

Mrs. Cartwright Combines Roles

The man who observed you can't be two places at once must have had Asheville's Mrs. Helen Cartwright in mind.

Only, with Mrs. Cartwright, it nearly became a question of three places.

Mrs. Cartwright is both mother and school teacher, either job a fulltime occupation.

When the needs of teacher recertification faced her, it appeared she would have to budget considerable travel time to reach the nearest college offering graduate study.

Then the University of North Carolina at Greensboro announced establishment of a Graduate Center at Asheville-Biltmore.

The first offering at A-B was Constitutional Law, taught by Dr. Ivans Parkins, professor of government, and Mrs. Cartwright admits "It seemed a formidable challenge to take such a high-sounding course."

Looking back after completing it, however, she noted additional benefits to the mere three-hours credit and convenience of location.

"It was very enriching for me," she said. "I knew nothing about Constitutional Law. Now I can appreciate the news on Supreme Court decisions regarding sit-ins, reapportionment and prayer."

The catalog description of Constitutional Law notes that the course encompasses "The structure and powers of the American Constitutional system as defined in decisions of the Supreme Court, with particular attention to that Court's diverse (legal and political) functions. CONTINUED ON PAGE 7

GINGER KING

Ginger King Is Appointed RR Editor

John Phaup, a senior literature major, has resigned his post as Editor of the Ridgerunner.

Ginger King has been appointed by Dr. Roy A. Riggs, staff advisor, to succeed Phaup as Editor.

Miss King, a graduate of Canton High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. King of 28 Westwood Place, West Asheville. She is a freshman Government major.

NEWS OF THE DEATH in Viet Nam this week of Dr. Bernard Fall saddened the Asheville-Biltmore College. Shown here as he arrived in Asheville last May to address A-B's Foreign Affairs Forum (Greeting him was A-B's William P. Cochran, left), Dr. Fall proved a persuasive critic of the U. S. policy in Viet Nam. He was reportedly killed when he stepped on a Viet Cong booby trap.

Fall's Death Shocks A-B

A Frenchman born in 1926, Dr. Bernard B. Fall served in the French underground from 1942 until the liberation of France, thus gaining first-hand experience in guerrilla warfare. From 1944 until 1946 he served in the infantry and pack artillery of the 4th Moroccan Mountain Division. He was decorated for his activities in the French underground. He then worked at the Nurnberg War Crimes Tribunal as a research - analyst and in 1950 served with the International Tracing Service of the United Nations as a search officer.

He came to the United States for the first time in 1951 as a Fulbright Scholar and in 1952 earned a Master of Arts degree in Political Science at Syracuse University.

In 1953 he went to war-torn Indochina at his own expense to do field research for his doctoral thesis. As a French citizen, he was allowed to accompany French Union forces in combat operation in nearly all sectors, thus seeing action at first hand. He returned to the United States in 1954 and received his doctorate

Dr. Fall visited Indochina again in 1957, and in 1959 was awarded a SEATO Fellowship for field study of Communist infiltration in Southeast Asia, in the course of which he witnessed at first hand the outbreak of Communist hostilities in Laos. He also spent 1961-1962 in Indochina on a Rockefeller Foundation grant, and succeeded in visiting Communist North Viet-Nam. In 1963 he carried out field research in Algeria, and spent the summer of 1965 with American and Vietnamese forces in South Viet-Nam.

A professor of international relations at Howard University since 1957, Dr. Fall was the author of five books (notably STREET WITHOUT JOY and THE TWO VIET-NAMS) and of numerous studies and articles in several languages; and made his home with his American-born wife and children in Washington, D. C. (See editorial, page 2).

Mng. Ed. Sought

There is now an opening for Managing Editor on the Ridgerunner staff.

Several other openings are still available on the staff. These openings include typists, copy readers, reporters, and ad salesmen.

make application to Ginger King, Editor, or to Tom Harbin, SGA Publications Commissioner.

FICTION

The Secret of Santa Vittoria, Crichton (1 last week)
Capable of Honor, Drury (2)
The Birds Fall Down, West (3)
The Mask of Apollo, Renault (4)
Valley of the Dolls, Susann (5)
All in the Family, O'Connor (6)
Tai-Pan, Clavell (9)
The Fixer, Malamud (7)
The Captain, De Hartog (8)
A Dream of Kings, Petrakis

NONFICTION

Everything But Money, Levenson
Paper Lion, Plimpton (3)
Madame Sarah, Skinner (4)
The Jury Returns, Nizer (1)
Rush to Judgment, Lane (6)
Games People Play, Berne (5)
Random House Dictionary of the English Language (8)
The Boston Strangler, Frank (7)
Winston S. Churchill, Churchill
How to Avoid Probate, Dacey

ASHEVILLE BOOKSTORE

67 Haywood Street

Steven Vance Men's Shop

FEATURING THE BEST IN CLOTHING FOR ALL COLLEGE STUDENTS

In Winners

34 Haywood St.

Asheville Ballet Slates Program Here March 11

A dance concert will be presented in the student center auditorium at Asheville-Biltmore College at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, March 11, by the Asheville Ballet Company.

The program will be co-sponsored by the Cultural Events Committee.

Composed of 21 active members, the Company has sent representatives to the Governor's School for Gifted Children and the North Carolina School of Performing Arts at Winston-Salem. Associate members have gone on to join college and professional dance groups and to become teachers and directors of other regional companies.

During December the Asheville Ballet Company presented the Holiday Ballet at Thomas Wolfe Playhouse.

Both modern and classical forms will be included in the March program.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and $.75 for school children. Tickets will be available from members of the Cultural Programs Committee and from the office of the Ballet Guild, 90 1/2 Patton Avenue.

Asheville - Biltmore student activity cards and Ballet Guild memberships will be honored.

The Asheville-Ballet Company is a Charter Member of the Association of American Dance Companies and a member organization of the Civic Arts Council. A non-profit regional organization, it is maintained by the Asheville Ballet Guild, Inc.

The company was organized for the dual purpose of promoting sound training for talented and dedicated young people and to offer the community programs of high artistic caliber.

The Company has given performances in Asheville and vicinity for a number of years, presenting benefits for such causes as the Orthopedic Home, Brentwood Manor, Civic Arts Center, Oteen, Santa Pals and many others.

Last year the Company had the singular honor of being the first ballet group to be invited to appear at the Youth Jamboree.

Famous dancers and dance groups, under the sponsorship of the Ballet Guild, have performed at Master Classes in Asheville. Last season the Guild collaborated with Asheville-Biltmore College to bring the modern dance group from UNC - Greensboro. Under the direction of Miss Virginia Moomaw, the Greensboro group presented a concert at the A-B auditorium.

Mrs. Alice Weaver, artistic director of the Company, majored in education at the University of Virginia and received her training in dance in Chicago and New York under leading classical and modern dancers.

Mrs. Weaver, who founded the Asheville Ballet Guild in 1958, danced professionally for a number of years in opera and concert and has served on the faculty of the Board of Examiners of ballet for the Carolina Chapter of Dance Masters of America. She has taught ballet exclusively in Asheville for the past twenty years.

Medd, Reighard Take RR Posts

Charlie Medd, senior history major, will take over the post of Business Manager of the Ridgerunner, March 1.

Miss Lynda Reighard, senior psychology major, will also join the staff as an ad salesman.

Tim Medlin, who served as Acting Business Manager of the RR for four months has left the staff.

A freshman from Charlotte, Medlin is a 1966 graduate of Myers Park High School.

Medd and Miss Reighard jointly planned the 1967 Homecoming festivities. Miss Reighard was elected Homecoming Queen.

CONTINENTAL HAIR FASHIONS

213 Merrimon Ave.
Asheville, N. C.
Phone 253-1520

from the MEN at the MAN Store

GANT SHIRTMAKERS

OXFORD BUTTON-DOWN

Very special our Gant oxford button-down—its flair, its fit, the superb quality of the cotton oxford fabric, the casual roll of the collar. All these attributes are exclusively Gant — all reasons why we carry this distinctive brand. Come in and see our new color selection.

The Racquet Shop at

The MAN Store
22 Patton Ave

TOWN HOUSE BAKERY

OPEN 24 HRS. A DAY

Lib's CARDS-N'-CARDS

We have the best Selection of Greeting Cards
18 Haywood Street

Asheville Federal Savings AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

Generous Dividends Paid on Insured Savings