McFadden Member Of Cast; College Students Usher

Final preparations are underway for staging the Brevard Little Theatre's second production of the year "There's Always A Murder."

This three-act mystery-comedy will be presented at 8:00 p. m., Friday and Saturday evenings, February 27 and 28, in the Campus Center auditorium. Included in the cast is Mr. Alex B. McFadden, of the college English department.

The theatre editor of the "Wall Street Journal" had this to say about the play: "A psychological murder mystery, . . . the author succeeds in building up suspense enough to bring you to the edge of your seat . . . The play is about newlyweds who rent an apartment and then get worried about the previous occupant. There's a sliced cold corpse hidden in a bag to help bring on the chills. The young people discover clues leading to the murder's solution, and the plot winds up in true "whodunit" fashion."

Ushers for the play will include Kathy Osteen, Alice Earwood, Betty Southerland, Gail Bonnell, Peggy Lewis, Phyllis McCain, and Kaye Willis.

Admission will be $.75 for students and $1.25 for adults.

Religious Emphasis Highlighted By Faulkner Addresses

Religious emphasis week was observed on the Brevard college campus during the week of February 16 through 20. The Reverend Mitchell Faulkner was the featured speaker and large numbers of the student body attended each service.

Mr. Faulkner, an alumnus of Brevard, delivered what were termed challenging and inspiring messages each evening.

During the week, in addition to speaking each evening and also in chapel on Wednesday and Friday, Mr. Faulkner met with the Christian council, Kappa Chi Fraternity, and did individual counseling.

The speaker, who is also a graduate of Wofford college andandler School of Theology, is presently serving as minister of the Methodist church in Leaksville.

Music Department Schedules Recital

The college music department will present a student organ recital on Friday, February 27, at 8:15 p. m. in the Brevard Methodist church.

Professor Nelson F. Adams' pupils, Mary Ann Fisher, Joy Cook, Mildred Miller, Johnny Bradburn and Nancy Fluke will present music by J. S. Bach, Richard Purvis, Louis Vierne, Buxtehude, and Rheinberger.

An informal reception honoring the recitalists will be held immediately following the recital, in the church parlor. Everyone is cordially invited.

The college choir is scheduled to sing at Central Methodist Church in Asheville on March 10.

Banquet, Initiation Held By Members Of Phi Theta Kappa

The Delta Pi chapter of Phi Theta Kappa attended its annual banquet, held in the Faculty Dining Room, on the evening of February 21 and afterward held a candlelight initiation ceremony in the faculty lounge.

President Emmet K. McLarty was guest speaker for the banquet, and other special guests, besides President McLarty and his wife, were Dean and Mrs. John Bennett, Dean Rubie Plant, and Dr. Burt Loomis, faculty advisor of Phi Theta Kappa. Sharon Cline, fraternity president, welcomed the guests, and the old members of Phi Theta Kappa carried out a portion of the initiation process by quizzing the initiates on essential information they had learned about the organization.

Following the banquet, all the members of Phi Theta Kappa adjourned to the faculty lounge, where, in a candlelight ceremony, initiates were formally pledged and made full-fledged members.

Alpha Beta Gamma Makes Award To Elsie Hege

The Alpha Beta Gamma chemistry fraternity of Brevard college was in charge of the chapel program on Wednesday, February 25. Ken Dawkins, Harold Wilson, and Tommy Laidlaw gave the history of the organization and recognized their fellow members in the audience.

Miss Bobbie Jean Nicholson, chemistry professor and advisor of Alpha Beta Gamma, then presented Elsie Hege with the fraternity's annual award of a select science book, which is given to the chemistry student with the highest average.

A scientific film entitled "This Is Color" was then shown to the student body.

Valentine Ball Acclaimed Success

Cool Cupid played havoc on February 14, when the Delmonicos from Shelby rocked and rolled Brevard College students, faculty, and alumni, through the annual Sweetheart Ball.

Kaye Willis, Queen of Hearts, and her escort, Jim Siebert, reigned over the Nemo-Delphian sponsored festivities.

Decorations for the dance carried out the traditional sweetheart theme in colors of red and white. Cupids, hearts, and red and white crepe paper streamers effected a chandelier in the center of the room, while hearts and cupids lined the walls. Red spotlights flooded the dance floor with color.

Mitch Miller, Betty Eure and Ruth Murray and, last but not least, Harry Skipper, Wally Fortenbury and Kent Laughter as the Tom Dooley Trio furnished the entertainment for the dance. Harry Skipper also doubled as the emcee.

Refreshments were served in the faculty lounge during the intermission.
