Fine Paper Dept.

By EILEEN NELSON

Here it is June again, month of roses, romance and June brides, and "stuff like that there."

We have plenty of romance in Fine Paper. Margaret Ponder and Edna Fulton have their heads in the clouds and stars in their eyes.

Irene Staton couldn't wait until June, but became Mrs. James Adams in San Antonio, Texas, on May 20th.

Eileen Nelson spent her vacation visiting relatives in Columbia, Tenn.

Tulen Deaver and Edith Wright spent a week at Myrtle Beach and from all reports had a wonderful time.

Bill Erwin came back from his vacation with a nice sun tan. He says his front yard is better than any beach.

Camp Sapphire is a popular place these hot days. We'd like to express our thanks to Mr. Straus for making it possible for us to enjoy this beautiful place. If you haven't been up there, you're really missing a good time. There's something doing all the time.

Harold Erwin is simply worked to death these days. He's having a hard time trying to work and watch that Endless Belt window and keep the other boys away from there. You can tell he's overworked by how much weight he's lost.

Rachel H. is waiting anxiously for some news from California. She'll be saying "Howdy" one of these days.

We are all looking forward to the Fourth of July picnic. We'll be seeing you there.

Factory Office News

This is Station C.F.O. atop the Autobound Department. We are happy to announce that we are on a hookup with the Recreation Department and receive a number of recorded musical programs daily. These programs are very restful and bring a smile to the face. May they be a permanent feature!

Off to the races! Yes, Miriam and Maye attended the Speedway Races in Indianapolis and returned with many exciting stories. We appreciated the post cards you sent us.

Instead of a vegetable garden, it's a flower garden at Bill's. Don't disappoint us, we're expecting a bouquet for the office.

How about some Hershey bars, Walter? Don't you find them on the baseball field like you did at the bowling alleys?

After seeing some of Paul's photographic work, we wonder if he would be risking his camera to focus it on the Factory Office gang?

Vacations are in season and Irene spent hers pleasantly at Kenmore. How would you like to become a farmer's wife, eh, Irene?

What a nice place this would be if everyone was as happy as Fred. He's always whistling.

What kind of bank are you putting pennies into, Ethel? Are you getting richer?

Something interests Ray in the Want Ad section. Could it be a house?

So long, until July Fourth BANGS!

Well, folks, here we are again after a few months' absence.

We are glad to have Mary Sue Jennings back after a vacation at Myrtle Beach. My! We sure do envy that sun tan, Sue.

Louise Corn is also just back from a vacation and reports a nice time.

Gladys Teague and Louise King are vacationing at the present time, Gladys in Knoxville, Tenn., and in Asheville. Louise in Florida. We hope you have a nice time, girls, and will be looking forward to your coming back.

Stella Seay was off from work for several days to be with her daughter, who had measles. Glad you are back, Stella.

Inez West spent Father's Day with her parents in Franklin.

FISHERMEN, ATTENTION!

If you've ever been a trout fisherman and lately can't find a stream with trout, brother, try matching your four and a half ounce fly rod against a two pound bass or crappie. Any fisherman that has made this experiment discovers a sport replete with thrills, fun, and in many cases, considerably more fish.

The same tackle used for trout is perfectly suitable for bass. Generally, a wet fly is preferable for smallmouth stream bass while a dry fly works better with the large mouth bass of the lakes.

Like trout fishing, fly fishing for bass or crappies is much a matter of trial and error. Izaak Walton contends that fish will always bite if one can find the right lure and present it in the right way. Bass have their temperamental periods and on these days it may take a good deal of experiment to find the fly they will feed on. Once the recipe is found, however, the bass, unlike the trout, continues taking this specific fly until the light changes. In this characteristic the bass excels the trout, for the trout is continually changing its tastes.

When casting for bass, try to match the live fly the bass is taking and cast accurately. Bass are shy and smart and need to be han-

Pulp Mill News

By HELEN KIMZEY

"A" shift of the Pulp Mill enjoyed a chicken fry this past month. A good time was had by all. "Slim" Bullock went with them and from all reports, he had the best time of all.

M. L. Baynard has returned to work after having been out for two weeks with measles. We're glad to have him back.

Congratulations are due Maurice Paxton on his recent marriage to Miss Lucille Freeman. They are now living at their home on the Hendersonville highway.

The Pulp Mill softball team has been winning its part of the games in the first half of the softball league. We are behind this team for championship of the Softball League this year.

"C" shift welcomes Lee Roy Nelson who is back with them again. "Shorty" Davis has almost talked him to death.

H. Y. Walker and Frank Holden are about to make a trade. Walker is going to sell Frank one of those fine hogs to eat the peelings of all those potatoes Frank raised.

We have a champion fire builder in the Pulp Mill now, so anyone wanting to know how to build a quick fire just see Harold Orr.

We hear Clyde Galloway is going on a fishing trip this week end and we're getting ready to hear some "tall fishing tales."

Looks like everybody is picking on E. Baker these days. That's all right Elmer, you're a good sport.

dled with care. Best feeding places are along the shoreline in weeds, lily pads, where old trees or branches lie in the water, or most any place a gang hook plug would snag.

When the bass strikes, he hits with a smash, so set him quickly; he can toss your fly out in a flash. He is a fighter, strong and clever. He is full of tricks. He may dive to the lake bottom and whip the leader until it breaks, but when you net one, you'll know you've had a fight, and chances are good that you will become a fly rod bass fishing nut.

We extend a welcome to our newest member, Lamar Hamilton.

Mrs. Blake was absent for about a week because of the illness of her little granddaughter, Anne Souther. We are proud to say that she is well on the road to recovery. Also we are glad to say that her daddy, Harvey Souther, is expected home soon.

We are delighted to report Mrs. Moore, Ethel Stover's mother, much improved after an accident a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen attended the funeral of Mr. Kitchen's aunt at Macedonia church last Wednesday.

We extend our sincerest sympathy to Mildred in the death of her father. Also to Mr. Banther in the death of his brother.

Mrs. Kitchen, Hal, and family visited Sylva and vicinity recently.

We miss Mrs. English who has undergone a serious operation at the Transylvania Community hospital. We hope she will improve very rapidly and be back with us.

Bessie and Alfred are expecting to take their vacation the first week in July. Have a nice time and tell us all about it in the next issue.

Elaine is now living with her grandmother, Mrs. A. S. Bryson.

All who knew her were very glad to see Miss Doris Meyer, a former member of our gang now living in New York. We are glad to learn that her health is very much improved.

A. P. must be taking flying lessons since airplanes are his chief topic of conversation. We bid for a ride, A. P.

Birthdays for this month include Divola N., Joe Duckworth, Dewey Banther, and Mildred.

Well, here's hoping to see you and yours at the July 4th picnic.

Office Bits

Well, here it is June and it looks as if this is the month for brides after all! The former Miss Gladys Burnette was married June 9th to the Second Baptist church in Greenville, S. C., to William Woodruff of Alfred, N. Y., and Miss Evah Mae Reese was married on June 15th at the Mills River Presbyterian church to Olen Cairns. Congratulations, and a lot of good luck and happiness, girls!

As the mercury soars, our list of vacationers increases. Jean Maney, Mildred Carpenter, Ethel Jackson, Lloyd Tuck, F. S. Scruggs, Vera Allison, F. S. and Dave Marcker all report very nice vacations.

Wonder why Carmel McCrory is so fond of candy, especially a certain kind of candy!

We are very glad to see George Heyman and Elliott Bickett back at work after being on the sick list for a long time.

The entire office force was deeply grieved by the death of our friend and co-worker, Joe Morris. Our sincere sympathy is with his family. Burial was on June 10th at Jacksonville, Fla.

This month we have two new employees in the Main Office—Mrs. Vivian S. Summey, who is in the Library, and our new office boy, Herman Sieber.

Well, I guess that's all the news for this month, folks, so until next time.
