To the left we present a sketch by Summers Maugans of an old house on his father's farm near Statesville.

where she was very popular in her high school work. She is president of the Euterpean Literary Society and is very active in other work on the campus. She is ranked highly in the scholastic standing of her class, and is well qualified to serve on the Council.

Ruth Sylvester on Student Council

After a spirited election the Sophomore Class, in a final election held Wednesday, October 23, elected Ruth Sylvester to represent them on the Council.

This election was necessitated by the failure of Thurman Tate, who was elected to the Council last year, to return to school. Miss Sylvester was elected from the following candidates: Ruth Sylvester, Charlotte Patton, Wilson Forbes, Bill Davis, Bob Dixon, Mary Marco, and Emily Sue Mallonee. The final election was between Miss Sylvester and Miss Patton with Miss Sylvester receiving the majority of the votes.

The newly elected member of the Council is from Black Mountain

Reno Wins At State Fair

John Reno, Brevard College's outstanding 4H Club member, spent from Thursday until Saturday in Raleigh where he attended the 4H Club State Fair. Reno entered his prize calf, which won first place in a recent fair at Asheville, in the contest and it won for him the Champion and the Grand Champion Prizes. These prizes consist of thirty dollars in cash and a scholarship to N. C. State College. Mr. Reno plans to take advantage of this scholarship and enter State College next September. The Haywood County Judging Team of which Reno is a member also won first place in the Judging Contest. We wish for John much success in his future 4H Club work.

Campus Notes

Vivian Craven always likes to see the mailman coming.

Mary Ross always manages late entrances to the dining room and to class.

Frances Goforth's poem "We Don't Count" is truly a masterpiece.

Avon Players

The Avon Players, widely known Shakespearean Company, will be seen here October 28th in the auditorium when they present Othello. This company has appeared in almost every important city of the South during the past season; their performance of Othello being especially lauded. This play has received wide publicity recently through its performance by Walter Huston and its current New York production with Phillip Merrivale in the title role. It is generally considered to be the best constructed drama in the English language.

Joseph Selman, who heads the cast, is a featured New York actor. His appearances on the road in Shakespearean roles during the past six years have brought him recognition as one of America's foremost tragedians.

Vespers.

The subject for the Vesper service next Sunday evening is "Beauty in Common Things." The program consists of: Scripture, Prayer, Special Music, and Speaker. The speaker will be Prof. Pangle who is known for his very interesting speeches. Most of the future programs will be conducted by the students.

Our Vespers so far have been most colorful, helpful, inspiring, and well attended, but those who have not come are especially urged to join us Sunday and also in future services.

Have you heard about the Bishop we have in school? Ask Phil Brooks about that.

Freshman Class Meeting

Meeting for their first meeting of the year since the election of officers, the Freshman Class met Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the auditorium with Rogers presiding.

Odell Salmon conducted devotionals at the opening of the meeting after which Satenik Nahikian, the class secretary, read the minutes of the election meeting.

The president appointed a committee to nominate persons for the council and a committee to draw up the class colors, motto, and policy. Cards requesting certain information were given to each member present to be filled out and returned immediately.

The most important business brought up was the discussion of class dues which ended with several suggestions and in the hands of a budget committee headed by Ed. Powell, the class treasurer.

Class Animosity

There have been some signs of animosity and separation between the freshmen and sophomores. Although natural, it is quite evident that if this feeling should come to the front, college life this year will fall far short of what it can and should be.

"Rat Week" is over. Almost five weeks have passed since the opening of school. Everyone is getting acquainted; warm and lasting friendships are in a forming process. Every student in both classes should be working for the common cause—
