

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

By FRED TAYLOR

Delphian Literary Society

On October 21st., the Delphians initiated their new members in a program which lasted from seven in the morning until eleven in the evening. (See picture on page 5). The climax of the day's activities was the appearance of the club as a group at the Brevard-High Point football game. The new and old members were armed with buckets and sticks and supported the team with great volume and enthusiasm. The new members will be honored with a party Saturday night.

Folk Games Club

At the regular meeting on Friday night members of the Folk Games club elected officers for the year. Glen Davis was re-elected as president of the club and Max McCracken and Mary Ellen Copeland were chosen as vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. The number of students interested in folk and square dancing has increased so much that arrangements have been made for the club to meet in the basement of West Hall and for the people who wish to round dance on Friday nights to go to the West Hall living room.

International Relations Club

An interesting discussion on "Should the United States Form a Military Alliance with the Western Powers of Europe?" was held at the regular meeting of the International Relations club last week. Jack Prince and Jim Holmes made interesting reports on the problem and were followed by a forum discussion. The last few minutes of the meeting were taken up by short speeches in behalf of Henry Wallace by two members of the Progressive party who came over from the Asheville headquarters.

Cliosopic Literary Society

The Clios sponsored a hayride on the evening of October 23 and all who went enjoyed the outing a great deal. The forty people who went made the truck rather crowded but the roundabout route to Hendersonville and back, as well as the stop for hamburgers and coffee, was very pleasant.

President Jim Underwood has announced that the Clios will have their regular meetings at 8 p. m. on the second and fourth Monday nights of each month with Mr. Swink as faculty adviser.

Euterpean Literary Society

The Euterpeans had their initiations at the same time the Mnosyneans held theirs and all members gave their whole-hearted support. New members of both women's societies could be recognized by their outlandish attire, but each club was careful to require new members to distinguish themselves from mmebers of the other club.

Christian Workers Club

The Christian Workers club council had a supper at White Pines in Pisgah Forest last Saturday night, and, after returning to the college, made plans for religious activities on the campus for some time to come, mainly for the Wednesday and Sunday vesper programs.

Bailar Club

Membership in the Bailar club has increased to almost 75 students which is considerably larger than last year. The club meets every Monday night at 7 o'clock and gives dancing lessons for an hour. The club has purchased ten dollars worth of new records and anyone who wants to learn the art of danc-

AUTUMN

The multi-colored leaves of Autumn
Flutter softly to the ground;
Covering the fading green of the grass
With a blanket of rustling brown.
The tall and stately mountains stand
In brightly-colored gowns;
Adding a touch of gaiety
To even the dullest of towns.
Summertime's slow and easy gait
Is quickened by cool brisk air;
The people hurry along the way
With ruddy cheeks and wind-blown hair.
In the country hay stacks and pumpkins
Are found in every field;
And the pantries and the cellars are stacked
With the garden's abundant yield.
From the closets coats and sweaters
Suddenly appear;
And people reluctantly admit
That winter will soon be here.
The days are warm and the golden sun
Sinks in a crimson glow;
The nights are cold and we shiver in bed
Though it's early, yet, for snow.
It rains a lot and the autumn wind
Whistles throughout the trees;
Blowing down to the cold, hard earth
The brightly-colored leaves.

ing should certainly drop around West Hall basement for an hour every Monday night.

Mnosynean Literary Society

The two-day initiation program of new members of the Mnosyneans took place on October 18 and 19. The spirited group of newcomers into the organization seemed to be enjoying the affair as much as did the old members and the spectators.

Once upon a time there was a man who knew all the words of "The Star Spangled Banner."
He was Francis Scott Key.
