Football And Dancing To Highlight Homecoming

You are my superior; I am your inferior. I am low now, but I shall reign on high when I become an Euterpean.

Methodist Church To Move Nearer Campus

At the request of the Official Board of the First Methodist Church of Brevard, the Board of Trustees of Brevard college voted unanimously at their spring meeting to convey to them a tract of land across the street from the main entrance to the college to be used as the location of a new church plant. Financial plans are proceeding with the view of beginning construction within the next year. This move gives further evidence of mutual cooperation between the college and the local Methodist Church.

An attractive church edifice will lend beauty and dignity to the entrance of the campus. The new location will afford ample parking space for the growing Methodist Church of Brevard.

TV Sets Are Added To Dormitory Life

Two television sets have been added to the dormitories during recent weeks. These sets are being paid for by the students by student projects and individual contributions.

Rat Week Hits All The Low Freshmen

"Rat" week at Brevard college brought many new and unexpected thrills. The various literary societies on the campus took ample opportunity to indoctrinate their new members into the trials and tribulations of club life.

As the above picture will attest, the most interesting part of the "rat" exercises was the most unusual dress. The Euterpeans and the Mnemosyneans make up the girls groups, and the Delphians and the Clisophics reign supreme for the boys.

With clothes astray and hair in curlers, the Euterpeans were the first brave souls to venture forth into a campus of laughs. The mirth spread all over Brevard and even stretched forth into the distant parts of Transylvania county as several boys found themselves stranded in parts of the not too inviting mountain areas.

In addition to the literary societies, there are many other organizations on the campus that have been organizing and inducting new members since rush week was officially declared.

The two publications, the Pertelote and the Clarion, report that their staffs have been practically completed and that only a few more positions are open.

Campus Prepares For Active Homecoming Week End

The "Powder and Puff Bowl" football game and the annual Homecoming dance will be the feature attractions on Homecoming day at Brevard college.

Registration for the week end will begin at 10 o'clock on the morning of October 17. Rooms will be assigned to those who plan to stay overnight on the campus.

An alumni luncheon will be served in the college cafeteria at 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Following this luncheon there will be a brief business session.

At 2:30 o'clock that afternoon, the festivities get into full swing. Members of the student body, "Powder and Puff Bowl" football players, President Robert H. Stamey, the Brevard high school band and various other persons will participate in a full-dress parade through Brevard.

Immediately following the parade, the student body will pair off against each other in the football game. The entire student body has been divided into the white and the blue teams. Each of these teams will have selected 18 members, two coaches, a mascot and cheerleaders. In turn, the teams are divided into girls and boys; the girls will play the first and third quarters and the boys will play the second and fourth quarters.

The highlight of this Homecoming week end will be the dance Saturday night. This dance will be held in the college gymnasium and music will be furnished by a local band. The dance will begin at 8:30 o'clock.
