New Students Enter School

At the beginning of the second quarter fifteen new students enrolled in the college. We extend to them a cordial welcome and are looking forward to becoming acquainted. The new students are Woodrow Patton, Thomas Peeler, Riley Pace, Charles Scott, Charles Stansel, Lewis Townsend, Dickson Willis, Floyd Duncan, Irene Parsons, Doyle Edmunson, Roy Brown, Emma Deavor, Eugene Dillard, Ernest Elliot and Ralph Galloway.

Thelbert Wright, who was forced by illness to leave school early in the fall quarter also returned.

Mrs. Milner Speaks on "Personality in General"

Mrs. Erenstine C. Milner, professor of psychology and director of personell at Guilford College, speaking to the student body Friday morning, used as her subject "Personality in General."

Mrs. Milner said that we must face the truth about our abilities and our disabilities. She used as illustrations several girls in her own school who came there and became acquainted with their fellow students under illusions which had to be faced later. She also told of students and other people who become supposedly ill to gain attention because they were unable to attract it in any other way.

She said that most of us still have childhood fears that are absolutely foolish. "A student is afraid to do new things," she said. She told of a student who

President Coltrane Plans Ahead

At the beginning of the new year our president drew up a program which he hopes to carry out in the next two years. We are sure that if all of us cooperate with him as we should, President Coltrane will carry his program out to the last point.

Without further comment we print the program:

1. An enrollment of four hundred good students.
2. A summer quarter of equal rank with other quarters.
3. Lay the foundation for full accreditation by the Southern Association in 1937.
4. A new library building and one thousand new books.
5. A new gymnasium and athletic field.
6. A modest infirmary.
7. Endowment increased to $100,000.
8. Adequate provision for teaching modern science.
9. Participation of all students in wholesome social and religious activities.
10. Further development of the principle of self-help in the College.
11. A balanced budget and operation without a deficit.
12. Promote the development of the institution as a Christian college.
13. Train students for active participation in the activities of the local church.
14. A guidance program which will aid students in finding locations in other colleges or in suitable occupations.

It was impossible to get the paper out this week and change to the paper that will be used.

Impressions of the Conference at Memphis

The Methodist Young People's Conference which was held in Memphis, Tenn., December 27 to 31, was a series of stimulating and fruitful experiences at the first churchwide gathering in ten years.

Friendship with thousands found at the Conference sent a thrill through every participant. Strength comes from the realization that forces are enlisted in the purposes and work of the Church. The sight of 5,000 young people kneeling in the Sacrament of Communion, which was conducted on Sunday morning of the conference, strengthened every person there and the arms of the Church as it labors to make the mind of Christ effective in today's world.

Peculiar problems have to be faced by this generation of young people. For example take that of alcohol. Legal safeguards have been withdrawn, and moral standards in many sections have been lowered. Another example is that of war. More than ever the Christian conscience is recognizing the inconsistency of the war method with the way of Christ. Such problems leave the individual with a helpless feeling; there we need the strength of fellowship. International Day brought to a focus the relations which the Christian people of the United States should have with other countries.

The delegates were separated and went their respective ways, but this Conference with the theme "Facing Life With Christ" cannot be measured in its effects for a hundred years. Lives changed there will change other lives, as only spiritual values are eternal. The results of this conference may prove more enduring than any monument that might be erected.

The COMMERCIAL APPEAL, one of the daily newspapers of Memphis, on Saturday, December 28, published the following comment:

"One of the most enthusiastic groups to arrive at the Methodist Young People's Conference yesterday was from Brevard College in North Carolina. Thirteen delegates are representing the two-year-old religious college.

Leighton Presson Writes School Song

Leighton Presson's song "Our College" was chosen by the judges of Miss Hatcher's contest to be the school song.

Leona Rogers' song was given honorable mention. Leighton was awarded five dollars by Miss Hatcher for his accomplishment. Both the words and the music were written by the winner.

Our College

Unto Brevard we're ever loyal,
We sing to her a song of praise,
She gives to us endowments royal
To lead us through life's endless maze —
Brevard, Brevard, our hearts rejoice,
Forever and forever we will honor thee.
Our College, we will not forsake thee
Nor for one moment will forget
Thy standards high thy moral taper
Will guide us 'till our sun has set.
Brevard, Brevard, our hearts rejoice,
Forever and forever we will honor thee.
