

Board of Trustees Meets . . .

Uwen Jr. and Bernard Smith.

The election of new officers at the meeting saw past vice-chairman Dr. Francis Buchanan, a Hendersonville dentist, elected chairman. The president of American Enka, Maurice Winger was elected vice-chairman and Bernard Smith, managing editor of the Asheville Times, was re-elected secretary.

Chancellor Highsmith, in reviewing the actions of the General Assembly, noted a $43 million bond issue for higher education is to be voted on by the public in Nov. '76. Included in the bond issue is $1.9 million for a new classroom for UNCA, to be located behind the Zageir Social Science Building. Dr. Highsmith said the soonest possible date for use of the 50,000 square foot structure is late 1979.

Citing a "reverse

bind," Dr. Highsmith said that as jobs become more scarce, enrollment increases. He said, "we're happy to have them but we do not have the money to support them." The chancellor reported full time equivalency up 20%, more of an increase than expected. He said classes will be larger but "our faculty has been extraordinarily good about accepting additional loads when necessary."

Other business at the 2½ hour public portion of the meeting included an outline of the new tracts in the management program at UNCA. A new Health Core Administration tract will instruct those people already in the health care field with little administrative training, in addition to new students.

The site for a sign for the newly dedicated Justice Sports, Health and Physical Education Complex was approved by the Trustees. It will be located on the road running behind the gym and will also serve as a traffic divider.

A brief report was given by Dr. Highsmith on the possible location of a U.S. Forest Service research center across from the Botanical Gardens. The Chancellor said the request had been made through U.S. Representative Roy Taylor and Senators Morgan and Helms office's for additional money to the Forest Service for architectural work.

Past Chairman F. Hoyle Blanton expressed his gratitude and thanks to the Board and reaffirmed his desire to assist UNCA in any way possible. The meeting adjourned into executive session at 5:25.

Media Budgets . . .

Luguire proposed an amendment to the Ridgerunner budget to delete a $150 request for carpet for the paper's office. The amendment passed, as did the total request of $5964.50, to be used to publish the paper for the entire academic year.

Frequent warnings by S. G. President Aiken that the Senate was allocating money it did not have, was ignored by the body. A motion by Freshman Senator Becky Gooding to table all the budgets pending a business office estimate of available revenues, died for lack of a second. Several Senators approximated available funds for first semester at $34,000 for SG expenditure.

The fourth item on the agenda, radio station WUNF's budget request, was considered last by the Senate. In light of the fact that several Senators were leaving to attend a 6:30 night class, WUNF's budget was passed in less than one minute. The rapidly passed budget of $3728 included itemized expenditures for engineering, programing, and scholarships.

Included on the agenda but not considered for lack of a quorum were social, intramural, film, office, and scholarship budget requests. The 90 minute meeting adjourned at 6:30. The time of the next meeting was not announced.

Fee Now Charged To Teachers

Dr. Bergemann, Chairperson in Department of Education, has announced that beginning October 1, 1975 a fee of $10.00 will be charged for the processing and issuance of the initial North Carolina Teachers Certificate.

The following communication was sent to Dr. Bergemann from Dr. Craig Phillips, Superintendent of Public Instruction in North Carolina:

North Carolina has never made any charges for the issuance of a North Carolina teacher's certificate. This has, in the past, been a service provided free by the State. It became apparent in the last session of the General Assembly that the cost of issuing certificates which the State has borne was going to be shifted to the individuals for whom the service was performed. The State Board of Education has adopted a Certification Fee Schedule which is designed to underwrite the basic cost to the State of processing records and issuing certificates to individuals. This fee for the processing of an application and the issuance of the certificate will be effective with records filed on and after
