

Photo by Gene Jones

Write The Editor

EDITORIAL

The Student Senate, most often maligned for its inaction and rhetoric, deserves sincere congratulations for its concern and speedy action this week. Ruth Jones, the mainstay of UNC-A's snack bar, had a fire in her apartment last weekend that caused about $1100 worth of damage. In the best legislative tradition, the Student Senate passed a Ruth Jones Emergency Relief Fund Bill. Some of the campus organizations have already pledged money for this worthy cause, and the Student Government is collecting donations during the lunch hours in the cafeteria. To help Ruth and show our appreciation for a job well done, stop by the cafeteria and give what you can.

Classified Ads

UNC-A organizations - free 258-0200 ext. 343

Typing done in my home. Specializing in term papers, thesis, etc. I.B.M. Selectric machine. Will pick up and deliver. 29803833 Mrs. E.J. Novak 59 Independence Blvd.

The Management Club officers will have a meeting Monday at 4:00 p.m. in ZSS 220.

This week's Science Forum will be presented by Dr. Garrett Ramsey of the Asheville Veterinary Associates. Dr. Ramsey's program is entitled "Specific Orthopedic Problems in the Canine and Feline." UNC-A's Science Forums are presented each Thursday in RS 122 at 1 p.m. and are sponsored by the UNC-A Undergraduate Research Association.

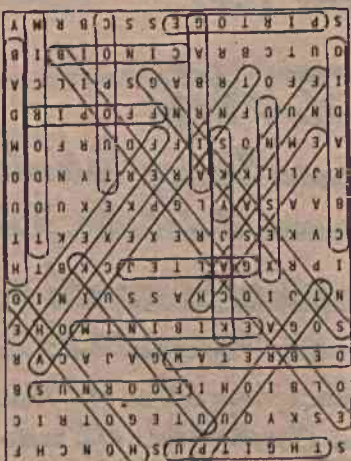

On Monday, October 31, a Halloween Day Buffet will be held in the Cafeteria between 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Buffet will feature Roast Beef carved to order, Baked Ham, Sweet Potatoes, Squash, Green Peas, Rolls, Desserts and Beverages. Cost per plate will be $2 plus applicable sales tax.

JOBS AVAILABLE

part-time
restaurant work: waiters & waitresses
babysitter
nurses aid
general work for appliance store
car parker for restaurant
sales person
office clerk

full-time
dishwasher
clerk Steno II
housekeeping assistant

Contact T.C. & A.

FORUM THEATRE

Theatre audiences usually clap or sometimes boo to express their feelings about a play. At Theatre UNC-Asheville's Forum Theatre, however, the audience can be a bit more specific with actors and director about their criticisms.

Forum Theatre is part of UNC-A's drama department's series of student directed, one-act plays presented in the afternoons without admission charge.

The informal atmosphere of audience participation begins prior to the performance when refreshments are served. The audience is then invited to stay after the production for a lively discussion with director and cast.

This session's Forum Theatre begins Thursday, Nov. 3, at 4 p.m.

in the new Carol Belk Theatre with John Millington Synge's "In the Shadow of the Glen." Directed by H. Byron Ballard, the play is an Irish folk comedy in which a man feigns death to catch his faithless wife, but loses her to a stranger in the end.

Other plays scheduled are "All Saint's Day" by off-Broadway playwright Marian Winters, directed by Julie Guemple, Tuesday, Nov. 3; "Present Tense" by Pulitzer Prize winner Frank Gilroy, directed by Paul DeVere, Wednesday, Nov. 30; "The Waiting Room" by English playwright John Bowen, directed by Lowell Beard, Monday, Dec. 5; and "White Lies" by Peter Shaffer, author of "Equus" directed by Stephanie Belt, Monday, Dec. 12.

CHRISTIAN GROUP FOR MED

It is always nice to see non-students take part and help form activities for students. Chief Ray of the UNC-A police, with the help of students, has formed the UNC-A Christian Fellowship Group here on campus. This group has been recognized by SG and is working with a similar Mars Hill College group, and has drawn a possible helping hand from area churches.

Chief Ray states the group's objectives as providing a common meeting place for all members of the University community to share in christian fellowship and exert a small christian influence on campus. This is not all, though.

This Halloween members will be 'trick-or-treatin' for UNICEF, planning a needy-person drive for Christmas, and plans an activity this Thanksgiving. Also, to try to get activities planned for the dorm students on the weekends. Chief Ray mentioned the possibility of speakers, movie, and christian singing groups coming to campus. Mrs. Billy Graham has been contacted and is interested in coming to campus to speak. This group wishes to be active.

The group's officers are: president-Charles McEnerney, vice-president-Keith Brozek, and secretary-treasurer-Pam Herbert. Chief Ray is a founder and advisor. The group meets every Tuesday from noon till 1:00 in the Coffeeshouse. All members of the University community are welcome and there is no denomination preference.

Chris Mangum

$1.00 in advance deadline

3:00 p.m. Wednesday

The Faculty Senate will meet in RL1 in October 31, 1977 at 3:30 p.m. The agenda is as follows:

1. Informal discussion with acting Chancellor King.
2. Report of Academic Policies Committee--no formal actions anticipated.
3. Report of the Faculty welfare Committee--a motion will be made that "The Senate approve the recommendation of the Faculty Welfare Committee to the Vice Chancellor for Finance that the TIAA tax sheltered annuity plan be made available to the faculty in view of the fact that TIAA provides the alternate retirement program for UNC-A faculty."
5. New Business.

Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution of the Faculty Senate states in part that "Meetings of the Senate shall be open to all members of the faculty; . ." Please feel free to attend the meeting.

ASHEVILLE JUNCTION
8:30 P.M.

ADMISSION
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.....$1.50
ADMISSION
SUNDAY.....$1.00

at Allen Center
331 College Street

