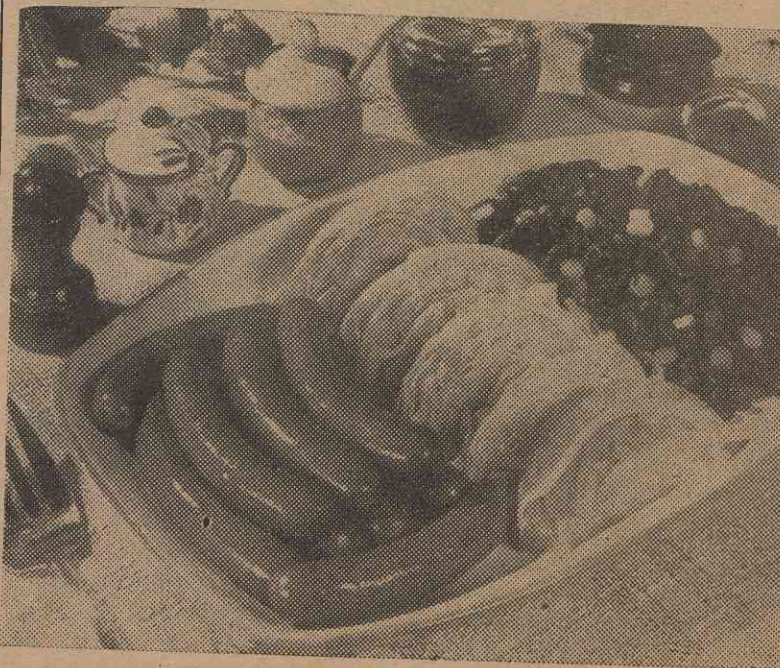

Used in making perfumes, musk comes from a male Asiatic deer.

Ten Minutes Is All It Takes To Make This Meal For Your Family

Here's the meal for the wartime cook whose time is filled with other important duties. Ten minutes is all the cooking time it needs; economy is its middle name and good flavor is in every mouthful. This whole dinner on one platter will serve six lusty eaters and serve them well, for frankfurters are a mainstay the men-folks like. Set out an array of mustards, sauces and seasonings, dress up the red kidney beans with scallion rings, and pour a little melted butter over the cabbage, if you can spare it. Here's a jiffy dinner that gives your family the right kind of nutrition, at the lowest cost of time and money.

DINNER ON A PLATTER

- 12 frankfurters
- 1 medium head cabbage
- 2½ cups cooked kidney beans
- ¼ cup sliced scallions

To cook frankfurters prick the skins in several places with a fork, place in a baking pan and bake in a hot oven (400 degree F.) about 10 minutes. Turn once during baking. Remove outer leaves of cabbage, cut in sixths. Cook in small amount of boiling salted water, covered, or uncovered in large amount of boiling salted water, about 10 minutes or until tender. Drain and serve with melted butter or mustard sauce. Heat kidney beans on low heat until piping hot. Arrange frankfurters, cabbage and kidney beans on large platter; sprinkle scallions on kidney beans. Makes 6 servings.

Good Housekeeping Safety Essential

How many times have you seen something on the floor that did not belong there? How many times have you passed such things up because they were left there by someone else or because they were not in your department? Do you leave stumbling or tripping hazards on the floor at home or in the plant just because it's someone else's duty to pick them up? If so, you are surely helping "OLD MAN ACCIDENT," even though you do not do so intentionally.

Right here at Ecusta during the past few weeks, several injuries have resulted from poor house keeping and there is one safe practice that we all should remember: "If it doesn't belong on the floor, pick it up." This applies to hand tools, steel rods, bobbin cores, pulp, pieces of wood, wire, paper, bottles or anything that might cause someone to stumble, slip or fall.

Won't you do your part in helping keep floors clear of all such hazards and thereby help eliminate so many unnecessary injuries?

Safety Director.

Your Guide To Daily Living

From Washington Bureau

HOUSEDRESSES, CHEAP—If you've had any trouble buying housedresses lately, you'll be glad to know that plans are afoot to increase their production. It is possible that the new ones will cost a little more than you've been accustomed to paying, but it won't mean a net increase in your living costs. You'll buy more housedresses and fewer more expensive dresses of other types.

ELECTRIC IRONS—When electric irons go back into limited production, as they will before long, they probably won't be distributed through a formal rationing program. It's more likely that you'll be asked to turn in your worn out iron to get a new one, or to certify that you have none at all. The old irons would be rebuilt and sold.

NO MEN, NO FROSTING—The reason why the Canadian government has ordered bakers to stop icing their cakes is not to save sugar, as you might imagine, but to save manpower.

KEEP IT UP!—We are turning in only half as much fat as the government expects and needs. There is no limit to the need for scrap metal either. Now is the time to redouble your household salvage operations.

CORN AND SHOES—From the corn protein—which is what's left after the oil, starch and fibre have been removed—some shoe soles have been produced experimentally which look like rubber and wear nearly as well as leather.

PHOTOGRAPHIC FILM—Most dealers in photographic film are rationing it informally by limiting sales to one roll.

STOP THAT LEAK—The new serially numbered gasoline ration tickets won't be ready as soon as had been expected probably not before the first of the year. If they plug the leaks to the black market as well as the government expects, Easterners can hope for more liberal rations.

THE BLOCKERS

Our Department welcomes the girls from Inspection Department. Come on, girls, you are just one of our gang. With all the other new faces, gossip is scarce—unless the writer does a little bit of "nos-ing". Heard over the grapevine that Alma H. has returned home and is feeling fine after her operation. Here's hoping you won't be out much longer. Pearl J. is about exhausted trying to keep up with Jessie L. in blocking these days.—Jennie G., bidding both boy friends good-bye the same week? Ruth B. is spending a vacation this week. Have a good time for us too, Ruth. Sylvia S. spent the week-end at Fort Jackson with her husband. Frances P. has joined her husband in Norfolk for a few weeks. Hurry back, Frances. Edith W.'s boy-friend has just visited her. Louise S. will learn to duck the next time she goes to Camp Croft or she will have a pot of coffee splashed in her lap. Let me know it, girls, if you know any gossip. May we all enjoy a "Thankful Thanksgiving".
