

Minute Interviews

The first week in October was observed as National Newspaper Week. In connection with this, the Minute Interview question for October is "What section or page of the daily newspaper do you read first?"

JEAN HALL, FINISHING

"After briefly scanning the headlines, I turn to the sports page. Not that I'm such a fan for the major teams, but I love sports and I'm always anxious to see how the local teams make out. Then, by checking the scores of the major teams, I can sorta figure how my friends are making out on their little friendly bets. I think a good football write-up is even more interesting than 'Lil Abner'."

ALEX DURIS,
MAIN OFFICE

"My favorite section and the one I read first, is the editorial section. It is here that one can "feel" the pulse which forms public opinion, and subsequently, national, state and local policies. Next, I read general news, followed by special features, book reviews, sports pages, and last, the comics."

FRED WHITMIRE,
FIBRE WAREHOUSE

"I read the front page first because it contains all the headline news, and I buy the paper for news and not sports or comics. After the front page, I then go through the paper, picking out stories of unusual happenings, for at times these prove to be very interesting."

FLORENCE GILLESPIE,
CHAMPAGNE

"Usually, when I pick up the daily paper, I scan the headlines and front pages. From there, I go to the comics, especially Lil Abner. Finally, I end up with the advertisements—and oh, yes, by all means the crossword puzzle, if it happens to be an easy one."

CATHERINE DILLS,
ENDLESS BELT

"There are two sections holding top honors as my favorites—the editorial page and the comic page. I like to read other people's opinions about world and community conditions and what they think should be done. Then, top it off with the lighter side of life—the comics!"

We are glad Lillie Nicholson has recovered from her cold and is able to be back at work again. Lillie has as visitors for the winter her daughter, Mrs. Edd Fish and two sons, Johnny and Raymond, of Narragansett, R. I.

Mr. Fisher has another granddaughter. She was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jess R. Owens Sunday morning, October 12 at their home at Quebec.

Mr. Vannah recently made a trip to Boston, Mass., where he attended the graduation of his oldest son, William, from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. William received a Master of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering.

Carolyn spent the second week of her vacation at home. During that week she had a new electric stove installed. She just didn't like to carry in wood and coal.

Margaret McCormick attended the wedding of her brother, Jack Stepe, of Hendersonville and Homestead, Fla., on September 11. Jack was married to Evangaline Goode in the First Church of the Nazarene at Homestead. After the wedding Margaret remained in Florida for a week and talk about "fish tales"—but it is true she caught a twenty pound fish. Some "minnow", Margaret.

Oscar Summey, who has been working with us for several months, is having a new house built. Hurry up, Oscar, we are looking forward to putting our feet under your table for the first meal in your new home.

Canteen-Cafeteria Chatter

By ANNE KITCHEN

Time just rolls off too quickly and catches the cafeteria reporter without anything much to write, but let's start with what we have:

There's a good reason why Perkins goes to every football game of Brevard High's—his son is one of the star players.

Thinking of football games, we are glad Joe Duckworth enjoyed the Duke-Tennessee game at Knoxville.

Ray Blankenship enjoyed a vacation after a hard night he spent serving at the pulp and paper meeting at the City Auditorium in Asheville.

The happiest person in the cafeteria this month is Ethel Stover. (See the women's section for details.)

We are sorry Bessie Cheek is sick at the time of this writing. We hope she soon gets well.

We welcome Dewey Banther back to work after an extended illness.

Joe Corbett is taking his vacation this week. Suppose he will get all of his Fall work done.

Well, we'd better close the door now, Divola will be catching a cold!

By THELMA GLAZENER

October brings an announcement and a wedding to the Chem Lab. Edith Ridenhour is engaged to Edwin Fearer of Loraine, Ohio. She spent her five days off, beginning October 10th., in Charlotte making plans for the wedding. Best wishes, Edith.

Wedding bells rang for Eva Sentelle and Bly Rogers October 18th., at high noon at the Pisgah Forest Baptist church. Eva and Bly will make their home at Pisgah Forest. Here's our best wishes for lots of happiness.

Franklin Kerber went to Waynesboro, Virginia on September 18th. Afterwards came the melancholy mood. Seems he carried his girl back to school.

Anna Holliday started her vacation October 5th. She reports that she spent most of her time working on her new house. She spent a day in Greenville shopping.

Ricie Robinson went to Snow Hill October 4th. to visit her sister.

Pearl Mull has a new nephew. Born while Pearl was working graveyard. She says, "The stork can't do this to me."

Raymond Nicholson left September 19 for Rhode Island, Vermont, and Canada. He spent some time at Cannon Mountain, Franconis, N. H.; went fishing at Narragansett, R. I. and spent a day sightseeing in Sherbrook, Canada.

Mary Shyle is now the proud owner of a new Singer sewing machine. Happy sewing, Mary!

Edith Stiles, our member of the square dance team, tells of the team's good time had when it danced in Charlotte, October 4th.

Lucy Clarke's mother has been seriously ill but is now home from the hospital and getting along very well. Here's a hundred per cent vote for a speedy recovery, Mrs. Clarke.

"Across The Tracks"

By

BETTY FINCK

How fortunate we are to have the opportunity to live so close to "God's Garden" as it yields to our vision the glorious colors of autumn.

With autumn go the cheers and excitement of football games near and far. Dot Singletary traveled to see the Georgia-Carolina game. By the way, she happened to run into "David". Quite a coincidence.

We all welcome Bettie Traynham, our new office co-worker, "across the tracks". Since her arrival, if you were to speak the name "Betty" in the Technical Department Office, you'd have Bettys Traynham, Brown and Finck stir to attention simultaneously. Quite confusing.

The Technical department was busy the week end of October 11 attending the interesting lectures and enjoyable entertainment provided by the TAPPI meeting in Asheville.

Bob Peckham and his family have moved into their new home on White Oak road, Biltmore Forest.

Caroline better be ready for Julia Morgan when she'll make her appearance this week end in anticipation of an exciting stay.

John Goldberger had an enjoyable time while vacationing in New York.

Everyone had a wonderful time at the Technical department picnic where they ate to their "heart's content" and enjoyed an entrancing game of bingo.

We all welcome Howard Merrill who has taken the place of Bruce Pettit.

Mr. Schur had a pleasant time on his vacation in Boston, Mass.

C. Lyon Dickson recovered nicely from his recent operation and is back at work now.

C. D. Norlander and family have moved into their new home on Boylston road.

Here's hoping for a sunny November; 'til then, KEEP SMILING.

Since the baseball season is over we would like to say that we are proud of all the ball players in our department, and especially proud of three who won recognition for their outstanding playing. Our team won the championship trophy. Ray Byrd won the trophy for being best sport, Rusty Carland won the batting trophy, and Marshall Gillespie won the second place trophy for his batting average. Congratulations, boys!

Claude Glazener and Raleigh Waldrop are glad the World Series is over. Their boys listened to every game and that night reenacted them, down to the Bronx cheers and arguments. They were afraid to go near the re-winders for fear of being hit by a foul ball or being mistaken for an umpire.

Charlie Cox, his small son, Terry, and daughter, Cindy, are recovering from injuries received in an auto wreck. At this writing
