

KIDD, a local band, performs in Coffehouse during Orientation. (Related stories on page four)

Title IX Greivance Procedure Outlined

A Title IX Greivance procedure is being established to handle any complaints of discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, or handicap.

Dean Wutschel is the Title IX Compliance Officer. Upon receiving a complaint, Dean Wutschel will investigate the circumstances and within ten days, if the complaint is found to be legitimate, propose a resolution. The resolution will be considered binding unless either party appeals the decision.

Appeals will be considered by the Title IX Committee, which includes: Vice Chancellor Roy A. Riggs, Director of Administration Thomas C. Dula, Dean of Students Paul T. Deason, Associate Dean of Students Alice S. Wutschel, Vice Chancellor

PSA MEETS

by Brynn Brown

The Political Science Association (P.S.A.) held its first meeting September 1, at 8 p.m. at the Bavarian Cellar. The meeting was called to order at 8:25 after merry-making and acquainting new members with the association members. The business on the agenda was that of P.S.A. A president pro tem, Don Alexander, and a vice-president pro tem, Hassan Farazian, were selected.

The future projects of P.S.A. were discussed. Among them is the straw vote for the presidential election, which will be conducted in conjunction with the Student Government of UNC-A and the NC-ASG.

Goetz Wolff, a political science professor, suggested that third party nominations also be included in order to provide a wider range of candidates.

Other plans include complete night coverage of the presidential election for dorm students with commentaries by political science professors.

Following the election date, November 5, a four week lecture series will be offered, emphasizing such facets as the political theory, foreign policy, comparative politics, and international relations of the newly elected administration. Also suggested were public forums concerning various aspects of political science provided by senior political science majors.

lor for Finance William Pott, Dr. Verna Bergemann, Mrs. Jo D. Cadle, and Mrs. Mary Miller.

The Committee will establish whether a complaint issues from an individual action or a result of University policy. The Committee has the authority to make binding decisions. The policy decisions will be carried out through the normal institutional channels.

If either party should appeal the Committee's decision, Chancellor William E. Highsmith will consider the case. His decision will be final. Complete records will be kept on all complaints and appeals.

An analysis was made this summer of seven academic areas, investigating possibly discriminatory policy. According to Dr. Riggs, the Greivance Procedure was established in order to insure that UNC-A is in compliance with Federal directives. Although Title IX refers only to sex discrimination, it was recommended that the procedure be used to deal with any type of discrimination.

The Athletics program of all state supported institutions have been given a three year extension on complete compliance with Title IX, because of financial complexities.

Summit Editor Resigns Publications Board Formed

Nora Aiken, the editor of the SUMMIT, for the academic year 1976-77 resigned her post during Orientation Week. A complaint had been filed with Dean Hines, SUMMIT advisor for the year 1975-76, by several of the former staff. They had requested Ms. Aiken's removal from office because she had not attended any of the yearbook workshops during the summer.

Since the policy statement for the SUMMIT is no longer in effect, last year's staff had chosen the editor for the academic year 1976-77 period. However, since the staff has disbanded and Ms. Aiken had not appointed another, there is no procedure for choosing an editor to fill the vacancy.

According to Dean Deason, Chancellor Highsmith decided to organize the

Fourteen New Faculty Members Are Appointed

Fourteen full-time faculty members have joined the University this year. The appointments, announced by Dr. Roy A. Riggs, include: Mr. William R. Booth, Jr., in Management; Dr. James P. Buchanan, in Psychology; Mr. Thomas D. Grindstaff, in Management; Mr. William J. Green, in Education; Dr. Maben D. Herring, in Literature and Languages; Mrs. Elizabeth E. Hunt, in Education; Mr. Robert P. Maas, in Chemistry; Mr. Edward L. Knight, in Sociology; Dr. Margaret G. O'Donnell, in Economics; Mrs. Phyllis B. Otti, in Sociology; Mr. Larry W. Rowlett, in Biology; Mr. John B. Stoughton, in Mathematics; Mrs. Dorothy B. Sulock, in Mathematics; and Mr. Jozef A. Vandermeer, in Art.

Mr. William Russell Booth, Jr., lecturer in management, is a native of Hartsville, S. C., and earned both his B.S. and M.B.A. from the Citadel. He has served as an assistant basketball coach and as a substitute teacher.

Dr. James Porter Buchanan, visiting assistant professor of psychology, received his B.A. from Johns Hopkins, graduating with departmental and general honors. He earned his M.A. at UC-LA, and a Ph.D. at San Diego State University, specializing in developmental psychology. Dr. Buchanan is a member of the Society for Research in Child Development and a member of the American Psychiatric Association. He taught at the University of California at Riverside and San Diego State University prior to coming to UNC-A.

Mr. William Jerry Green, lecturer in physical education, graduated from Appalachian State with a B.S. in physical education. He received an M.A. in P.E. and administrative education from East Tennessee State. He played basketball at UNC-A in the 1964-65 and 1965-66 seasons. He has coached basketball and tennis at Charleston High and Ashe Central, as well as serving as Athletic Director and teaching health education. Mr. Green will be involved in scouting, recruiting, assistant coaching, and lecturing in physical education.

Mr. Thomas Daniel Grindstaff has been appointed lecturer in management, and director of management services and the internship program. He received his B.S. from Western Carolina, majoring in administration. He has worked at Western Carolina Industries as manager of training services. He has also served as personnel manager for Mountain Manpower, Inc.

Dr. Maben Dixon Herring, associate professor of literature and languages, is from Asheville. She majored in English and History at Johnson C. Smith University, earning a B.A. degree. She received an M.A.T. and a Ph.D. from the University of Notre Dame in education and English. Dr. Herring has taught education and English at UNC-A on a part-time basis.

Miss Elizabeth E. Hunt, lecturer in education, has served as consultant and lecturer in Washington, Georgia, and North Carolina. She received her A.B. from Berea College in Kentucky, majoring in psychology and minoring in sociology. She earned an M.A. from State University College in Oswego, N. Y., with a major in industrial arts. Miss Hunt is a doctoral candidate at the University of Maryland. Her speciality is elementary education.

Mr. Edward LeRoy Knight, visiting assistant professor of sociology, attended the University of Michigan, where he earned a B.A. degree in sociology. He received an M.A. from the University at Detroit. Mr. Knight is a doctoral candidate at the New School for Social Research in New York. He has served as assistant professor of sociology at the University of Florida.

Mr. Richard Precton Maas, lecturer in chemistry, is replacing Dr. Stevens, who is on research leave. Mr. Maas received an A.B. in chemistry from Bucknell University, and an M.S. from Western Carolina with a minor in science education. He has also earned an M.A. in education. Mr. Maas specializes in general chemistry, environmental science, and aquatic chemistry.

Dr. Margaret Ganuchau O'Donnell, assistant professor of economics, received her B.A. from the University of Texas at El Paso, with a major in history and a minor in economics. She earned an M.A. in economics at the LSU-New Orleans and her doctorate from Texas A & M. She was a graduate assistant at Texas A & M and assistant professor at the University of Southern Louisiana.

Mrs. Phyllis Betts Otti, visiting assistant professor of sociology, graduated from Southern Illinois University with a B.A. in sociology. She received her M.A. from the University of Chicago and is a doctoral candidate. She has served as a teaching assistant and as a research assistant at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Larry W. Rowlett, lecturer in biology, earned his B.S. degree from East Tennessee State with a major in biology and a minor in general science. He received an M.S. from ETU with a major in biology.

con't on page 3