

Alexander And Andrews Give Instruction To Tornadoes

Clothes, Money Collected For CARE

Mrs. E. J. Coltrane, supervisor of collections for worthy causes, has announced that during the summer a total of $65 was sent to the United Nation's Appeal for Children. This gift was collected from both students and faculty and a donation of $10 was received from one student. In addition to the money sent to UNAC, the school also contributed a box containing 48 pounds of clothing given by students. The clothes were sent to the Church World Service Center, an agency which distributes the gifts to needy families overseas. The CWSC has inaugurated a new plan whereby the sender of a parcel may send a seal giving his name and address and asking for a postcard or letter from the person receiving the gift. In this way, they hope to build friendship between European countries and the United States.

CARE has made up a new package for shipment to Europe consisting of a bone-smoked turkey and everything else that goes with a Thanksgiving dinner.

Mrs. Coltrane will make a talk in chapel sometime in the near future to explain the functions of the different organizations and to make a plea to all students to give everything they can to help this worthy cause.

group. Through this organization, any man on the campus will be able to have his suggestions or complaints brought to the attention of the dean without seeing him personally. However, if any student feels that it is necessary for him to go directly to the dean he should feel free to do so. In case the council feels disciplinary action necessary, the matter will be reported to the proper college officials. The function of the council is to work with the students and make suggestions. One of the first matters to be considered by each council so far has been that of a time for study and sleep, during which all occupants of the building remain reasonably quiet. Each building will decide upon its own hours and it is not expected that they will coincide.

Dean Stevenson suggested that the recently elected councils be termed temporary and that a permanent council be chosen later in the year. This would give the men in each dormitory an opportunity
