One senior expressed the opinion that she personally would rather go to a baseball game than a track meet. She also believes that baseball would be a better inducement in the recruiting of new students.

"Softball and baseball can be played at Weaver Park, less than a mile from campus, until a permanent field can be found on campus," says Reynolds. "I like baseball, but I cannot see why baseball should be added at the expense of tearing up an expensive installation that provides year-around sports activities."

"It is the policy at UNCA that the athletic program be directed at life long sports. These are things you can use once you leave school," says Grams. "Running is an activity that is, for most people, the least time consuming and does not require much equipment. All you need is a pair of running shoes and whatever old clothes you have."

Grams says, "None of the things you play on a playing field contributes to making you aerobically fit. If you are already fit, these kinds of games are fine. However, they do not make you fit."

An important consideration Grams says is that "we have a high median age (27) on campus and we need to consider the overall student population. A 30-year-old is not likely to play baseball. However, he can run. In Asheville it is hard to find a place to run. The track provides that."
