FERGUSON

On November 10, the newly formed soccer team traveled to Warren-Wilson College for a practice game. Brevard was beaten by a score of 8-0. This score is not surprising since Warren-Wilson has been defeated only once in three years.

Even against great odds, the Brevard soccer team made a commendable showing.

As Thanksgiving approaches, the time draws near for Brevard to begin its tough basketball season. The first regular season game is scheduled for November 23 at Chowan.

The Tornados have had practice games with Western Carolina College, the Furman freshmen, and Appalachian State Teacher's College. From all reports, the Tornados are developing into a fine, sturdy ball club. We all hope to see the Brevard cagers advance to the national finals in Kansas City. Let's all cheer the Tornados on to victory and support them to the fullest. Let's place old Brevard Tech on the map again!
