Brevard College Radio Series Carried Over Seven Stations

Network Includes Brevard And Many North Carolina Cities

Continuing the "Brevard College Hour," a weekly program begun over Station WPNF on November 19, the Christian Fellowship club and the Dramatics clubs together will present a Christmas radio play on Sunday, December 10, at 2:30 p. m.

As its title indicates, the play, "The Birth of the Song Silent Night," by Florence Felton French, dramatizes the historic circumstances incidental to the composition of a great Christmas carol.

In the cast Reid Gilbert will be the composer, Franz Bruber; Dorothy Gay Rockwood, Mother Gruber; Clinton Tutterow, Father Gruber; Dorothy Wallace, Elizabeth; Helen Hayes, Berta; and Tom Neal, Pastor Mohr. Francis Price, of the faculty of music will be narrator.

The play is under the direction of Mr. Price and of C. E. Roy, advisor of the Christian Fellowship club.

GLEE CLUB TO SING STRICKLAND CANTATA

On December 17 the Brevard College Glee club, under the direction of Bruce A. Livengood, chairman to the college department of music, will broadcast the cantata "And on Earth Peace." This work of the noted composer Lily Strickland, now of Hendersonville, will be performed at the college tomorrow afternoon. It is reported elsewhere in this issue.

DICKENS FOR CHRISTMAS

The broadcast of December 24 will be Dickens' "Christmas Carol," as arranged for radio and read by Philip E. Kennedy, of the college department of English.

EHLHARDT TO SPEAK

On December 31, President George B. Ehlhardt in his second appearance on the College Hour will speak on a subject appropriate to the new year.

ROUNDTABLES SCHEDULED

A discussion by members of the Betty Lamp club will be the feature of January 17. This program will enable the radio audience to listen to the girls as they talk of matters typical of regular meetings of the home economics club.

In a roundtable discussion the members will deal with social dos and don'ts for young people. They will answer such questions of concern to the high school and college girl as, "When spending a night off the campus with a girl friend, how can I be a model of good behaviour and enjoy myself at the same time?"

Participating in this program will be Dottie Gay Rockwood, Doris Washburn, Billie Cline, Mary Nance Garner, Marianna Young, Mae Higgins, Melba Eller, Belva Nichols, Joyce Brand, Jean Parrish, Ann Duckworth, Caroline King, Carolyn Collins, and Geraldine Barier. Ann Deas, president of the club, will serve as moderator.

The program of January 14 will present members of the International Relations club in roundtable discussion of the subject "Efforts to Maintain Peace, 1947-1950."

In treating subordinate phases of this topic Mildred Skipper will review the Marshall Plan; Mary Dean will discuss the North Atlantic Pact; Jane Hart will speak of the cooperative efforts of Western European Nations; and Howard Graham, of cooperative peace efforts in Asia. Vivian Simmons, president of the IRC, will preside at the meeting.

CHOIR TO AID ALL GROUPS

A radio choir composed of students of the department of music, as it has done for broadcasts already given during the Brevard College Hour, will provide incidental music for these programs.

The singers are Ellen Faulkner, Mary Jane Kornegay, and Jewell Sentelle, sopranos; Mary Alice Hollifield and Alice Leggett, contraltos; James Crawford and Mack Lassiter, tenors; and Ferguson Lowery and Wayne Umphlett, basses. Miss Susan Graham, of the college music faculty, is accompanist.

RADIO NET CARRIES HOUR

The Brevard College hour is included in the programs of the following stations: WPNF, Brevard; WBBO-FM, Forest City; WGNC-FM, Gastonia WIST, Charlotte; WGWR-FM, Asheboro; WFMY-FM, Greensboro; and WDNC-FM, Durham.
