

EDITORIAL PAGE

CAMPUS CRIER

AMERICA'S SMALLEST COLLEGE BI-WEEKLY

Member of Inter-Collegiate Press

Published bi-weekly by students of Asheville-Biltmore College, Asheville, North Carolina.

Editorials and features in the Campus Crier reflect the opinions of the writers and do not claim to represent student or college opinion.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....Quentin Enloe
Managing Editor.....Irving Allen
Feature Editor.....Eugene Waldrop
Business Manager.....James Self

Sports Editor, Paul Clay; Circulation Manager, David Belcher; Activities Editor, Ruby Jean Herring; Chief Reporter, Bill Bryant; Reporters, Joe Bunn, Gail Fisher, Janet Hodges.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Success is not measured by the heights one attains, but by the obstacles one overcomes in its attainment.

EDITORIAL

It is surprising how some seemingly insignificant happening can change the course of a man's existence. A line read somewhere, a glimpse of a picture, a word spoken, and his whole philosophy is transformed. For instance, there was a young fellow wandering aimlessly through life who came across these words:

"A man is himself plus the books he reads." And it happened that after the young man read those words, he did not wander along aimlessly any more.

And yet, comparatively speaking, the college library is perhaps the emptiest building on Sunset Mountain.
