SOCIALS - FASHIONS - RATIONING, SEWING AND COOKING HINTS
BY LUCILLE ROBERTS, At The Library

Timely Suggestions Are Given From Fashion World About Clothes, Styles

It is high time to notice what is going on in the fashion world.

The stores are brimming over with patterns and fabrics, inviting you to bring out your sewing machine for a concentrated session. This sun's fresh designs and sun-splashed colors are more vibrant than ever before. Wise women already know that by sewing for themselves, with a minimum of expense, they can have an individualized wardrobe that is superior in construction and fit.

Today's clothes are functional, feminine enough for dressy occasions. This is a season for tailored and dressmaker styles, in such hearted colors as lime green, gold and misty lilac. Dresses with soft gathering at neckline and unpadded cap sleeves are daytime and evening wear. Because of their versatility, jumpers and pinafores are favored by women and junior girls. Sprightly hat ensembles are hand-crocheted or knitted.

Be sure that your pattern and pieces are coordinated. Draping for a fabric that has some body is not too wiry. Wool rayon jersey and crepe drape fully. If you are making a suit, choose a firm material that will hold a sharp pleat. Shetland, flannel, gabardine will be excellent for tailored suits. Crisp cottons and linens are for casual and play will want to keep it trim and neat. Make garments last longer by pressing and mending. Remember, too, that what you are grooming is of tremendous importance. Captivating clothes are for a sparkling, well-scrubbed personality.

Tate - Landeck

The marriage has been announced of Miss Nancy Evelyn Tate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Tate, of Brevard, to Richard William Landeck, of Lyndwood, N. J. and Brevard. The wedding took place in Greenville, S. C., on Saturday, June 3.

Landeck is a graduate of Wintrop college, Rock Hill, S. C. She took a business course in Cecil's business college. She has been employed in Endless Paper corporation. The couple are making their home on View Drive in Brevard.

Few Hints For Refrigerator Desserts

Freeze frozen desserts ahead. A "mellowing" brings out the sweetest, finest flavors. Wash fruit and berries so they won't be icy chunks. Place trays in refrigerator while frozen mixture. A warm water bath will discourage and melt frozen desert.

Pretty June Bride

Mrs. Malcomb B. Hamilton, above, was married on June 12 in Abbeville, S. C., to Pfc. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. D. Hamilton, of Penrose. Mrs. Hamilton was before her marriage Miss Dorothy Jean Loftis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Loftis, of Brevard. She works in the Inspection Department.

Sgt. Emmett Wilson Weds Miss Grogan

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Gorgan, of Canton, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marie Grogan, to Sgt. Emmett L. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wilson, of Brevard.

The wedding took place at the home of Rev. O. F. Burnette, in Canton, on June 7, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. Sgt. Wilson has returned to the United States after spending 28 months in the Pacific area, with a medical detachment of the U. S. army. He has returned to Camp Butner for re-assignment. Before entering the army in April of 1941, Sgt. Wilson was employed in the Pulp Mill as a vacuum washer.

SOLDIERS' MAIL

The War Department stressed the necessity of addressing mail to soldiers overseas, not only by name, but also by rank, serial number, organization, Army post-office number, and the postmaster at the port through which the mail passes. Overseas mail averages 25,000,000 pieces weekly. There are many duplications of names. The full name, and full address, facilitate handling and assure delivery.

The Post Office Department announced, meanwhile, that it was increasing production of 6-cent stamped air-mail envelopes, because of heavy demand from soldiers overseas. The entire production, to be raised from 40,000,000 to 60,000,000 monthly goes to servicemen abroad. — From U. S. News, June 30, 1944

Lt. Wilkins Marries In England

Lt. Charles Ruffin Wilkins, son of Mrs. Madge Osborne Wilkins of Brevard and brother of Mrs. Armfield of Ecusta's personnel office, married in England recently the widow of Lt. Comm. A. J. M. Mackenzie, of the Royal Navy. His bride was the former Elizabeth Rees Mackenzie.

Lt. Wilkins met his wife while serving as a liaison officer between the American Air Transport command and the R. A. F. At present he is stationed at a Service Command depot which supplies all the fighters of the Eighth Air Force covering the invasion beachheads. Before entering the service in January of 1942, he was employed by Ecusta as a Chemical Helper. He received his commission on April 16, 1943, after attending the AAF Officers Candidates' School at Miami Beach, Fla., and arrived overseas in August, 1943.

Miss Rosalie Ahrens Weds Alf Galloway

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ahrens, of Brevard, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rosalie Ahrens, to Alfred Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Galloway, of Rosman. The wedding took place on Sunday, July 9, in Pickens, S. C.

Mrs. Galloway is a graduate of Henty Snyder high school in Jersey City, N. J. She began working in Champagne's Hand Booklet in Gummung Department. Mr. Galloway is also employed in Gummung.

Miss Henderson Weds Mr. McKelvey

The marriage of Miss Frances Louise Henderson, who was an employee of the Chemical Laboratory here, to Mr. Claude Rankin McKelvey, took place in Greenville, S. C., June 20.

Mrs. McKelvey is a sister of Mrs. W. A. Wilson, of Brevard. Mr. McKelvey is an engineer under civil service at the naval base, Charleston S. C., where the couple resides.

Take It Easy

War nerves are bothering everyone more or less these days, including drivers. Everybody's a little touchy. Hence, there's more of a premium on courtesy and good manners than ever.

When some driver insists on hogging the road, let him have it.

If a driver "runs the yellow light" against you, let him go ahead instead of trying to scare him with a "close shave."

If the driver behind you gets over-anxious, pull over and let him go on his way.

After all, you are in business for yourself and playing it safe will keep you alive to do business another day.

FAIR WARNING

My lady, be wary of Cupid
And list to the lines of this verse:
To let a fool kiss you is stupid,
To let a kiss fool you is worse.

Your Guide To Daily Living

From Washington Bureau

POST-WAR WOOD — After the war you may be able to buy furniture with pigment pumped into its pores so that the color can not wear off. Also in the works are techniques for making poplar as strong as oak and treating lumber to make it fire-resistant.

MORE PARTS, FEWER FIXERS — Spare parts for machinery (household) and such vital home-front equipment as lawn mowers will be easier to find this summer. It may be difficult to get repairs done, though.

NO BREAD RATIONING — Don't fall for rumors that we will have bread rationing.

DON'T LOSE YOUR RATION BOOKS—Hang on to Books 3 and 4. Getting replacements for lost books is growing more difficult.

GUARD YOUR GARDEN HOSE —Keep your garden hose flexible by giving it an occasional coating of water emulsion wax. Empty water after you use it. Keep in a dry place, protected from sun.

WONDER DRUGS FOR CIVILIANS—More penicillin for civilians is a 1944 certainty. Also, they may get cut in on ODT powder, another war wonder which has licked typhus and can do the same for almost any bug out to destroy a crop.

NO PLEASURE DRIVING BAN —There will be no ban on pleasure driving during July and August. Holders of "A" cards can help crowded transportation.

MORE AND BETTER OVERSHOES—Overshoes will be of better quality and easier to find this autumn. They will cost more, however.

Now Is The Time To—

- Can. Cut weeds.
 - Keep eggs cool.
 - Use your "bean."
 - Read about Iceland.
 - Harvest ripe tomatoes.
 - Stake tall-growing flowers.
 - Oil the refrigerator motor.
 - Put ammonia on bee stings.
 - Ask Aunt Alice to come for a week.
 - Plant sweet corn for fall roasting ears.
 - Avoid poison ivy. Three leaves, remember.
 - Be sure to get news of your department in the Echo.
