OFF TO COLLEGE

Alfred Neumann, one of many off to college.

After a few, fleeting weeks at home "with the folks", it was back to college this month for many sons and daughters of Ecustans. In an informal survey, it was found that the collegians will take up studies in almost a score of institutions located in several states and the variety of studies will range from nursing and medicine to journalism, music and law.

Almost half of the number will be getting the feel of college life for the first time, while the remainder of the group will return to studies they left last June.

Betty Jean Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Allen (Storeroom) entered Limestone College at Gaffney, S. C. Since she graduated from Hendersonville High last spring, this will be her first year at college.

Alfred Neumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Neumann (Champagne) goes to Davidson for his second year, majoring in music. Alfred is a talented pianist and was able to further his music education at Transylvania Music Camp this summer.

Nancy Loftis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goode Loftis (Fine Paper) resumes her law studies at Wake Forest, where she will be a second year student. Nancy attended summer school and hopes to pick up a year by attending the summer sessions. She is a former member of the Ecusta band.

James Newbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Newbury (Safety Department) enters the University of South Carolina for his junior term. Jim is vitally interested in journalism and is majoring in that field at Columbia.

James Holden, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Holden, Sr., (Champagne) is entering Brevard College where he is expected to strengthen the football team. James graduated from Brevard High and was a star athlete there.

Margaret Ann DeBord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace DeBord (Maintenance) is another enrollee at Brevard College. Margaret Anne is also a Brevard High graduate and is an active member of the Ecusta band.
