

Elaine Lawson Weds An Army Officer

Miss Elaine Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lawson, became the bride of Captain S. M. Guglielmelli of the U. S. Army Medical corps, son of Mrs. Josephine Guglielmelli, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in a double ring ceremony performed on October 11, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Guglielmelli was formerly employed by Ecusta as secretary to Jack Driscoll. Captain Guglielmelli has been in the army for two years and has served at Moore General hospital since its opening.

Now Is The Time To:

Get plenty of sleep.

Wish someone a Merry Christmas.

Have an oyster supper tonight.

Prune Muscadine grape vines.

Put anti-freeze in radiators.

Pay your life insurance premium.

Weld that broken furnace shaker.

Put narcissus in pebbles and water.

Tell Aunt Alice: "Leap Year's most gone."

Eat an apple; if you don't have one, plan to plant some trees.

Wear snug-fitting work clothes—not long floppy coats that may catch in machinery.

Write that letter to Cousin Joe; you have been planning to write him ever since he went into service.

Hand-Knitted Scarf And Gloves For Gent

The man of the family need not be neglected because there are any number of handsome, useful items you can make for him. He will appreciate a hand-knitted wool scarf of conservative color and pattern, and matching ribbed gloves. Included on the direction sheet for knitting these easily-made articles are directions for a pair of men's socks. (Direction sheet for "Scarf, Gloves, Socks," No. 3115, is available to you, free of charge, at the Library).

IN CARPENTER SHOP IN CALIFORNIA

Lewis M. Townsend, CM 2-c, writes from Camp Parks, Calif.: "... it is like springtime at home here now, with the rain making the green grass spring up on the barren hills ... but I think most of us think more of Ecusta now than we expressed while working there ... I never forget home, or the friends there, or the future."

Pep Up Menus With Orange Bread

You drink your orange juice in the morning—now eat it in the afternoon and evening in tangy orange bread the way Floridians do. Fresh orange juice is the liquid for the golden loaf (keeps it fresh and moist) so squeeze your way to success with the recipe given below:

Florida Bread

2 tablespoons shortening
4 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons phosphate baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup Florida orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup chopped nutmeats

Put the shortening, sugar and egg in a bowl and beat until blended. Add the flour sifted with the baking powder and salt. Add the orange juice and grated rind. Beat until smooth and add nutmeats. Turn into a greased bread pan and bake in a slow oven (325 deg. F.) one hour.

LIKES THE ECHO

James A. Johnson, S 1c, says "Keep the Echo coming. ... It's lots of fun to see the faces of people I know, and to read the news columns of various departments. I can't tell how much I enjoyed the Christmas packages."

THE WORLD'S Safest INVESTMENT
WAR BONDS

Marines Are Wed.

SGT. AND MRS. JOSEPH T. PUSKAS, above, are stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C. Mrs. Puskas, the former Thelma Greene, a Private in the Women's branch of the Marines, was employed in Ecusta's Finishing Department. She entered the Marines in April 1944.

ANIMAL TRAINING AT ITS BEST

"I read that they used 100,000 elephants last year just to make billiard balls."

"Is that so? I didn't imagine such big beasts could be trained to do such exacting work."

Your Guide To Daily Living

From Washington Bureau

METAL BEDS—More beds are being made with metal rails—to stretch the lumber supply.

WHIPPED CREAM—Whipping cream may not be legal again until Tokyo falls. War needs dairy products are still so high that civilians can't have cream so rich it will fluff and still be sure of enough milk for everyone.

BRIGHT CHRISTMAS COMING—Your next year's Christmas tree not only can splash out in new colored light bulbs, but there's a new arrangement of them which will make it simple for you to locate and replace the one which goes bad.

POCKET RADIO—Make room in your handbag for the postwar radio. Some models will be so tiny you can carry them that way and still have room for your other paraphernalia. Men can fit the little models into their coat pockets.

COMING SOON—Add to your list of postwar products: 1. A razor blade that needs to be sharpened only once in five years. 2. A colorless synthetic plastic that can be used in place of adhesive tape to cover scratches and wounds, and will peel off easily after 24 hours. 3. A navy-developed lubricant to increase the lifespan of electric fans.

HARD CANDY LOVERS—You can expect more lemon drops and peppermints — and in bigger pieces.

BOON TO WOUNDS—A major blessing to the wounded of this war is tantalum, the new surgical metal which leaves no scar. Tantalum comes mostly from Brazil and, unlike substances used before, does not irritate living tissue. Heavier than lead, it can be stretched so fine the ends of severed nerves can be mended with it.

Plans for the wedding have not yet been announced.

SEAMAN HAMPTON, OF SPARS, IS MARRIED IN PALM BEACH

The following is taken from a letter from Phyllis Beldowski, S 1-c, SPARS, who was the former Phyllis Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Hampton, of Cullowhee, N. C., and a former employee of the Main Office of Ecusta:

"... I got married August 11, 1944, and three weeks later left Palm Beach, Fla., for duty here at Norfolk, Va. I had leave en route but spent most of the time with 'Bugs', (that's my husband's nickname) although I was home for five days ... My work here is pretty of fun and while Norfolk is pretty well crowded, we live in a hotel taken over by the Coast Guard, and the set-up is quite nice. All in all, I'm pretty happy about just everything except that Bugs has now gone overseas and I certainly hated that ..."
