

Ecusta's Star Bond Salesman In Action

Frank Patton proved himself to be Ecusta's number one War Bond Salesman during the mighty 7th War Bond Drive by selling more War Bonds than any other Ecustan. Shown are pictures of Frank delivering bonds to several of his customers and they were big ones too. The picture at top left shows J. F. Fowler receiving his bonds; at right, A. J. Beddingfield; center left is Ollie Bry-

Mr. Patton is superintendent of Ecusta's Refining Room and not only did he sell many hundreds of dollars worth of bonds at Ecusta, but he also attended many of the County bond rallies and assisted in selling bonds there.
