Hoey To Make Address

Hon. Clyde R. Hoey will address the March graduating class in the college auditorium at the eleven o'clock commencement exercise Tuesday morning, March 24.

Mr. Hoey was invited here by President Coltrane and the eleven graduates. His subject for the occasion has not been announced.

This program will take the place of the regular assembly program of March 24, and it very likely will not overrun the period of time allotted for assembly. The program will not be elaborate, but it is hoped that the student body will regard the March graduation as of as much importance as the graduation in June.

Graduates will receive the new standard diplomas, which are being printed. There will very probably be three graduations this year, with the first coming in March, the second in June, and the third in August.

Students Visit Biltmore

Tuesday, February 18, about thirty students from the Home Economics class and the Agriculture class made a trip to the Biltmore Farm and then to the Southern Dairy Farm. While on this trip the students saw the stock at both farms and studied the processes that are carried on there. The milking and sterilization processes were studied in particular, and the students arrived at Biltmore in time to see the milking done. After going over the Southern Dairy Farm the students were shown about the plant and learned how to make ice cream, cheese, and the other products of this nature. While here they were entertained by being fed ice cream and pop-sicles.

Literary Societies

Cliosopic

The Cliosopic Literary Society held its regular weekly meeting last Friday night with the president, Bill Davis, presiding. A varied program was presented at this time.

Richard Queen talked on parliamentary law, and it was decided that we should have a discussion of this type at each meeting. "Strange Things", "Current Events", and "Book Reviews" were presented by Ferrell Young, Bob Sumner, and Earl Pearson respectively. Gilbert Smith later talked on George Washington, using as his subject, "What If He Came Back Now in 1936."

Odell Salmon is to arrange the program for next time.

Euterpian

The Euterpians met in the living room of the girls' dormitory, February 21, 1936. After a devotional period conducted by Lallah Mae Edwards, a program on ballads was given. The following persons appeared on the program: Bronnie Little, Katherine Coffey, Lorena Rogers, Octavia Latham, Emily Sue Mallonee, Paula Briggs, and Alberta Taylor.

Lyric poetry will be studied at the next meeting.

Mnemosynean

The Mnemosynean Literary Society held its meeting in the music studio Friday, February 21, 1936, with Edith Beard presiding. Ida Whisenant presented the constitution of the society for discussion and it was unanimously accepted. The by-laws and rules will be presented later. Groups were selected to specialize the interests of the members, and they are to function with the program committee.

After a lengthy business meeting the chaplain, Eunice Arnold, lead the devotional program.

Brevard Debaters Meet Cullowhee

Tuesday evening, February 25, Brevard College held its first debate, when we were hosts to two teams from W.C.T.C., and two of our teams visited Cullowhee. The debates were on the query: "Resolved, that Congress should have the power by a two-thirds majority vote to override any decision by the Supreme Court declaring an act of Congress unconstitutional," and were non-decisional.

Brevard upheld the affirmative in both debates here, while the negative side was supported by the debaters from Cullowhee. The girls debating the question were: Brevard, Misses Shinn and Whisenant; Cullowhee, Misses Potts and Brown. The boys were: Brevard, Messrs. McNeer and Severs; Cullowhee, Messrs. Potts and Penland. The debaters from Brevard who went to W.C.T.C. were Norman Plott, Horace Raper, Geraldine DeVier and Ruth Creasman. Each speaker was given twelve minutes for constructive speech and six minutes for rebuttal.

This was a good beginning in this type of work for the debaters, and we hope to see it further developed in the future. In presenting their points the debaters showed that they had done intensive reading and research work in the subject.

There will be a debate with Textile Junior College here March 2.

The debating teams will go to Charlotte to enter an Intercollegiate Debating Contest on March 6.

West Hall Prayer Meeting

The girls of West Hall have turned over a new leaf recently in regard to mid-week prayer services. They have started a series of discussions on "Personality." Bernice Brantley gave an interesting conception of an individual's adjustment in his society.
