College Makes Preparations For National Emergency

On United Nations Day, October 24, 1962, Mr. Louis Miles, professor of religion and history at Brevard College spoke to the general assembly on Brevard's role in the national scene of possible disaster.

Mr. Miles said that Brevard is no longer cut off from the world but is involved in national affairs. History tells us that the divine power who brought light out of darkness and order out of chaos, speaks to individuals. He holds the universe in his hand and has not forsaken us. God still lives; God still reigns. History is not the final period.

There is more apt to come.

Show courage in the face of adversity because disasters are merely stepping stones to better things. Young people who have grown up in turbulent times must show courage and transfer that courage to those who have seen tragedy. There is dignity in human life and value in human freedom. Mr. Miles concluded his address by quoting Franklin D. Roosevelt's famous lines: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

McLarty Says To Face Adversity
President Emmett K. McLarty addressed the student body to reassure them of the administration's interest in their welfare. Dr. McLarty suggested that "when life runs into one of these deepest moments, we should not allow the time to pass without getting something from it." Socrates said "Every city should bring it's house into order." Dr. McLarty paraphrased this to say "Every man should bring his life into order."

NOTICE

Please do not wear shoes with taps while dancing or playing ping-pong in the Student Lounge. The SGA in cooperation with the administration, asks this favor because the taps are ruining the tile.

"ALL IS NOT WORK" at college is the philosophy applied by many scholars as they break the monotony of books by taking an afternoon stroll or stop for a chat under the mighty tree. The campus has taken an autumn "dress" as the leaves change colors and the chilling winds invade the scene.
