

Improvements Are Being Made At Camp

To Have Canteen

There will be a camp canteen or sandwich bar at the camp this summer where sandwiches, coffee, cold drinks, crackers, candy, cakes, cigarettes, etc., will be available. The canteen will be located in the old dining hall at the end of the lake near the swimming area.

Picnic Facilities

Last year a considerable part of the camp was developed into picnic areas and several barbecue pits were built so that families might have a place where they could cook their meals. This proved so popular that the general picnic areas have been enlarged and improved and additional pits will be added. Present indications are that many Ecusta families will be using these picnic facilities again this summer.

Other Improvements

Adequate parking facilities will be provided at the camp and located as near as possible to the centers of activity. The lodge is to be painted and new furniture will be installed and more playground equipment will be added to the children's playground area.

Full Program Planned

There will be a full program of recreation during the season which will include all kinds of sports and social activities such as tennis, softball, shuffleboard, horseshoes, swimming, boating, family picnics, departmental picnics, bingo, movies, square dancing, band concerts, special family nights and many other entertainment features.

The full program of activities will be announced as soon as all arrangements have been completed.

Ecustans Urged To Prevent Fires

The majestic forest which surrounds Camp Sapphire is a thing of beauty, to be enjoyed by us all. But forest fires can destroy much of this beauty and make our camp a "Paradise Lost." Therefore, it is important that everyone helped prevent forest fires.

Here's how you can do it:

Matches. Be sure your match is out. Break it in two before you throw it away.

Smoking. Smoke only when and where permitted, and then only in a safe place clear of all inflammable material.

Tobacco. Be sure that pipes and cigar or cigarette butts are dead before throwing them away. Never throw them into brush, leaves, or needles.

Making camp where open camp fires are permitted. Before building a fire, scrape away all inflammable material from a spot five feet in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and build your camp fire. Keep the fire small. Never build it against trees or logs or near brush.

Breaking Camp. Never break camp until your fire is out—dead out. Always leave a clean camp.

How to put out a camp fire. Stir the embers while soaking them with water. Turn small sticks and drench both sides. Wet the ground around the fire. Be sure the last spark is dead.

Make your visit to Camp Sapphire a safe and enjoyable one, and leaving, know that its beauty will be there for you to enjoy upon your next visit.

It is your business to help keep the plant clean.

GOOLSBY CLEANING

By JOHN H. GOOLSBY

Well, another thirty days have been checked off the calendar. I wonder how many of us have checked back and have seen what we have done with the water that passed under the bridge never to return. One of the main events over this period of time was the bingo party at the cafeteria. Brother, they were really packed in there, and for two solid hours, we sat there, lacking one number, with nylons going fast. Believe me, that was a wonderful party.

I would like to say something about the Mill Office group—all of them. Those people are always ready to mend your ills, from a ton of coal, to recommending a good hospital; all questions answered, even though it takes time and lots of patience. You get all this with a smile.

A man is as old as he feels before breakfast, and a woman is as old as she looks before breakfast.

Ned Medford was telling me a story told by Van Owens in the Pulp Mill. I would like to repeat it: It seems there were two men that had been bosom pals from childhood, and as they grew up, their characters began to get a little shady. One day they faced each other in court. One, called "Butch", was tried for stealing a watch, and the other, "Weasel", was tried for stealing a cow, and they were sent to the same prison road camp. One day, while making little ones out of big ones, Weasel hollered down the line to the one with the sentence for stealing the watch, "Hey, what time is it?" Butch took his hat off, shaded his eyes, and squinted at the sun. Scratching his head a little, he said, "I don't rightfully know, but it 'pears to me it's mighty close to milking time."

Perhaps the cause of more automobile wrecks than train wrecks, is that the engineer doesn't try to neck the fireman.

A stranger appeared at the Combined Post office and general store, and inquired whether a registered letter addressed to him had been received. "Yup," said the postmaster, "such a letter is here, but can you prove your identity?"

The stranger scratched his head, and pulled from his pocket a snapshot. After carefully looking the picture over, the postmaster glanced at him once more and said, "By heck, that's you, all right—here's your letter."

Did you ever live where people spend money they haven't got, to buy things they don't need, to impress people they don't like? So long.

There was a young girl from Ecusta Who said "Housekeeping's more than I's usta." Then one day in her smoke She found dirt from the broke. Now she's a cleanliness booster.

Our paper is white; only you can keep it that way.
