Intramurals crowned team Superbad the 2007 fall outdoor kickball champions after defeating The Bomb Team 2-1.

"This was a great result to a great season," said Nate Brinkley, member of team Superbad.

The game was knotted up 0-0 through five innings. Both teams played stellar defense.

The idea of popping the ball up into the air or anywhere in the outfield was out of the question for both teams.

In the top of the sixth, The Bomb Team kicked two line drive balls that set up the game's first score.

Team Superbad countered with a strategy of line drive kicks, setting a runner in position on third base, then kicking sacrifice flies to the outfield.

They scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh, sealing the victory.

"It has been a lot of fun playing with these guys," Brinkley said. "With me being relatively new to the university this is a good way to get out and meet people outside of the office and have a little fun."

With the popularity of kickball in intramurals, the sport will also be offered in the spring, teams prepare to knock off the newly crowned champions.

"If my team decides to play again, it's a no brainer, of course I am going to play with them," Brinkley said.

The finals were set for flag football, Crab cakes and football advanced to the championship game after Eye of the Tiger forfeited the game.

"It was disappointing that they forfeited during the playoffs, but we will take it," said Matt Von Holle, member of Crab Cakes and football.

As a result of the forfeit, Crabcakes and football did not play one game in the playoffs and head to the championship.

"It would have been good to get some practice in before the championship game, but we'll be fine," Von Holle said.

The second team advancing to the championship game are the returning champions Who's playing for second? who defeated Curious George 34-12 in their semi final game.

"We just have to keep doing what we have been doing all year," said Dane Corriher, member of Who's playing for second?

"As long as we play our game and not switch up, we will win."
