

Good Make-Up Is A Morale-Builder

Ever notice how much brighter the world looks, and how much more capable you feel, as you progress with putting on your make-up? Maybe you feel—and look—pretty low as you sit down before your mirror preparatory to putting on your “face.” But as you smoothe on a tinted foundation, press on a delicately-colorful face powder, wield the brave banner of lipstick . . . well sir, life begins to pick up amazingly! Nothing is as bad as it seems . . . when you look as pretty as you can in the right make-up.

So, aside from the real protective benefits choose make-up to glorify your own beauty, and lift your spirits.

First requisite of a lovely, lasting make-up is an immaculately clean skin. After cleansing with soap and water, or the cleanser best suited to your skin, follow with skin freshener for a clean glowing refreshed look and feeling.

Next, the proper foundation. The right foundation . . . and the right shade of foundation, the same shade as your face powder, correctly applied . . . is the secret of a well-groomed look. To apply, dot on each finger tip, and “tipple” it lightly over the entire face, throat and neck, be sure to bring it well up under the eyes and around the mouth.

Now, quickly blend the foundation smoothly and evenly over the entire surface of the face and throat.

For a soft glow of color on the cheeks, touch the high area where natural color most often appears with a tiny bit of cream rouge. Blend out and down, making sure there is no line of demarcation.

Next, your face powder. Always select a shade the tone of your natural skin—never lighter. You can use a shade darker than your skin if you like, but a light powder over a dark skin gives an aged effect. With a clean puff . . . emphasis on clean . . . gently press the powder on your skin, and be sure you have plenty of powder on the puff. Press over entire face, beginning at the chin. Let powder “set” for a minute. Then, with the other side of the puff, brush off excess powder. Never rub powder over the skin . . . always press it on.

Now for final touches. Brush powder from brows, (and lightly pencil first with a brown pencil and then with a black to get a natural look. Mascara the lashes with a moist brush lightly rubbed over mascara, applying up and out on lashes.)

Behold! Your mirror shows you a face that seems years younger in appearance . . . you feel ever so much better, ready to face with confidence and courage whatever the day may bring. And what's more, your fresh pretty make-up will help to protect your skin against the dirt and grime of the day, as well as affording a shield against the elements.

NOTICE TO ALL DEPT. REPORTERS

Deadline For April Issue Is Fri., April 14th.

Please get copy in early, if possible.

Bibs For Infants Can Be Made Easily

Babies and bibs are never far apart. Every infant needs a substantial supply of them. Lucky is the mother who has a few worn turkish towels, for the corners of these make grand, sturdy bibs. To pretty them up, crochet an edging in blue or pink and embroider floral sprays across the front. (Direction sheet for making turkish towel bibs, No. 2533, is available to all employees without charge. Call at The Library.)

Just For Fun

LIKE EGGS - FRESH AND NEW, YOU BET!

THREE GENERATIONS

“I am Brave Eagle,” said the Red Indian Chieftain, introducing himself to the paleface visitor. “This is my son, Fighting Bird.” “And here,” he added, “is my grandson, Four Engine Bomber.”

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

He: “I’ve ordered the ring, dear. What would you like to have engraved on it?”

She (a publisher’s daughter): “Well, ‘all rights reserved’ I think would be very nice.”

SAID THE MONKEY TO THE ZOO KEEPER

Crude Visitor: “What strange people you have in this town.”

Native: “Yes, I know; but most of them go away at the end of the vacation season.”

HE WOULD!

He: “Honey, I’ve bought something for the one I love best. Guess what?”

She: “A box of cigars.”

INSIGNIA

WAC: “What’s that ugly insignia on the side of the bomber?”

Pilot: “Sh-h-h, that’s the commanding officer looking out of the porthole.”

BLAME

Worker: “Would you blame me for something I didn’t do?”

Foreman: “Of course not.”

Worker: “Well, I did not get here in time to punch in this morning.”

ROMANCE

“I seem to have run out of gas,” he said. “Here’s where I have to do some fast work.” The girl’s face, small and white, was turned up to his, her eyes glowing dizzily from beneath the heavy lids, her head swam. Slowly he bent over her. Why not?—he was her dentist.

100% RIGHT

“Hell, yes,” said the Devil, picking up the phone.

RETORT

The famous criminal lawyer had won a shockingly bad case by eloquence and trickery and a rival lawyer said to him, bitterly:

“Is there any case so low, so foul, so vilely crooked and shameful that you’d refuse to take it?”

“Well, I don’t know,” the other answered with a smile. “What have you been doing now?”

SLIGHTLY FADED

“Is that wife of yours as beautiful as ever?”

“Yes, but it takes her somewhat longer these days.”

NOSEY

A minister was loud in his praise of the fat and juicy bird his colored host served for dinner, and finally asked:

“Where did you get such a fine goose?”

“Parson,” replied the host, “when you preaches a good sermon Ah doan ax you whar you got it. Ah hopes you’ll hab de same consideration foh me.”

SAFE

Sergeant (after war game): “Private, didn’t you realize you were exposing yourself to an imaginary enemy only 250 yards away?”

Private: “That’s alright, Sergeant, I was standing behind an imaginary rock 25 feet high.”

SPELLED “WOLVES”

Wife: “Did you see those soldiers stare at that pretty girl boarding the bus?”

Husband: “What soldiers?”

WE ALL UNDERSTAND

A medical journal advances the theory that “man is slightly taller in the morning than he is in the evening.” We have never tested this, but we have noticed a tendency to become “short” toward the end of the month.

RULE RATHER THAN EXCEPTION

Boy: “Dad, do you know that in some parts of India a man doesn’t

It's Patriotic To Sew At Home Now

When mother was an infant in pink, increased activity in the family sewing circle meant a blessed event. Busy fingers fashioned layettes. Fond relatives prepared to dress baby in hand-made finery from bonnet to bootee. Every stitch was made by hand. Then came the era of ready-mades and baby's wardrobe lost its individuality.

Now, once again, infants are blooming out in garments made at home. There is more than one good reason for this return to the sewing basket. Wise mothers, dotting aunts and modern grandmothers realize that, with the present-day limitations and the high prices on consumers' goods, sewing at home contributes the only sensible solution to baby's clothing problem. There are so many new babies and so few of the things they need on the market. There is a choice between paying high prices for a few necessities or spending time instead of money for all of baby's needs. Ready-made clothes for older children are more expensive, too. The limited supplies of little suits and dresses, coats and hats, underwear and pajamas, all so simply made at home, make shopping difficult.

Thrifty mothers know the trick of adding hand-embroidered and hand-crocheted details to their children's clothes. These easy-to-make details on ready-made clothes are the very things that push infants' and children's wear prices so high because of the time involved and the shortage of labor. The simplest flannelette baby kimono made at home can be decorated with embroidered edges. Tiny embroidered floral sprays transform the plainest home-made dresses and slips into charming individualized garments.

The teen-age girl who has outgrown childhood has her wardrobe worries, too. She wants to have her share of new clothes, but she is old enough to realize how important it is to save for a future. Teen-agers throughout the country have tackled this problem in true American fashion—they have learned to sew. Small budgets present no difficulties to the junior crowd when girls can make the clothes they want, and have fun doing it.

Yes, sewing is fun—but it is also practical and profitable. And home sewers can be sure they are making their important contribution towards easing the shortage of men and materials.

know his wife until he marries her?”

Father: “Why single out India?”

WARNING

Political Speaker: “I’m pleased to see this dense crowd here tonight.”

Voice from the back: “Don’t be too pleased. We ain’t all dense.”

SERIOUS CONDITION

Man (to small son of one of his workmen who has met with an accident): “When will your dad be fit for work again?”

Boy: “Can’t say for certain, but it will be a long time.”

Man: “What makes you think that?”

Boy: “Cause compensation’s set in.”

When a fellow breaks a date, He usually has to;
When a girl breaks a date, She usually has two.