Galloway-Mitchem Nuptials Announced

Mr. Perry Galloway, of Brevard, has announced the marriage of his daughter, Miss Florence Marie Galloway, to Robert E. Mitchem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Mitchem, of Brevard.

The wedding took place on August 15 in Greenville, S. C., at the home of Judge Guy Gullick, who performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate family and close friends.

Following a short honeymoon trip the couple returned to make their home in Brevard on Probart street.

Mr. Mitchem is an employee of Champagne's Gumming department.

Smart Dickeys For Practical Girls

Nothing shows smarter planning than to have a wardrobe of dickeys. Business girls, school girls—everyone knows the value of these fabric-savers to make, and time-savers to care for. Made of different fabrics and in different styles, they provide many costume changes for a limited number of suits or sweaters. Make them in pique or checked ginghams for business, in print or pastel crepe for afternoon, in satin or velvet for extra-special dress-up. (Direction leaflets for RUFFLED DICKEY, No. E 170, may be secured free of charge at the Library.)

NEITHER FISH NOR EGGS will be plentiful during the winter months. Both have had to do much filling in for pork and beef that the carry-over from the flush seasons is less than last year's. Fish will be particularly scarce because so much was eaten fresh that less could be frozen for later use and canned fish is in great demand by the military.

A BROADER-BREADED chicken which grows faster is now on the way. Specialists who are helping develop the wonder bird say the extra white meat will by no means cut down on the chicken's ability to produce eggs. In fact, the new hen may be able to lay more eggs than ever.

CHRISTMAS OVERSEAS.—Unless you know exactly where your soldier is and what it's like there, choose one of the foolproof gifts. Repeated surveys show, for instance, that almost any member of the armed forces is happy to get: snapshots of family and friends, small folding picture frames, billfolds, war bonds and stamps, automatic pencils and fountain pens, weather-proofed wrist watches, stationery, hometown newspapers, books, overseas editions of magazines, food delicacies properly packaged.

RICE NEWS.—A new rice which has a nutty flavor and fragrance similar to the varieties grown in India and Iraq has been developed for growth in the United States.

TIME SAVERS

NO TIPPING OVER—A small wooden box, enameled the color of my other containers, now holds the tall, narrow flavoring extract bottles that were always tipping over. It is convenient to have the flavorings always together and saves time when baking.

BAKING TIP—If the oven is not hot enough for the baking powder biscuits, place the pans containing them on the back of the stove. When the oven is ready, they will have risen considerably. Biscuits made this way are much better.

FRESHER SANDWICHES—Sandwiches will keep fresh twice as long if after wrapping them you seal the edges of the wax paper with a hot iron.

CLEAN COFFEE POT—It is not necessary to scour the inside of the aluminum coffee pot to remove stains. Boil a mixture of apple parings and core with some water in it a few minutes. The result will be a sweet and clean-smelling pot.

EASY BUTTONHOLES—Before making buttonholes in thin material, rub a little library paste on the wrong side of the material and allow to dry.

QUICK SETTING GELATINE—If pressed for time, dissolve one package of gelatine in one cup of hot water, then add one level cup of chopped ice and water. The setting of the gelatine will be greatly hastened.

NO DOOR SLAMMING—Loop two old rubber jar rings together and slip one over the door knob and the other over the knob on the other side.

WIFE-SAVERS

There are many simple methods which you can employ to save you steps in the kitchen and entire house. The time saved will give you more leisure to read the books you've laid aside and will save your energy for recreation.

One of the best ways to use small pieces of soap is to let them dry thoroughly and then put them through a food chopper. The result is a fine powder that can be used in either the dishpan or washer.

After the meals of the day are prepared, most housewives prefer to spend as little time as possible going through the routine of dishwashing. One way you can accelerate your dishwashing program is to soak pots and pans, which normally are the hardest and most distasteful to do, right after using, in warm soapy water. The immediate soaking prevents food particles from sticking and drying to the sides and bottoms of pans.

Would you like to know how you can prevent candles from dripping on your best linen? Chill the candles in the refrigerator for several hours before using and you won't be troubled with tallow stains.

The problem of safely picking up tiny pieces of broken glass can be easily solved by spreading a piece of wet flannel over the particles and patting the surface lightly. Destroy the cloth afterwards.

THAT ORTA HOLD HIM!

Waiters, of course, are not in a position to snap back at ill-bred guests but one English headwaiter once made the perfect retort to an uncouth customer:

"My position, sir," he said, "does not allow me to argue with you; but if it ever came to a choice of weapons, I would choose grammar."

MAYFLOWER PASSENGER

Has that dog got a good pedigree?

It's so good that if he could talk, he wouldn't speak to either of us.
