

TECHNICAL SECTION

By Jack A. Smathers

Congratulations to Wendell Austin on becoming a native of Brevard. I see he no longer comes to a full stop before proceeding across abandoned railroad sidings—a mark of a true Brevardian.

Anyone interested in hunting deer without the discomfort and expenditure of time, see Jim Winget. He can stalk, shoot, kill, dress and prepare one for eating in 14 minutes—verbally of course.

Billie Blankenship says she "Ain't done nothing important" except break up with her boy friend from Chapel Hill. Reason: "We can't see eye to eye". Note to local interested bachelors: Now is the time for all good men!

Onions to Paul Schlunz for not bringing any bass back from Chatuge on a recent trip. Reason: No comment.

Carroll Bahnsen, in response to what he has done important, has no answer.

Joan McClure in response to same question: "Professionally, no, socially yes."

Alyea, Mills, Mertes and Jones declare that in Clinton they never turned on their furnace until the last of November and vow to do the same down here—silly boys.

Wanted: Someone fleet enough of foot to beat the Chemical Assistance boys to lunch. So far they have managed to be "fustest with the mostest."

A complete report on atomic submarines will be given by Paul Frisk to anyone who successfully passes his loyalty check.

Reports have arrived to show that Cleaves Johnson has almost exhausted his allotted span of batchlorhood—and he "was" such a nice fellow.

George Yehling and Al Kriek are now taking orders for custom built post holes. Anyone interested should apply immediately.

Bruiser Brown and Don Hill are planning to take tennis lessons from Ralph Heller—they can learn a thing or three too, maybe no more broken ankles for Don.

Orchids to E. L. Lynn on his new title of Quality Control Manager.

I noticed Jack McCall eating lunch one week every day with the five Tech. Section females. I wonder which one he was interested in. Three of them are married! Two to go.

Never before in all our experience has it been possible to pick up $10 worth of groceries by the string.

"A" SHIFT COATING

We believe someone should tell "Lonnie" Jones that he doesn't need a rifle when hunting "grapes" and that grapes seldom grow in those hickory coves.

Melvin Atkinson needs a stop rope on the 6th floor. Sometimes Melvin finds himself on top of the building trying to drop a rope.

Everyone is talking deer hunting these days, but the only one we know of doing any "deer" hunting is Louis McCrary, he seems to be having good luck in Hendersonville.

The boys on "A" Shift fire crew say these fire drills sure are rough. The chief was careful to tell all of them not to forget to come in an hour early on Friday for a drill. No one forgot. Everyone was there but the chief, he forgot—what happened, "Ace"?

Tom Hubbard says he wouldn't advise anyone to set the alarm clock to play a prank on your wife when on graveyard. Tom says it's cold standing outside in the morning.

"B" SHIFT COATING

By D. S. Winchester

Here it is again, time for Echo news and I know nothing to write about.

The best one I have heard about in some time happened to "Bud" Pettit a couple of weeks ago. Henry Bell had been after Bud to go bass fishing with him so they made plans to go one of the mornings we were off on one of our long week-ends. Bud had his wife get up and have his breakfast at 5:00 A. M. They were to leave at 5:30 A. M. Henry never came around. Bud waited until 7:00 and started looking for Henry. All the time Henry was over at Asheville working on his car as it had broken down.

The fellows on this shift can fix up the most back saving devices I have ever heard about. Here is a little about one that works. Joe Norman tied his wheelbarrow in front of his car and has been hauling dirt from hill back of his house to fill in a porch he intends to cement. He laughs and says if anyone has any excavating to be done get in touch with him.

The Football Season is now in full swing. Troy Bryan is having a heck of a time getting fellows lined up to trade shifts with him so he can take in some good games. He has tickets for the Geor-
