

ANSWERS TO QUIZ, PAGE ONE-

- (1) If you said yes, you're lying—there's no such theory!
 - (2) True. Why? "The truth shall make you free", that's why!
 - (3) E-1, John E. Lee, rock-n-roll singer.
B-6, Robert the Baptist—turned traitor and became a Bhuddist in 1956.
C-2—Robert Robert, clothing designer.
F-2, John Frost, better-known as Jack.
3-4, Horton L. Stevenson, British movie star and bankrobber.
A-5, Robert L. Lewis, brother of Jerry L. (Lee) Lewis and part-time drunk.
G-1, John Henry, and H-2, John Paul Jones—fooled you those 2 times!
 - (4) Money was the main cause of all evil in human history.
 - (5) If you answered this one, you're wrong. If you left it as is, give yourself 10 points and become a Hollywood columnist.
 - (6) Answering this one indicates that you can think Deep Thoughts, and shouldn't be wasting your time up here!
 - (8) The Prince is Bored with Boards.
 - (9) (a) ZORRO—a hero.
(b) OR—a conjunction.
(c) oror—double con j.
(d) ROZ—Nickname for "Rosiland".
(e) RO—1st word in the song "Ro, ro, ro your boat."
(f) RRO—The 27th letter, after Z. (I'm sure you've heard of Z—RRO)
(g) RRZ—Sound of an angry bee.
(h) ZRR—Sound of an angrier bee.
(i) ZOO—A place for animals.
(j) OO—Expression of awe or amazement.
 - (9) Lilliput.
 - (10) Either (a) You know darn well you weren't or (b) You know damn well you were!
- INTEGRATION QUESTION OF THE WEEK—Should Vampires be Allowed to go to College With Everybody Else?
- YES—I think vampires are the "coolest" people I've ever met...why not, with only a thin coat of graveyard dirt over them when they sleep? The vampire sense of humor is also great. For example, this was told to me a few days ago by a vampire buddy of mine: "Can Mary go skating with me?"—"Mary died last year!"—"Well, can I have her skates?"—Only a vampire would appreciate such subtlety. And they are also quite good-looking. There's nothing like a handsome young vampire boy with long, curly black hair—growing all over his face! Or a cute little vamp with her long, graceful fingernails—blood red! Yes, vampires should go to college with people—my kids have to be educated somewhere! (C. DRACULA)
- NO—It isn't that I have anything against them, some of my best friends are vampires but I hate the thought of a set of those long, horrible fangs sinking into some young co-ed's neck, and...UGH! And they wouldn't be able to come to our all-nite blasts, with their weird habits of sleeping during the day, and working at nite—they would have to be in night school. Their habits are all too different, and it is a scientifically established fact, as shown by the Orval Faubas Research Center, that anything different must be wrong! (A. CLODD.)

CROSSWORD PUZZLE SOLUTION-

In case any of you actually worked the crossword puzzle last issue, and actually couldn't figure it out, here is the way it should've been done:

R	A	D	A	R
A	 	I	 	A
D	I	C	E	D
A	 	E	 	A
R	A	D	A	R

LITTER TO THE EDITOR—Almost—real letters
(NOTE: I didn't get any real letters, but these are almost real)

Dear Ed,

I really dug your paper, especially the takeoff on the English Department. Never had Mrs. Fisheart been so funny!

Mrs. Scribbler

Dear Ed,

I really dug your paper, especially the takeoff on the English Department. Never has Mrs. Scribbler been so funny!

Mrs. Fisheart.

Dear Mr. McHone,

Never mind showing up for phys. ed. anymore. You've been dropped, due to the horrible story you wrote about me.

Coach Velvetone.

McHone: Never mind coming back to school at all! You are hereby expelled, til death do you part, for the "satire" on me.

Dr. G. L. Fuzzy.

APOLOGIES UNNECESSARY—The people who are good sports will realize I've only been kidding, and those who aren't don't deserve recognition anyway.

JRM

DEAR ABEY—by Abraham van Brewin'

Dear Abey,

my daughter is a "scared-of-the-dark" type, who insists on sleeping with her father every night. What solution can you give me? MOTHER OF SLEEPER.

Dear MOS: Lot's of little girls sleep with their fathers, so don't worry.

Dear Abey: When the girl is 24 years old?

MOS.

Dear Abey, do you know the rest of the words to a song beginning, "I gave my love a red, red nose"?

Songlover.

Dear Songlover: Yes.

Dear Abey; My sister, Lucy Scone, insists on taking long walks every day at 6 AM before breakfast. She says it's to keep her weight down, she doesn't want to get fat. The trouble is, she takes me on these long strolls too, and I'm getting worn out. What can be done about such a fanatical stroller?

SISTER MATILDA.

Dear SIS: Try to see her point of view, she is trying to lose weight. Remember that well-known old phrase, "A strolling Scone gathers no mass".

(OOO!)