

EDITORIAL PAGE

CAMPUS CRIER

AMERICA'S SMALLEST COLLEGE BI-WEEKLY

Member of Inter-Collegiate Press

Published bi-weekly by students of Asheville-Biltmore College, Asheville, North Carolina.

Editorials and features in the Campus Crier reflect the opinions of the writers and do not claim to represent student or college opinion.

EDITORIAL STAFF

| | |
|-----------------------|----------------|
| Editor-in-Chief..... | Quentin Enloe |
| Managing Editor..... | Irving Allen |
| Feature Editor..... | Eugene Waldrop |
| Business Manager..... | James Self |

Sports Editor, Paul Clay; Circulation Manager, David Belcher; Activities Editor, Ruby Jean Herring; Chief Reporter, Bill Bryant; Reporters, Joe Bunn, Gail Fisher, Janet Hodges.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"Rest is not idleness, and to lie sometimes on the grass under the trees on a summer's day listening to the murmur of the water, or watching the clouds float across the sky, is by no means a waste of time."

EDITORIAL

Good school spirit is probably the most essential item required of an outstanding student. Here, as elsewhere, you can count no more than a quartet of spirit-building students who will always take time out to make your life and mine a bit brighter. This quartet of students are those who have succeeded in finding that kind words do not cost much, never blister the tongue or lips, and will pay back a huge dividend of happiness in later life.

Look around the campus. It's easy to spot these four or five good-will producers who have found that success is sold in the open market. You can buy it—any student at Asheville-Biltmore can buy it who is willing to pay the price.
