

Ecusta Bowlers To Roll Champs Tuesday

THREE WINS WILL PLACE LOCALS IN TIE FOR FIRST

In Past Eight Weeks Our Team Has Won 17 Games And Lost 7

The Ecusta bowling team in the WNC Ten Pin league is now in second place and is all set to meet Enka—the league leaders — next Tuesday night on the Centennial alleys in Brevard and the public is cordially invited to witness the match.

After eight weeks of competition the Ecusta team has won 17 games and lost 7. In this week's matches, our boys took two games away from Champion "Y" by bowling a 2723 set. Clyde Galloway of the Pulp Mill led our bowlers with a hot 562, closely followed by Joe Lavell of the Finishing department with a 555.

Machine Room News

By JOHN GOOLSBY

As all of you will remember, last month I told you that I would have announcements of some "blessed events" for you from the Machine Room. Well, believe me, in this issue we lead the league.

I am first! A sweet little bundle of sunshine, a six lb. girl, God Bless her, making me grandpappy twice.

Next is Earl Frady with a bouncing baby boy, named Lewis Everett.

And next comes Robert Davis with another boy, Robert Stephens. This young man weighed eight pounds at birth.

Congratulations to Floyd Goodson whose little son, Rex Floyd, was born on October 1st.

And next L. E. Callendar has a sweet little girl by the name of Sandra Faye Callendar.

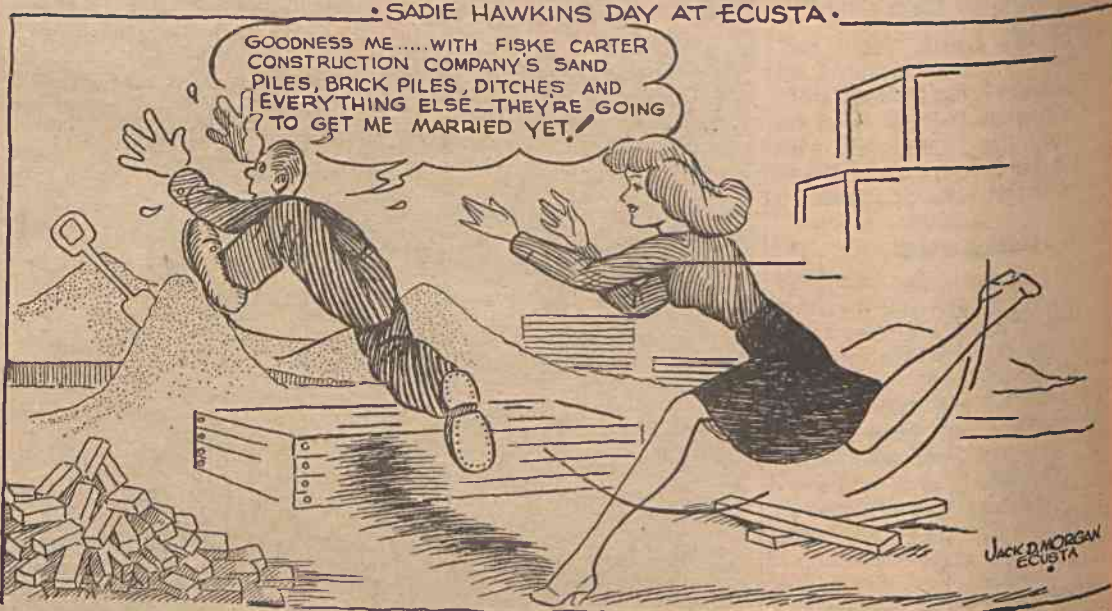

And next is Spencer Macfie with a bouncing baby boy by name of Spencer Morgan Macfie, III.

It looks pretty much as if we are taking over the Stork Column but, folks, I told you so and here is all of them and more will follow.

Now next is this—Coy Fisher's last report is that he is improving right along and we hope and pray to see him with us soon.

John Collins who recently underwent an operation was pretty sick for awhile but is now on the road to recovery, and, John, do we miss you!

While Nathan McMinn, Tom Stroup and Earl Frady were on their vacations (fellows, as all

Taking their cue from Dogpatch, a large number of Ecusta's single girls are serving notice on eligible bachelors to watch out on November 9th, for the day will be Sadie Hawkins' day at Ecusta, and they will be out to catch their man. Boys, you'd better get in touch with Li'l Abner and find out his secret for successful bachelorhood.

The United Nations

ITS ORGANIZATIONS AND FUNCTIONS

"To practice tolerance and to live together in peace . . . to unite our strength to maintain international peace and security . . . to ensure that armed force shall not be used, save in the common interest . . . and to employ international machinery for the promotion of the advancement of all peoples . . ."

These are the aims of the United Nations as set forth in the preamble to the charter and these are the ends for which the United Nations will be working as the General Assembly convenes again in New York.

As citizens of one of the member nations of the UN, it is important for us to know how this organization works and what it is trying to do. Our future can very well depend on the success of the United Nations.

The policy-making body of the UN is the General Assembly, composed of all the 51 member countries. It is this group which controls the purse strings and acts as the supervisory body in working out problems of world co-operation, as well.

Each country belonging to the United Nations is entitled to 5 of you will vouch), we were in the dark. We often thought about giving those boys a buzz to get us out of the hay. Glad you appreciated your vacations, boys, and we are glad to have you back.

Our Skipper, James Talmadge, has just returned from a visit to his family in Saugerties, N. Y., and it was my pleasure to go with him (Well, somebody had to carry his suitcases) and believe me, fellows, New York is a swell place. Yes, that is true—14 of his children are at home—the swell-est kids and "Mom" you ever met, and so are all of his friends. It looked like an "old timey" Virginia reunions to me!

Well, folks, the truth is that I lost my notes this month and all that you got was from memory (So help me) but please, please bear with me and I promise next time to be "on the ball."

representatives on the General Assembly. These representatives are selected by their own country in a manner determined by each country.

The assembly meets each year at the beginning of September. This year, however, its opening was postponed due to the Paris peace conference which many of its members have been attending.

President of the General Assembly is Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium. He was chosen to head the assembly when the first part of this current session met in London last January, and he will continue in office when it meets in October.

At each session, six main committees are set up by the assembly to consider items referred to them and to prepare recommendations and resolutions to submit to the Assembly. These committees are: Political and Security; Economic and Financial; Social, Humanitarian and Cultural; Trusteeship; Administrative and Budgetary; and Legal.

Each member nation is entitled to one representative on these committees.

Those nations which are full members of the United Nations now number 51, but applications for membership have been received from several other countries. The original 51 members are:

Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Byelorussian Soviet Socialist Republic, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, India, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Liberia, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Philippine Commonwealth, Poland, Saudi Arabia, Svia, Turkev, Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic, Union of South Africa, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United Kingdom, United States of America, Uruguay, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Just Little Hunks Of Real Stuff!!

When a man begins to think that the grass will not grow at night unless he lies awake to watch it, he generally ends in an asylum or on the throne of an emperor.

Speaking of superstitions, have you girls tried this? Put three raw beans in your mouth, go out of doors, stand in front of someone's window and listen. The first man's name you hear spoken will be that of your future husband.

The oldest living animals on earth are the giant tortoises of the Galapagos Islands. Some of them are more than four feet long, weigh almost 400 pounds and are believed to be from 300 to 400 years old.

The Premier diamond mine, discovered in 1903 and 20 miles north east of Pretoria, Transvaal, South Africa, is one of the largest man-made holes in the world. It is 2000 feet by 1400 feet across and over 700 feet deep.

Society is composed of two great classes—those who have more money than appetite and those who have more appetite than dinners—Chamfort.

Recently exhibited at a trade show was a pair of spectacles for chickens! These are tiny mounted lenses which can be mounted on chickens' beaks. The fowls then see red all the time and are not incited to destructive picking at the sight of blood on another chicken.

The middle-aged man may be described as one who is neither preparing for life at college nor death in California.

SHE SNARED HIM

Two girls who hadn't seen each other for years unexpectedly met one day.

"Do you remember the red-headed boy we used to meet at the tennis club?" asked one.

"Do I!" replied the other. "Why he told me that if I didn't marry him he'd go and do something dreadful. I wonder what became of him?"

"He happens to be my husband," snapped the first girl.
