

Pine Whispers

Heard any good dirt lately? Well, maybe this will prove to be interesting.

McKissick's slogan these days is "Go West, young man, Go West," and believe me he has; at least to the Middle West.

Chet B. and Jack P. have really been playing the field lately. What is the matter, can't you make up your minds?

The mouse will play while the cat is away, won't he Gene B?

Looks like Mickey and Harry are trying to get up a "case."

Have you noticed how cupid has been using his bow and arrow around the campus? If not, just look around . . . Laura and Herman . . . Pat and Bob . . . Janie and Hersey . . . Eleanor and Lander . . . Maxine and Levi.

After this week-end we will know whether or not Brake is still carrying the torch.

Kat and Colie can be seen strolling around the campus almost any night after supper. (Even if Lightning does think they should be studying.)

From the looks of things, we are beginning to think that Isis and Baxley are a newsome twosome.

Frank O., you surely do give some of our men competition. Be careful and don't let the tables turn on you.

Did anyone other than Evelyn notice how nice Andy looked in his uniform?

Jo and Hugh have got everyone wondering whether their romance is on or off.

If anyone should get the idea that the men should limit their attentions to the girls on the campus, see Frank T. He has other ideas.

Sissy, we wonder why your face always lights up when you get a letter with a Georgia post mark.

Gosh, isn't it hard to keep your mind on books with all the plans for homecoming flying around?

Have "Duke" and DeLapp decided to give it another try?

Rumors are flying that four of the boys on the campus had a hilarious time in Bristol last

New Teacher

RALPH M. PARKS, above, recently accepted the position as instructor of voice and director of choruses at Brevard college. He came here after being associated with music departments of Kemper Military school, Atlantic Christian college and Anderson, S. C., Junior college. He received his musical education from DePauw university, the University of Colorado and University of Illinois, and he also studied with a number of private teachers. Mr. Parks, his wife, and two sons, reside in Ross Hall on the college campus.

week-end.

Seems like old times seeing Tommy over at Taylor Hall again.

Somebody said . . . You can't keep a good man down. Ask Jane and Jewel if that doesn't apply to injured football players.

Compared to the initiation of some of the boys, we think the girls looked pretty good.

Mildred and Robbie sure did cut their romance off quick . . . what happened?

Vancourt has really been making a showing at the dance sessions these nights. Keep up the good work.

Don't look so sad, Marianne. Hlosea will probably be back again in a week or two.

All Maxine wants now is another Sunday like the last one.

Mary Ester and John certainly enjoyed the band trip to Lees-McRae. When is the next one, John?

Was the trip last week-end worth it all, Iva?

No wonder Barbara didn't want to come back after that week-end at home. Can't say we blame you.

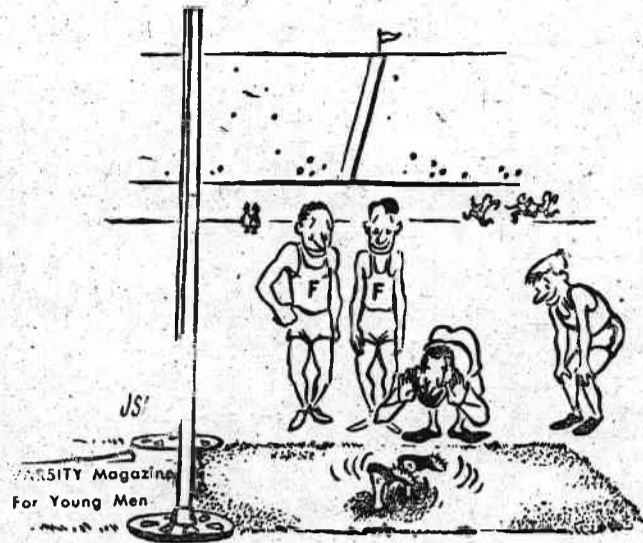

John McGinnis and Lib seem to enjoy each other's company. We've seen them together quite often lately.

Is photography the only reason you're interested in Maria, Bill?

A couple of the girls are certainly excited about this week-end when their beaus from back home are coming up. Well!!!!

If you see anybody floating by, it's Cheatham. Just ask him why.

If we didn't get you this time, don't breathe too freely . . . remember there is always a next issue

"I SAY IT'S A NEW RECORD. DAUGHERTY, A NEW RECORD!"

COLTRANE SPEAKS AT KIWANIS MEET

Gift Presented To Eversman By Club. Many Guests Attend

The part Kiwanis clubs are playing in the fight for keeping Western civilization free from Communism was ably discussed by E. J. Coltrane, district governor of clubs in the two Carolinas, at the Kiwanis meeting last Friday evening at the Bryant house here.

The moral strength of the democracies was stressed by the speaker as a major factor in the fight to keep free people from the attempted infiltration of isms, the speaker declared, and the local civic club member is a vital factor in the upbuilding of this strength, the speaker pointed out.

Miss Betty Wheeler was a guest of her father, George Wheeler, and thanked the club on behalf of the Girl Scout council for the support of the building program, and for the interest shown in the Girl Scout movement here.

A gift was presented John Eversman by Dr. Fred Zachary for Mr. Eversman's work in assisting stage the Kiwanis amateur show this summer.

Guests included H. P. Vannah, Jr., with his father, F. W. Thode with Bob Bolt, D. Earle Osgood with Earl Bryant, J. P. Porter with E. J. Coltrane, and H. A. Moses with Ralph Ramsey.

The directors meeting was announced for Thursday night, 7:30 o'clock at the home of Ralph Ramsey.

931 Students At Mars Hill

Mars Hill college, a junior college such as Brevard and located just north of Asheville, reports that enrollment this year has reached 931 students of which 483 are men and 451 women.

This year's registration is slightly higher than last year and the college has hopes of a fine year. Twenty states are represented along with five foreign countries.

Brevard college and Mars Hill are ancient rivals on the football field and from reports from Mars Hill things will really be popping when the Tornadoes travel up for the annual game this Thanksgiving.

Know Your Team

"BULL" TRAYNHAM

Ernest "Bull" Traynham, that something over 200 pounds of bone-crushing tackle who is captain of the Brevard Tornadoes this year, comes to us from Greenville, S. C., where he played three years of high school football. He entered Brevard in the fall of 1946 in the pre-college division and will graduate from the college department this February.

With "Bull" on one side of the line and "Beef" Walker at the other tackle, the opposition thinks twice before running one over that position.

"Bull" is taking a physical education course and after leaving Brevard will continue this vocation at the University of Florida. With three years of football with the Tornadoes behind him, he should be quite a help to the Gators.

Besides finding an education here at Brevard, "Bull" also found his wife, the former Miss Betty Wilkinson of Charlotte. They were married in August of 1947 and make their home in the married vets apartments.

"BEEF" WALKER

Another valuable member of the Tornado squad is Herman "Beef" Walker, a native of Darlington, S. C. "Beef" fills the position that "Bull" Traynham does, only on the other side of the line. Weighing something over 200 pounds and standing about 5 feet seven inches, "Beef" teams up with "Bull" to thwart the opposition on off-tackle plays.

"Beef" plans to graduate from Brevard next June and enter Furman University to continue his course in physical education. While in high school in Darlington, "Beef" played three years on the local high school team. Last year he was named the Tornado's most valuable player by Coach Andrews for his fine play. Walker was in every game and played many of them the entire game.

Like "Bull", "Beef" also found himself a wife at Brevard. They were married last year here in Brevard and make their home in the married vets unit.
