

Campbell Crax

Bronson: "Down in Texas."
Whitley: "Where were you born?"
Whitley: "Were you raised there?"
Bronson: "They tried it once, but the rope broke."

—:0:—
"Was your uncle's life insured?"
"No, he was a total loss."

—:0:—
Prof. Garrett told Sexton to write an essay on the mule. Sexton turned in the following effort:

"The mule is a heavier bird than the guse or turkie. It has two legs to walk with, two more to kick with an' wears its wing on the sides of its head. It is stubbornly backward about coming forward."

—:0:—
Hager: "Why does a dog hang out its tongue when running?"
Harris: "To balance its tail."

—:0:—
Harwell: "What did your wife say when you got in at two last night?"
Mr. Washam: "She never said a word. I was going to have these two front teeth pulled out anyhow."

—:0:—
Prof.: "Your recitation reminds me of Quebec."
Miss Nance: "How is that?"

—:0:—
Prof.: "Built on a bluff."
—:0:—
Prof. Johnson: "You may recite on gas or chloroform."
Howard: "May I take ether?"

—:0:—
Willis: "I thought that girl used to be a blonde."
Smith: "She was but she went off the gold standard."

—:0:—
Maw Dew: "What does this mean? I found a bottle of whiskey in your trunk."

—:0:—
Doc Allen: "That means you know whiskey when you taste it."

—:0:—
Palmer: "Why do you think it is safer to ride on trains than it is in automobiles?"

—:0:—
Willette: "Because the engineer doesn't neck the fireman."

Rev. W. G. McFarland Goes to Andrews

half of the Young People's Division, Miss Anna Mae Hughes accepted the emblem. Rev. McFarland offered the dedicatory prayer.

Expressions of appreciation to Rev. and Mrs. McFarland from the Young People's Division and Ministerial Band were read by Miss Pauline Satterwhite and Theron Willis, respectively. The two organizations presented a beautiful pewter tea set to the retiring pastor and his wife, to further show their love and appreciation for services rendered the young people here.

Responding to, and concluding the young people's part of the program, Rev. and Mrs. McFarland spoke an inspiring word of encouragement.

Brother Hughes, one of our retired ministers, lead the remainder of the program. He conducted a good old time spiritual meeting in which the adults expressed their appreciation to Rev. McFarland and family. The Sunday school was represented by its superintendent, T. R. Stover, and the Woman's Missionary Society by Mrs. P. M. Rutherford. Mr. Cornwell and Dr. A. T. Abernethy expressed the sentiments of the entire community. Brother Hughes presented a purse to Rev. McFarland to conclude the program.

New Pastor at Local Church

made a surprise visit to the parsonage on Tuesday evening, December 6, each carrying the necessary articles to constitute a good old time pounding.

At first he liked being pledged, but he got sore in the end.

A critic is a man who will confine himself to narrow limits of study for a lifetime just to be able to authoritatively disagree with someone.
