

Homecoming Celebration Next Week For Alumni

Clios And Euterpians Have Homecoming Dance October 27

The Euterpean and Cliosopic societies will sponsor the annual Homecoming dance to be held in the James Addison Jones library on the evening of October 27, at eight o'clock. The dance will be semiformal.

The general theme of the dance will be the "harvest moon," and both decorations and entertainment will center around this theme.

Committees have been appointed to take charge of the affair and are now formulating plans. These committees are composed of Euterpean and Cliosopic society members.

Appointed chairman of the food committee was Mary Dean. Her assistants are Rachel Meaders and Carolyn Throver. The food committee has announced that there will be a small charge for refreshments.

In charge of decoration are co-chairmen Gloria Starnes and Stowe Hull. Their assistants are Jane Bishop and Caroline Davis.

Lila Burgess will be in charge of publicity, and Bill Whitlow and Nancy Carson will be responsible for all musical arrangements.

In charge of entertainment, to which a certain part of the evening will be devoted, is June

I. R. Club Meets; Has Discussion About Iran

The International Relations club held its regularly scheduled meeting Thursday, October 18. The topic of discussion was "England's Problem in Iran." Carol Carter, Wilburn Harrison and Mary Lillian Morgan took part in the program and discussed the various phases of the problem. The speakers entertained questions from different club members and a discussion followed the formal part of the program.

Worth Wilkerson, president, who conducted the meeting, issued an invitation to all interested students and faculty members to attend the meetings and take part in the discussions.

BULLETIN

Optimistic reports received this week from President George Brinkmann Ehlhardt in Duke university hospital are basis for hope that the President's health will improve rapidly.

Students may address greetings to the President in care of the Divinity school, Duke university.

College Board Of Trustees Has Called Meeting; Jones Talks To Student Body

Plans for carrying on the affairs of the college during the leave of absence of President George Brinkmann Ehlhardt were made at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees here on Monday, October 8.

Approximately 24 members of the board attended the meeting, and Chairman Edwin L. Jones, of Charlotte presided.

Because of seriously impaired health, President Ehlhardt recently was granted a six weeks' leave of absence and he entered Duke hospital on Sunday, October 7, for observation and treatment.

The board named Dean J. J. Stevenson as administrative dean of the faculty and academic instruction and appointed Dr. B. Joseph Martin, who is the executive director of the Methodist college foundation, to manage all college finances during the absence of President Ehlhardt.

At a special assembly meeting on Monday afternoon, Dean Stevenson introduced Colonel Bryan Moore, of Wadesboro. Colonel Moore, a member of the Executive committee of the Board of Trustees spoke briefly of his pleasure in the "remarkable improvements" achieved under the guidance of the Reverend Mr. Ehlhardt.

Climaxing the day and the meeting of the board, Chairman Edwin L. Jones spoke to the students and faculty in chapel and asked for their continued cooperation. "I want to tell you and assure you that the best days for Brevard college are just ahead," Mr. Jones declared. He told of the improvements made by President Ehlhardt. "In fact, he gave too much of himself and injured his health in behalf of the school," the speaker continued.

Mr. Jones went on to explain that the college had been organized at the depth of the depression as a result of a merger of Weaver

Homecoming Dance Highlights Activities

Homecoming celebrations will be in order on Saturday, October 27, when Brevard college observes its 99th academic year. Graduates of Rutherford college (1853-1934) and Weaver college (1872-1934), as well as those of Brevard institute (1895-1934) and Brevard college, are urged to be on campus for the varied activities commemorating the successes of this present institution and its parent colleges.

Registration for homecoming will be held in the lobby of Dunham Hall Saturday morning from 10:00-12:00. During this time tours will be offered through the James Addison Jones Library and the Mary Frances Stamey Infirmary, two of the newest buildings on campus.

A buffet luncheon from noon until 12:30 will be served in the college cafeteria.

Following the luncheon, alumni of the college will meet for the annual business session in the recently opened auditorium in Dunham Hall. Officers of the Brevard college Alumni association are the Reverend R. Delbert Byrum, Murphy, North Carolina, president; the Reverend Leon Stubbs, Gastonia, North Carolina, first vice-president; Mrs. Sidney Feldman, Winston-Salem, North Carolina, second vice-president; Wayne Kernodle, Williamsburg, Virginia, third vice-president; James Proffitt, Bald Creek, North Carolina, fourth vice-president; Lois Frazier, Brevard, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer.

Open house will be observed in

Lineberry Chosen As New S.C.A. Secretary

Betty Lineberry was elected on Thursday, September 27, 1951, as secretary-treasurer to the Student council, filling a vacancy created when Jane Ann Hart did not return to school.

In addition to her duties as secretary-treasurer Betty finds time to be vice-president of the Commercial club, secretary-treasurer of the Chapel committee, assistant to Miss Louise Moseley, director of physical education for women, and an active member of the Mnemosynean society. Her favorite pastimes are dancing and playing basketball.

Betty states, "I am very honored to have been elected by the students as secretary-treasurer of the student body. I am sure that we, the Student council, will have a successful year, because the students will back us in everything we do."
