Homecoming plans are announced

Student Government Association Social Commissioner Sam Ferguson announced this week the slate of activities and events that will comprise the 1972-73 UNC-A Homecoming Weekend. There is a wide variety of events spread over the three day weekend that begins on Friday. One of the highlights of the weekend will be the crowning of the 1972-73 Homecoming Queen. Students cast their votes this week in the election sponsored by the SGA and the Social Commission. The new Homecoming Queen will be crowned at half time of the UNC-A — Lander basketball game in the UNC-A gym. She will be crowned by Vivian Case, the present Homecoming Queen.

Homecoming weekend will begin on Friday at 2:30 on the

Break-ins frequent UNC-A

One break-in and an attempted break-in in recent weeks have moved campus officials to take strong security measures on campus to prevent future thefts and attempted thefts. Dave Anders, manager of the campus radio station WUNF reported to THE RIDGERUNNER that the station was entered sometime between Christmas Day and New Years. Joyce Williams, manager of the Campus Bookstore, reported last week that a break-in was attempted at the store.

When asked about the possibility of someone having entered the Campus Store, she commented that it appeared that an attempt to enter the store was made but appeared to have been unsuccessful. A window near the rear door of the store was broken but it is believed that no one actually entered the store. She said that a theft could not have been determined unless a full inventory of the store was conducted and that such an inventory was not now planned.

Mrs. Williams pointed out that inventory for the campus store is conducted once a year. Vice-Chancellor for Finance William Pott was contacted by THE RIDGERUNNER and stated that an inventory would not be conducted until late June or early soccer field located behind the dormitory village. A variety of events has been designed by Ferguson and by Karen Head, Ms. UNC-A who assisted the Social Commission with plans for the weekend.

The Co-Ed Capers will last much of the afternoon and will be followed by Funtime at 6:30 in the Student Center. Music and live entertainment are planned along with several other events for the Friday evening. The weekend festivities will continue on Saturday night as the Bulldog cagers play host to Lander College on the hardwood at the UNC-A gym. Gametime is slated for 8:00 p.m. with the crowning of the new Homecoming Queen to take place during halftime of the game. Immediately after the basketball game, there will be a dance for UNC-A students and their guests at the Greek Community Center. The dance is slated to begin at 10:00 p.m. Free beer and set-ups will be provided. Admission to the dance is free to all UNC-A students who have a student ID card and their dates.

One of the highlights of the Homecoming weekend will be the last of the festivities. At 2:30 Sunday afternoon the gym will host The Cornelius Brothers in concert. The group has been popular for the last several years and have released numerous hit records. Also appearing with the Cornelius Brothers, in concert will be the Divots and Butch and Eddie. Tickets for the Cornelius Brothers concert are available at the reception desk in the Administration Building, from Radio Station WUNF, and from campus organizations. Tickets for students with ID cards will be $2.00 each. Advance tickets for non-students will be $4.00 and $5.00 at the door on Sunday afternoon.

All of the events of Homecoming weekend will be open to all UNC-A students and all students are invited to participate in the events.

Ridgerunner may become a weekly?

"I wish The RIDGERUNNER came out more often . . ." That was a remark that appeared numerous times last term when students were polled concerning the campus paper. In response to such student sentiment, The RIDGERUNNER Staff is preparing a request for an increased budget allotment that would allow a weekly publication schedule. The request will be filed with the Senate of the Student Government Association, and if approved, would make The RIDGERUNNER a weekly newspaper for the first time in its existence.

Careful and diligent consideration was given to this issue by The RIDGERUNNER Staff before a decision was reached to file the request. A weekly publication would be designed to improve communication and information on the campus-wide scale. During the first semester of this academic year, The RIDGERUNNER was a bi-weekly publication. The move to a weekly publication schedule, pending the allocation of additional funds, is a reflection of the

Federal employment group to visit UNC-A on Friday

This Friday, January 19, the UNC-A Placement Service will host the annual Federal Employment Outlet Program from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the lobby of the Lipinsky Student Center.

The program is sponsored by the United States Civil Service Commission and the Raleigh area office which is co-ordinating the activity according to Acting Area Manager, Philip B. Belt. Bob Jamison, Senior Staffing Specialist for the Raleigh office will co-ordinate the events for the day.

This marks the first time that such a job placement program has come to the UNC-A campus. The commission feels that UNC-A is more centrally located than the previous location of the program and has of late become interested in liberal arts graduates.

The purpose of the program is to permit junior and senior students from the area's institutions of higher education an opportunity to learn what the various federal agencies have to offer in the way of career opportunities.

The various representatives of the agencies will not be taking applications for employment at this time, but will be offering information and procedures to follow in seeking a career with the federal government upon graduation.

The following agencies will be represented here Friday: Bureau of Indian Affairs, Civil Service Commission, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, (Social Security Commission), Department of Interior (Blue Ridge Parkway), Environmental Protection Agency, Internal Revenue Service, Marine Corps Base, National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, National Climatic Center, and the Veterans Administration Hospital.

UNC-A acquires a campus doctor

A sincere interest in UNC-A and the desire work with young people are the main reasons that have brought Dr. Claude E. Steen to the UNC-A campus as a physician.

Dr. Steen will be in attendance at the infirmary three times weekly between the hours of 8:30 and 9:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Dr. Steen's services are available to any full time student without charge.

Dr. Steen brings with him an outstanding background that includes twelve years of experience as a medical missionary in Ethiopia.

Steen returned to the United States in 1959 and set up practice in Asheville, where he has been ever since. Steen is a family doctor and has four sons of his own, one of which is currently enrolled in medical school.

On his coming to UNC-A Steen states, "I felt it was a step in upgrading the medical profession, also I am very much interested in education and UNC-A in particular."

Steen goes on to say, "a man stays young by being associated with the young people, being here at the university gives me the chance to help bridge to generation gap between young and old and the opportunity to bring about better health to the students."
