"C" SHIFT FINISHING

By Robert Taylor

We are glad to have Ralph Brown back after being out sick. Also glad to have Buddy Burton back after being out to have his tonsils removed.

We want to welcome Harold Arrington to our shift as service operator. He comes to us from Sheeting.

Our sympathy is extended to Richard Tinsley, who recently lost his mother.

Edgar Hollifield decided that he wasn't seeing everything that was going on so he got himself some glasses. You fellows be careful around Edgar because he can see very well now.

"A" SHIFT CASTING

By Robert Miller

I am going to try to make a better effort this month than I did in March since I had nothing to say last month.

You can always tell when spring rolls around. The two fair haired boys start getting their fishing equipment limbered up and their flashlights out and start catching bugs of all kinds and colors. Those boys are great fishermen. I guess you wonder who I am talking about, none other than James Shook and Tom Cooper.

Maybe this early gardening will get your arms in shape for ball playing because it won't be long until we can feel the bat give as we hit the ball for a home run, ha.

We forgot to report about Jim Fisher's vacation which he spent in Georgia coon hunting. We all know that Jim hated to see coon hunting season over. He is a great fan of the sport, but Jim there is always next season.

Henry Heatherly has graduated from a push plow to the roto-tiller. Was this the result of old age or in hopes that his wife would do the gardening?

If any one wants any attention from Henry McCormick or Spurgeon Ashe they will either have to cluck or cackle. They have both gone into the chicken business in a big way. Easter will be along soon, let's hope they have enough eggs for an egg hunt.

Even with all the car trading going on Bob Eason is still the mayor with his Mercury. No wonder you have to wear sun glasses when you look at it because he spends most of his time polishing it.

Seems like our quiet boys this month are J. B. McCall, John Ashe, and Joe Younghusband. They haven't done anything newsworthy this month.
