BREVARD COLLEGE, BREVARD, N. C., OCTOBER 16, 1964

NUMBER 2

HAZELTON IS '64 HOMECOMING QUEEN

Self-Study Committee Visits

Four outstanding Southern educators were on the Brevard College campus earlier this week as representatives of the Southern Association of Colleges.

The educators arrived on campus Sunday for a meeting with President E. K. McLarty and dinner with the college faculty. Later, a business meeting was held with the college steering committee, comprising Dean Braxton Harris, Chaplain C. Edward Roy, and Miss Bobbie Jean Nicholson.

The four-man visitation committee was directed by President Floyd Turner of Virginia Inter-mont College, Bristol, Virginia, serving as chairman. Serving with Dr. Turner were Dean Kenneth Kyre, Shennandoah College; Mr. Paul Grier, Librarian, Hampden-Sidney College; and Dr. Paul Langston, Dean of the School of Music, Stetson University.

The visitation was a follow-up of the year-long college self-study program which ended in August of this year. The study is required of all the institutions of the Southern Association of Colleges, an accrediting organization. The broad self-study included lengthy studies of the faculty, the library and staff, and matters of direct concern of the students.

Following this study, a voluminous report was forwarded to the associational committee whose executive secretary in turn appointed the visitation committee.

The over-all purpose of the evaluators on campus was stated by President Turner: "Our objective is to visit the college and to investigate different areas of instruction."

Although no evaluation or findings of the committee could be released at the time, Dr. Langston did state, "Portions of the self-study are out of date since various corrections already have been made."

On Monday and Tuesday, about 20 students were present at a formal meeting with the educators, "Trying to get frank expressions of the students adjusting to college life," Mr. Grier revealed.

Rough drafts of individual findings were handed to Director Turner on Wednesday, October 14. These drafts were approved.

The final report will be made at the Associational Committee meeting in Louisville, Kentucky, on November 30.

When leaving, President Turner complimented the college by saying, "All members are favorably impressed with the campus and by the students in particular."

Half A Hundred Join Nemos

In a formal ceremony held on Thursday, October 8, 52 freshman girls were inducted into the Mnemosynean Society, joining 16 pledging sophomores.

After a buffet supper beginning at 5:00 P.M., candles were lighted and "Big Sisters" (Sophomore members of the society) united with their new "Little Sisters" in repeating the Mnemosynean Pledge and singing the club song.

The two sophomore officers of the club, Beth Bagwell, President, and Rachel Ingle, Treasurer, were present at the ceremony, and two new officers were elected during the business meeting which followed. They are Bebe Garrett, Vice-President, and Jackie Howie, Secretary.

An informal induction into the club had already been held on Friday, October 2, at which time the aspiring members were "put through the mill." Big Sisters, always thinking of their Little Sisters' welfare, allowed them to go all day without make-up, dive for the floor in mock air-raids, kiss strange boys, and do many other "fun" things.

The purpose of the informal inductions, as stated by Beth Bagwell is, "To make the new members feel they have done something to get into the club and to make them feel a part of it."

Note to Nemo members: The first semester's dues are $3. This is to be paid to Beth Bagwell or to Rachel Ingle by January."

Euterps Schedule Initiations

Formal initiations for the Euterpean Society will be held on Thursday, October 22. At this time, approximately 40 new members will be inducted into the club.

A dinner, followed by a candlelight ceremony, will be held in the Faculty Dining Room at 5:30 p.m. Sophomore members, initiates, and Sophomore officers of the club, Helen Horne, President; Maurie Brandon, Vice-President; Vicki Setzer, Secretary; and Sally Augustine, Treasurer are to be present. After the ceremony, the President will tell the girls of plans for the coming year, and an election of officers will follow.

Informal initiations for the Euterpean Society were held in October. Sophomore "Big Sisters" had their Freshmen "Little Sisters" dress in amusing costumes and perform various stunts. The purpose of the informal induction, defined by Helen Horne is, "To make the girls feel they are a part of the club and to make them, therefore, want to be active and constructive members."

John Shreves Leads Sophs

John Shreves has been elected president of the class of '65. Sophomores met in a special assembly on October 13 to select their officers for the coming year. Assisting John in his duties as President will be secretary-treasurer, Linda Vogel; and Student Government Representative, Jim Thomason.

The elections climaxed a week of campaigning, in which all candidates made a campaign speech to the assembled student body.

Kappa Chi Retreats

Kappa Chi held their annual retreat to President McLarty's cabin at Lake Junaluska, on October 3, 1964. The program consisted of hiking, singing, a discussion on "The Life of a Christian on Campus," devotions, and a spaghetti dinner.

The members of the student body extend their sympathies to Miss Susan Tabor in the loss of her father this week, and also to Miss Sharon Ashworth in the death of her grandfather.

Eight Classes To Hold Reunions

Homecoming festivities for 1964 begin tomorrow at Brevard College. All indications point to one of the most memorable weekends in Brevard's history.

According to reports, quite a number of old grads will be on campus for two days of visiting and festivities. The classes of '36, '40, '44, '48, '52, '56, '60, and '64 will have reunions on Saturday afternoon.

The program is slated to begin at the close of Saturday classes. The class reunions will begin at 2 o'clock. Also at 2 o'clock, Brevard's soccer team takes on the team from King College of Bristol, Tennessee. The Brevard cross country team will compete with the long distance runners from Wingate College at 2:30.

From 4 until 6 o'clock, the swimming pool will be open.

Jones, Taylor, and Green Hall dormitories will have open-house from 3:00 until 4:00 p.m. Saturday afternoon. Students, visitors and alumni may tour the dormitories at this time.

The traditional Homecoming Dance will be held in the Campus Center Building, Saturday night from 8:30 until 12 o'clock. Music will be provided by the Sam Talley band. Decorations will carry out the "Homecoming '64" theme. At 9:00 p.m., master of ceremonies, David Drum, will present the Homecoming Court. Queen Billie Hazelton will be escorted by Geary Crist, and attended by Donna Nichols and Sharon Ashworth.

Business Club Meets

The Business Club held its first meeting in the Faculty Lounge, Monday, October 12, at 6:30 p.m.

The program was "The Business World as seen through the eyes of students who worked as secretaries this summer." The panel discussion was moderated by Bebe Garrett and the panel consisted of Delores Cathey, Linda Hall, Gladys Maybin, and Norma Shaw.

Future meetings are set up for the first Monday of each month. A series of programs corresponding with the first one includes "The business world from a professional secretary's point of view" and "The business world as seen through the eyes of an executive."

There was a tea for freshmen business students after the panel discussion. Approximately forty students and two sponsors attended the meeting.

The Business Club extends the invitation for all business students to attend the meetings and to give their support.
