made to the faculty and staff. Salaries have been increased until they compare favorably with those of many larger institutions. During this period of rapid growth many buildings have been removed, including old West Hall, the oldest dormitory on the campus, which served as one of the

and the fielding improves, as it probably will, we can look for a good season for the Tornadoes this year.

The first home game is scheduled with Mars Hill on Monday, April 15.

A tennis match is also scheduled for March 15 at Mars Hill and the first track meet is to be held at North Greenville on April 27.

dormitories for women. In its place has been erected a new and modern Women's Residence Hall that houses 200 young women along with an apartment for the hostess for the building.

Dunham Hall, better known as the Administration Building, has been renovated with four new classrooms being added on the second floor. These new classrooms are equipped with the most modern classroom furnishings and the plan is to continue to replace older classroom furniture with modern fixtures.

Taylor Hall, a dormitory for men, has been completely renovated and is now modern with excellent furnishings. It will house 100 young men, along with an apartment for the assistant dean of men. A new men's dormitory was completed in September, just in time for the opening of school. This dormitory is of modern design and this month houses 106 men along with an apartment for the assistant dean of men. It is furnished with modern furniture and has an excellent recreation room in the basement.

Now under construction is the College Center Building. This will be one of the most modern buildings found on any college campus. It is scheduled to be completed sometime this month and will house the Administrative offices, a new auditorium seating 550, a beautiful and luxurious cafeteria with a faculty dining room, a complete soda shop and book store, a post office, and a spacious student lounge. This building will be the center of campus life.

As the Tornado baseballers worked to get in shape for the season opener at North Greenville yesterday, observers said that it looks like a great year for Brevard this season.

In a scrimmage doubleheader with Western Carolina College, the boys looked most impressive in copping the honors in the first game. The game was highlighted by superb pitching and a three run homer hit by Harold Mask.

Although things were a bit shaky in the fielding department, the boys couldn't be stopped at the plate as they banged out hit after hit from the offerings of the opposition pitchers.

The Tornadoes traveled to North Greenville yesterday to get the season started in a twin bill with the Mounties. Boys making the trip were infielders Robinson, Cudd, Pearson, Ingle, and Dacus; outfielders Haas, Sims, Mask, and Blackburn; pitchers Wingo, Kimbro, Stamey, Higgins, and Hall; and utility men Stanley Scruggs, Bob Ramsey, Gary Frick and Henry Wilson.

If the hitting remains consistent
