Freshmen-Sophomore Class Officers Elected

DR. COLLINGS NEW MEMBER OF A-B STAFF

Dr. Wilbur Collings has been selected for the offices of business manager, treasurer, and professor of accounting at Asheville-Biltmore College.

Dr. Collings has had a great deal of teaching experience in the field of accountancy at Grove City College in Grove City Pennsylvania. He has also been a lecturer in European accounting theory at Northwestern University.

Dr. Collings was educated at the Ecole Pigier in Paris, France, and received his Ph.D. in commerce at the University of Lausanne in Switzerland. He did two years of post-doctoral work at the University of Geneva in Switzerland and the University of Bonn in Germany.

Formally a resident of South Dakota, Dr. Collings has been living in Asheville for almost a year. The student body extends its best wishes and compliments, and hopes that his stay will be a pleasant one.

STUDENTS HEAR BALLAD PROGRAM BY MOSER

Asheville-Biltmore social science instructor Artus M. Moser presented a program of folk songs and ballads during the October 18 Seely Hall assembly period. Mr. Moser, who has collected over 350 ballads for Washington's famed Library of Congress, sang several traditional tunes from his own collection.

Freshman and sophomore class officers were elected in the student assembly of October 6.

The results of the freshman election were as follows: president—Joel Holt; vice president—Jimmy Gibbs; secretary—Jo Price; treasurer—John Laughter. The Student Council representatives are Mike Pinney, Joe Wright, George McCracken, and Anne Burnette.

The president of the sophomore class is Lynn Jervis; vice president—Gerald Thompson; secretary and treasurer—Virginia Speirakis. The Student Council representatives are Dot Meadows, Eugene Waldrop and Carl Greene.

RADIO CLASS MEETS AT WLOS

The radio class of Asheville-Biltmore is very fortunate to have a completely revised department.

Mr. Fred Brown, well known local announcer and sportcaster, is conducting the class. The studios and facilities of radio station WLOS are used, giving the students practical training under actual broadcasting conditions.

Mr. Brown attended the University of North Carolina and Northwestern University. At one time he was associated with radio station WNCA of Asheville.

Forthcoming "on the air" broadcasts are now in production and will be announced soon.
