

"PETTICOAT FEVER" SCORES BIG HIT HERE AT ECUSTA

The three-act play, "PETTICOAT FEVER," which was presented in the cafeteria on January 25th. by the Entertainment committee of the Five-Year Service club, scored a big hit. Our staff photographer was there and on this page are pictures showing many of the interesting scenes. Exceptionally fine talent was displayed in the production of "PETTICOAT FEVER," which was under the direction of Bill Jordan, who also played one of the principal parts.

One of the high spots of the evening was the part played by Ernest Burch as Sir James. The two leading feminine roles were played by Sonya [unclear] and Ellen Sentelle. The supporting cast included Luke Harrison as the Parson, Leon English, Willie Prince, Hazel McKinney Reese, Lloyd Harris and Fred McCann.

This was the first time that we have had a full evening of dramatic entertainment at Ecusta and judging from the large crowd which attended, and the enthusiastic response on the part of the audience, the play was well received and it is hoped that there will be more in the not too distant future.
